HANOVER MAN KILLS HIMSELF WITH SHOTGUN

Raymond Cromer, 61, Hanover, one-time pitcher for the Hanover baseball team in the Blue Ridge League, was found shot to death Wednesday afternoon at the home of a nephew, Roy Cromer, New Oxford R. 1.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, listed the death as a suicide.

Dr. Crist and state police who investigated said Cromer apparently had been in good health Wednesday morning when he ate breakfast with his nephew and family. The children then left for school and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cromer left for work, leaving the elder Mr. Cromer alone at home.

Guest Since Sunday

A guest at his nephew's home since Sunday, Cromer Wednesday morning had asked his grand nieces, before they left for school, the time their parents returned from work. No special significance was attached to the question at the time, however.

Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock when the two grand-nieces, Sandra, 13, and Sharon, 10, returned from school, they found the family dog barking and attempting to lead them toward the barn. They followed the dog and found their great-uncle lying behind the barn with the side of his face and head shot away. Dr. Crist said Cromer had placed a 12-gauge shotgun at his left temple and pulled the trigger.

A son of the late Daniel and Mary J. Erb Cromer, he was employed at the Keystone Wire Cloth Company, Hanover. Mr. Cromer was a member of McSherrystown Lodge 720, Loyal Order of Moose; Hanover Aerie 1403, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and the Hanover and McSherrystown Home Associations.

Ike Starts His Good will Tour Tonight

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower takes off for Rome tonight on the first leg of a jet-propelled goodwill tour of 11 nations.

His departure, immediately after a radio-television speech to the nation, will follow a full day's work schedule. It includes a series of conferences and the second meeting this week of the National Security Council, with which Eisenhower has been discussing budgetary and other matters.

The 15-minute broadcast, starting at 7:15 p.m. EST, was expected to include both a new plea for settlement of the steel dispute, and an explanation of Eisenhower's purposes in making his extraordinary journey.

Takeoff At 8 P.M.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday he wants to prove to the people of the world that the United States is a "good partner" with other nations in the quest for a just peace.

His travels have one other major objective, apart from the individual problems he will discuss with such leaders as India's Prime Minister Nehru. That is to lay the basis for future summit negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. To that end he will meet in Paris Dec. 19-21 with French President Charles de Gaulle, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The presidential party of 21 persons, traveling by Military Air Transport jet liner, will take off from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., about 8 p.m. It is due in Rome at noon, Italian time, Friday after a refueling stop at Goose Bay, Labrador.

Son, Wife Going

In the group will be the President's son and his wife, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower; the President's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder; two speech writers, Malcolm Moos and Kevin McCann; and Robert D. Murphy, Eisenhower's chief diplomatic adviser for the tour.

At Least 140 Perish When Dam Bursts In France And Devastates Four-Mile Path

By GUY RIFFET

At least 140 persons are dead, and 160 missing.

Millions of tons of water backed up behind the 185-foot high Malpasset Dam by five days of heavy rain were loosed upon the peacefully sleeping farm valley Wednesday night. The water smashed houses, uprooted trees, rolled over trucks, derailed trains and broke telegraph and telephone poles.

Canal Of Wreckage

Hours after—as rescuers began arriving and the waters subsided into the Mediterranean—the full range of disaster became apparent. The four-mile wide valley, 16 miles southwest of Cannes, was a jumbled canal of wreckage and silt.

The rushing waters partly flooded this town of 13,500 which was founded by Julius Caesar in 49 B.C., and was one of the landing points in the Allied invasion of southern France in 1944.

Find Bodies In Mud

"About 9 o'clock I heard a terrific cracking," he said. "I screamed to my wife, 'We must save ourselves, the dam is breaking!' Forty-nine million cubic meters of waters (nearly 10 billion gallons) broke loose at one blow, carrying everything with it. My wife and I were able to get to high ground where we spent a horrible night."

Many bodies were discovered in a sea of mud in Frejus.

U.S. Offers Aid

President Eisenhower leaves tonight on the greatest mission for peace ever undertaken by any individual at any time. He will travel 22,300 miles to eleven countries in a courageous effort to strengthen the lines for world peace. Leaders of every nation in the world will be awaiting reports on his progress while millions and millions of free and enslaved people will hope and pray for his success.

Never before has anyone attempted such a difficult task. President Woodrow Wilson made a brave attempt to attain world peace after the first world war but his efforts went for naught.

Mr. Eisenhower, who has won the hearts of millions of people throughout the world, is looked upon as the one individual who can accomplish more through his own sacrificial efforts. He will undoubtedly make great progress toward world peace. He will bring hope and encouragement to those who are slaves in totalitarian states and no nation with a sincere desire for peace can, without fear of world condemnation, fall to do its share through peaceful deeds in cooperation with President Eisenhower's commendable efforts to attain the goal of peace on earth.

To President Eisenhower we say good luck, good health, good flying and success on your mission for peace.

PTC Calls For Payola Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communication Commission today ordered every broadcasting station in the country to report promptly whether any payola practice has figured in its operations during the past year.

The directive went out to 5,235 stations. It covers both commercial and educational outlets in the standard radio, FM radio and television fields.

Payola is a term covering payments for promoting records.

Officials said the object of today's order is to trace down the handling of "sneaky commercials"—plugs on the air which are paid for but not so identified.

The officials noted that the Federal Communications Act specifically requires that all matter put on the air for which a remuneration has been paid to anyone must be identified as a commercial.

LONGER TERM IN SCHOOLS IS TOPIC FOR PTA

Arguments for and against a proposal to lengthen the school day or term, or both, were presented in a debate at the December meeting of the Adams County PTA Council Wdnesday evening in the Biglerville Elementary School. No decision was reached and the debaters admitted that the arguments they advanced did not always represent their own views.

Speaking in favor of extended school days or terms were Clyde R. Cover, a Biglerville teacher, and Cyrus R. Bucher, a member of the Biglerville PTA. Those presented arguments in the negative were Mrs. Kathryn D. Oyler, a Keefauver School teacher, and Irving Weinberg, president of the Keefauver PTA.

The debaters were introduced by Lloyd Deamer, Conewago Twp., program chairman.

Speakers in favor of the longer day or term claimed that in order to teach the accelerated program more school time is needed; that parents are not at home to help pupils and more school time would benefit most pupils; that more time in school would leave less for delinquency, that more school time would make more efficient use of school buildings, that mounting school populations require longer school terms and that longer hours in school would prepare pupils better for the rigors of the business and industrial world after graduation.

Speakers opposing extension of the school hours claimed such a plan would cut down or eliminate extra-curricular activities, that longer terms would impose an extra burden on teachers, that in warm weather it would be a problem to hold pupils' attention, that more home ties, not less, are needed; that school operation expenses would rise with longer terms and that there is a need for better quality of education rather than more hours of it.

Mr. Weinberg also presented a report on the October state PTA convention at Harrisburg. Mrs. Donald Sheely, council president, presided at the business session. Afterwards, refreshments were served by the Biglerville PTA.

COUNTY SIRENS TO TEST ALERT MONDAY NIGHT

Sirens will sound in Adams County Monday evening as part of Pennsylvania's observance of the 18th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Under plans announced by William G. Weaver, county Civil Defense director, the sirens will sound three times Monday evening between 6 and 8 o'clock.

The county's "Quick-Call" radio alert system will be used to sound the sirens at the moment the word is received from state Civil Defense headquarters via the "light and bell" warning system.

Weaver said testing of the warning system Monday will not require the public to stop vehicles or take cover.

Sound Two Alarms

The test is designed, he said, to ascertain how long it takes to fan out the alert from national CD headquarers, and to acquaint citizens with the sound of the "alert" and "take cover" signal.

The first sounding of sirens will be the "alert" signal to notify the public to be alert for further warning, by radio or otherwise. The second alarm will be the "take cover signal" and the third will be the "alert" signal again, signifying the all clear.

Notice to sound the sirens will come from Colorado Springs, Colo., to the state CD headquarters which will then fan out the warning over its "bell and lights instantaneous air raid warning ssytem" to Adams County and all other countries of the state. When the alert is received here it will be sounded throughout the county by the "quick call" system.

CWV TO ISSUE YEARBOOK FOR CONVENTION

Plans for publication of a yearbook in connection with the convention of the Pennsylvania Department of the Catholic War Veterans here next June 9, 10 and 11 were outlined Wednesday evening at a meeting of the local convention committee at the Bonneauville home of the CWV.

Joseph Clabaugh, chairman, announced the addition of Maurice J. Smith, Patrick Eckenrode and Ray Weishaar to the general committee.

Plan Large Parade

Edward Smith, Eugene Weishaar, Bernard Lemmon, Eckenrode and Ray Weishaar comprise a committee to visit members of the CWV over the weekend to ask them to solicit advertisements for the book.

Lemmon, also chairman of the parade committee, reported acceptances for the parade to be held during the convention here and indicated it may be one of the largest in the state CWV's history.

Clabaugh said approximately 700 delegates are expected to attend the convention and a good response for the auxiliary sessions.

The Hotel Gettysburg will be convention headquarters while meetings of both the CWV and auxiliary will be at the American Legion Home, Baltimore St.

Cliff "Charlie Weaver" Arquette Is Named Chairman Of Finance Committee To Solicit Funds To Save Shrine; Recall Other Drives

A Gettysburg resident today was named chairman of the finance committee in the drive to acquire funds with which to purchase private land to preserve the Gettysburg Battlefield.

Major William Haller, president of the Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Association, today named Cliff Arquette, Baltimore St. museum operator and television personality "Charlie Weaver," as finance chairman for a campaign to raise $1,000,000 or more to purchase private land to preserve the battlefield.

Arquette, who has been given the "go ahead" signal, to accept the post, said other TV stars are also planning "mentions" of the campaign on their shows.

Civil War Program

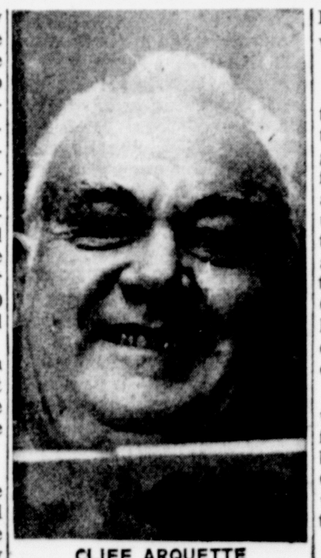
Wednesday night Arquette opened the campaign with a Civil War program on his "Charlie Weaver" show, formerly "Hobby Lobby."

The current campaign to raise funds to acquire Battlefield land is similar to one inaugurated in July, 1863, when David McConaughy decided to preserve the battlefield while another local attorney, David Wills, decided to establish a national cemetery here.



CLIFF ARQUETTE

Wills and McConaughy apparently conceived their ideas about the same time. Wills on July 24, 1863, three weeks after the battle, returned from a tour of the field somewhat shaken by what he had seen.

He had been appointed by Governor Curtin to look after Pennsylvania's wounded who were in temporary hospitals here.

"Rains Washed Graves"

Wills wrote Governor Curtin that the rains had washed away the ground from many of the graves in which the dead were first buried and "hogs and dogs are eating" at the bodies. He urged establishment of a cemetery honoring the Union dead and that they be given "Christian burial" here. Governor Curtin immedately named Wills his agent to obtain help from other states and establish the cemetery.

McConaughy, independently, wanted to preserve the battlefield to honor the dead. September 15 The Adams Sentinel, of Gettysburg, published four letters which showed developments in the two projects to that date.

Governors Back Project

Under the heading, "A National Cemetery at Gettysburg" The Adams Sentinel published a letter written to Governor Curtin by Wills on August 26, 1863, stating that he had secured support from the governors of 15 states in the project of "removing their (the soldiers') remains

Hundreds Of Fascinating Toys For Children Await Shoppers In Local Stores

"O-o-o-o . . . look, Mommy!" is a cry that is fast becoming as seasonal as "Merry Christmas." The words, of course, are those of the small fry of the community as they accompany their parents on Christmas shopping expeditions.

While the windows of a number of merchants display gifts of interest to adults, a like number have given their display areas and hearts to children. And what a selection of toys there are to delight the younger shoppers!

Footballs, basketballs, baseballs and volleyballs, along with boxing gloves and archery and bowling sets excite youthful athletes. Fans of TV westerns will whoop it up over the assortment of realistic looking toy firearms. For those whose tastes run to the military rather than western hero, there are machine guns, rocket launchers and small-scale military vehicles.

For Little Ladies

For little ladies there are the traditional doll babies, from the simple stuffed type to advanced models that do everything but talk back to "mommy." To add to "playing house" adventures there is a variety of miniature household appliances: Stoves, washing machines, irons and the familiar tea sets.

Babes in arms are not left out of the fun. For tykes only is a vast selection of colorful and musical pull-toys, wagons, cars, hobby horses, kiddie cars and a virtual zoo full of stuffed cuddly animals ranging from giraffes to the favorite teddy bear.

There are numerous other toys of general and specific interest. In the mechanical animals division, noteworthy is a clown who plays an xylophone, a pipe-smoking bear and a monkey who gyrates with a hula hoop.

Many Other Toys

Toy guitars, banjos, trumpets, accordions and drums will please those kiddies with an ear for

ROCKEFELLER TO TAKE PULSE ON U. S. SWING

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is planning now to sweep into border and Southern states before disclosing his presidential intentions around the turn of the year.

Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida are being added to a final pulse-feeling tour which already included Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

A fellow Republican governor, who didn't want his name used, said he has a hunch that Rockefeller's decision will be against trying to snatch the Republican presidential nomination away from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"This Isn't The Time"

And from a Nixon rooter, Gov. Harold W. Handley of Indiana, came this political appraisal:

"There is no question that if he'll bide his time, Rockefeller will be president of the United States. But this isn't the time."

About a dozen governors, off and on, are here for meeting of various committees of the National Conference of Governors. The number keeps changing, as some leave, others arrive, and still others cancel out because of poor flying weather.

Belated Appearance

With Rockefeller, it was only an overnight stay, for a session of the executive committee of the governors' conference.

Rockefeller put in a belated, dramatic appearance here late Wednesday and promptly held a news conference.

The main point of it was that he now is planning visits to four extra states on an aerial expedition that takes him first to South Bend, Ind., Dec. 12. It winds up Dec. 18 at a spot in Florida which still is to be determined.

COUPLE SEEK SON WHO SHOT STEPMOTHER

NEW YORK (AP)—A 16-year-old boy sought by police as the attacker who critically wounded his foster mother has been forgiven by her and her husband.

The boy, Robert Murphy, has been missing since Tuesday night—the night Marie Murphy, 39, stepped into a darkened room of her Brooklyn home and caught .22-caliber rifle slugs in her chest and shoulder.

As Mrs. Murphy lay in a hospital Wednesday night, her husband John, 42, a sanitation truck driver, issued an appeal which he hoped might reach the boy.

Appeal Goes Out

"Robert, don't be frightened. Your mother and I both love you very much. Your mother needs you now more than ever. Please contact me as soon as possible and I'll give you all the help that is humanly possible," the appeal said.

Police said the boy, known to be mild-mannered, laid a careful plot to kill his foster mother because she disliked his flashy clothes and his girl friends.

Will Seize Some Pinball Machines

HARRISBURG (AP) — Col. Frank G. McCartney, state police commissioner, today ordered confiscation of any multi-coin pinball machines still in operation.

"I have issued a directive to field forces to take over any machines still being used," said McCartney. "Those which have been placed in storage will not be touched for the time being."

Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alper has given owners of the machines until Jan. 1 to dispose of them. However, they may not be operated in the meantime.

The State Supreme Court ruled Nov. 24 that the multi-coin machines are illegal.

McCartney said he has ordered state police to make a survey of all existing machines and report within 10 days on their location.

Multi-coin machines require two or more coins to be operative. The high court ruled they are gambling devices.

STOCKS ACTIVE

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its upward push early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Oils, steels and motors were actively traded with gains running to a point or more. Elsewhere movements in both directions were largely held to fractions.

The slight uptrend developed from a mixed early trading. Favorable outlook for retention of the controversial depletion allowance helped the oil group, along with the feeling in Wall Street that tax loss selling in this group now has been exhausted.

BOOKMAKER IS SHOT TO DEATH IN RESTAURANT

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (AP) — A bookmaker, described by police as the biggest in the San Fernando Valley, was shot to death at a restaurant Wednesday night while Mickey Cohen and about 20 other patrons looked on.

Jack F. Whalen, 41, was shot twice in the head. Police said he slumped to the floor and rolled over on his side as his slayer calmly walked out of the restaurant.

Inspector Ed Walker said Whalen's assailant was eating when the bookie walked in, appproached his table and then punched him in the face. Walker said the man then drew a gun, fired point blank at Whalen and left the restaurant before anyone could stop him.

Police have not yet identified the killer. None of the patrons were able to describe the slayer, they said.

Cohen, who also has a lengthy record of brushes with the law, was apparently just a customer at the time of the shooting.

a Scouters' award for outstanding service to boyhood during the last year. The presentation was made by Donald Carver, training chairman.

Carver announced plans for a den chiefs' training course to be held April 16 at Biglerville Elementary School. The annual University of Scouting will start in February at Gettysburg High School, Carver said. Coordinators for the instruction include Joseph Sunbury, Biglerville, Cub Scouting; Allen Dubbs, scoutmaster of Troop 79, Gettysburg, Boy Scouting, and Richard Kershner, advisor for Post 79, Exploring.

Plan Unit At Orphanage

Organization and Extension Chairman Ray Shupe reported plans underway to establish scouting units at Hoffman's orphan age. He also urged all Scout leaders to send in advancements and new memberships quickly because the current "Roundup" drive ends December 15.

Paul Hollinger, camping and activities chairman, reported six Black Walnut District Scouts and Explorers have signed for attendance at the Jamboree next summer. He added that only those who have forwarded their $25 reservation fee for the encampment are included in the six listed. He urged use of Camp Tuckahoe for winter camping. Those units which make reservations at the camp near Dillsburg are provided with cabins heated by coal stoves, he said.

NEXT 10 DAYS CRITICAL IN MAILING RUSH

Commenting on the excellent response to his "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign, Postmaster Jacob G. Appler said today: "A great deal depends on the cooperation of our patrons during the next ten days if we are to reach our goal of having every Christmas gift package and card delivered before Christmas Eve."

He continued: "If you will take just a little extra care with your Christmas mailings right now, you'll avoid disappointing friends and loved ones." He said further that the post office is well prepared for the big Christmas mail load, but unless everyone steps up the mailing of Christmas cards and gift packages immediately, some of them may not be delivered before Christmas.

The postmaster also emphasized the need for special cooperation in making sure that return address and the recipient's address are plainly written on all Christmas card envelopes and package labels. "Be sure to use zone numbers, and it's always a good idea to include an extra label inside your packages carrying your name and address and that of the recipient," he said.

"Because parcel post size and weight limitations vary according to destination, ask about them when you go to the post office to buy stamps," he advised.

Speaking of stamps, the postmaster pointed out that "if you always use four-cent first class postage on your Christmas cards they will be delivered promptly and forwarded or returned, if necessary, providing you include your name and address on the Christmas card envelopes.

"When you call at the post office be sure to ask for free labels which read, 'All for Out of Town Delivery' and 'All for Local Delivery.' Place these labels on bundles of Christmas cards for local addresses and those for out-of-town destinations. It will help, too, if you will mail your out-of-town Christmas cards several days in advance of those intended for delivery to nearby points.

Postmaster Appler said: "I'll especially appreciate the cooperation of all business firms to postpone the mailing of circulars and catalogs until after December 25 to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush."

"Service windows at the post office will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays until 4 p.m.

"The postmaster especially urges you to get your out-of-state packages into the post office within the next few days and to do everything possible to mail all of your Christmas gifts for local delivery by December 10 and your Christmas cards to nearby points by at least a week before Christmas."

In September, 1949, John C. Shealer, who had served as chief deputy sheriff, died and Warren was appointed by then Sheriff Dorsey J. Schultz as chief deputy sheriff. Warren took the oath and assumed the duties December 1, 1949, and has served continuously in the position since.

The two other countians who rival Warren as law enforcement officers for many years are Paul B. Shealer and Charles W. Culp Jr. of the Gettysburg police force, both of whom have served in that capacity for more than 20 years.

STEEL TALKS GO ON TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators hold separate sessions today with steel management and union representatives as both sides await another appeal tonight by President Eisenhower for settlement of the steel strike.

The President said Wednesday that when he makes a brief television address tonight before leaving on his foreign goodwill tour he will insist that the two sides get together.

"If we can't get anywhere on this thing, then finally the government just cannot sit idly on its hands," he added.

"But, I do believe that the day that we abandon free collective, honest free collective bargaining, it is going to be a sad day for the United States."

Eisenhower gave no hint of what the government might do if the 80-day court order which halted the 116-day strike expires on Jan. 26 without a settlement. Under provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, the workers then would be free to talk out again. The T-H law provides for no further federal action.

Commission Rocket Firing Ship Monday

BOSTON (AP)—The Navy's new guided-missile destroyer leader Dewey, to be commissioned Monday, has the most advanced intelligence data and control center of any ship in the fleet, her builder says.

The 512-foot Dewey, 140 feet longer than World War II destroyers, was turned over to the Navy Wednesday after a run from Bath, Maine, where she was built. Capt. Stanley M. Alexander, Navy shipbuilding superintendent at Bath Iron Works, predicted her performance will be a "revelation" to her crew.

She can fire both Terrier and Asroc missiles. Terrier is a surface-launched antiaircraft weapon. Asroc is a rocket-launched homing torpedo for use against submarines.

U. S. Asks Indian Criminal Action

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The United States has asked India to take criminal action against members of Communist China's consular staff in Bombay for the alleged kidnaping of Marine Sgt. Robert Armstrong last Friday.

A spokesman for the U. S. consulate general said a formal complaint was filed with Indian authorities Tuesday.

Indian police reported today that the key Chinese in the incident, Chang Chien-yu, had not been arrested.

Chang is believed to be hiding in the Communist Chinese consulate.

relief. The navy prepared initially to feed 10,000 people. Army engineers loaded equipment on boats to get emergency housing started. The French radio appealed for money for relief.

The navy prowled the shore of the Mediterranean, which was strewn for miles with wreckage, seeking survivors. It was feared many victims had been washed out to sea.

Wash Out Rails

The disaster disrupted rail and telephone traffic throughout southern France. The coastal rail line was swept more than a mile from its roadbed.

The 22-foot thick dam was erected for irrigation six years ago.

"There is nothing left," said a rescue worker. "The neighboring farms were carried away with their occupants. The road which led to the dam through the valley is no longer passable. Everything has been swept away and what remains is covered with mud."

Policeman Is Decapitated

A policeman was decapitated by the blades of a rescue helicopter he was directing to a landing.

Although the valley is set in the midst of the luxurious Riviera vacationland, it had been mostly inhabited by farmers and by fishermen living along the rocky coast. It was seldom visited by tourists.

Terrified families were swept downstream, struggling to stay together. Many had just gone to bed when the flood struck. One 85-year-old woman floated seven hours on her bedroom dresser. An old man walking his dog was swept away in a second.

The hospital at Frejus—luckily on high ground—was jammed with injured and survivors suffering from shock and exposure. The morgue at the hospital was lined with bodies.

Survivors Are Dazed

No help was immediately available for the villages upstream. It took many hours to get the first rescue teams there. Rescuers found survivors often wandering in dazed silence.

Frejus, about four miles below the dam, suffered less than the isolated villages. It was feared no houses were left tanding along the upper reaches of the river. The water was six feet deep when it reached the town. Upstream it may have towered 40 feet in narrow stretches of the valley.

The dam was sorely strained after the heavy rains. The spillway were opened wider only Wednesday after a helicopter survey warned engineers of impending danger. But at 9:45 p.m. the dam burst.

HOFFA SAYS TEAMSTERS TO SHUN PICKETS

CHICAGO (AP)—James R. Hoffa says Teamsters Union members in the future will ignore—with one exception — all picket lines set up by other unions.

"All Teamsters locals will have orders," Hoffa, the Teamsters president, told newsmen Wednesday, "to drive through recognitional, organizational and primary picket lines.

"The Teamsters will make an exception on primary picket lines if the striking union will guarantee the Teamsters against any possible loss through lawsuits, government action or any other expense incurred by the Teamsters."

Explanation Given

A primary strike is one called by a union recognized under law as the collective bargaining agent for workers at a specified company.

Thus, under Hoffa's order, Teamsters members would cross lines set up by a union fighting for recognition as the bargaining agent for workers at a company.

Last month, John T. O'Brien of Chicago, a Teamsters vice president, ordered Midwest Teamsters to cross all picket lines until he and the union's strategy board decided on its interpretation of picketing provisions of the newly passed Landrum-Griffin labor law.

Bans Picketing

The new law forbids picketing when used as a weapon to shake down an employer for personal gain.

It also prohibits an outside union to picket in an attempt to organize workers where another union has already been lawfully recognized, where the outside union has lost a collective, bargaining election in the past 12 months, or where picketing has been conducted for a period of not more than 30 days and no election has been requested.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Roll Call Goes "Over Top" 1st Time In 12 Years: The prediction that the 1939 Red Cross roll call will "go over the top" was made today at chapter offices in the court house, thereby setting a record that has not been equalled in 12 years in Adams county.

In 1927 the county chapter raised the quota set by Washington and was awarded an honor flag for the achievement.

With cash on hand of $2,748.64 and at least $300 additional anticipated from Fairfield, York Springs and county industries which have not as yet reported, achievement of the $3,000 goal seemed certain today.

Few Deer Are Being Killed In This Section: Although several hunters reported early successes in the South Mountain as the deer season opened Friday previous estimates of the depleted deer population were being confirmed.

The first kill reported in this section was made by Fred Williams, North Stratton street, who brought down a five-point buck with a single shot on lands of C. W. Epley on Mt. Newman. The deer was shot 15 minutes after the season opened. It was the first buck Williams shot in 17 years of hunting. Last year he killed a doe.

Among the largest bucks taken today was a 141-pound deer bearing a rack of seven points, shot by Harry J. Rothhaupt, South Washington street auto dealer. The animal was shot about 6:30 this morning at the foot of Green Ridge, northeast of Mt. Hope.

Soroptimists Celebrate 1st Year At Banquet: The Soroptimist Club of Gettysburg celebrated its first birthday anniversary at a turkey banquet Tuesday evening which was attended by visiting Soroptimists, members of the Gettysburg Lions and Rotary clubs and other guests.

The birthday party at the Blue Parrot tea room commemorated an event of a year ago when the local club was presented with its charter and the first officers installed. Miss Mary Ramer, first president of the club, was toastmistress. The banquet room was decorated with large bouquets of chrystanthemums, gifts of the local service clubs.

Junior Play At H.S. To Be Given On December 8: According to the custom of former years the annual junior play at Gettysburg high school will be presented by members of the junior class on Friday evening December 8 at the high school auditorium for the benefit of the "Maroon and White," high school newspaper. A three-act comedy "The Girl Patsy" has been chosen for the production.

Members of the class include Mary Jane Wolff, Elinor Beard, Albert Shulley, Ida Mae Alexander, William Keefauver, Helen Spangler, Joseph Cunningham, Mary Louise Spangler, Robert Widder, Sara Jane Maust, Samuel Snyder and Charles Williams.

$152 Donated During Annual Hospital Drive: That the annual food drive for the Warner hospital which opened late in October went "over the top" both with cash contributions and donations of foodstuffs was reported at the regular November meeting of the hospital Auxiliary on Monday afternoon by Mrs. T. J. Winebrenner, chairman of the drive.

Mrs. Winebrenner read a list of cash contributors whose gifts totaled $152.95, pointing out that that sum exceeds cash gifts last year and adding that food and other supplies gathered to date exceeded those collected last year.

Today's Talk

LOYALTY

This single word "Loyalty" carries a world of meaning and there are few words that so define themselves as does this one word. To have a loyal friend, a worker in your office, or just one who always fits in, is one of the great benefits of life. We don't have to worry about those who are loyal to us. If we have loved and trusted a person we take it for granted that that person is loyal, and that in that one we have what nothing else can duplicate.

What a word to use in connection with our faithful friend the dog. How much we can learn from this faithful beast! Faithful and loyal to its last breath. A friend can have a multiude of faults but if that person is loyal, we have nothing to fear. They just come to us free. Money could not tempt them. And what a gift such a one is!

When you are lucky enough to have a friend you can trust, and to whom you have contributed something of yourself to weld to that of loyalty, you can happily thank the Good Lord for such a treasure! On the other hand, when one we love and have trusted for a long time suddenly proves disloyal, something dies within us.

It is a tragic thing to lose confidence in another whom you may have trusted. How are we to meet such a condition? It is like losing a star, loaned from Heaven! What a life-long friend imparts to us in simple loyalty!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Keynotes"

Just Folks

A SONG

Let the wind howl 'round the old house tonight,
Let the snow drift where it will, what care I?
The wood on the hearth blazes cheerily bright,
I've a mug full of cider to drink when I'm dry.
Let the sky scowl,
Let the wind howl,
The fire blazes brightly and good friends are nigh;
I heed not the storm,
I am home where it's warm,
Where the happy hearts reign,
and for what else care I?

Let the wind howl, we'll be jolly tonight;
Come, fill up your pipes and puff sorrow away!
With laughter and song let us make the world bright;
We've cider to drink,
So let the mugs clink;
Who cares for them storm that is outside, I pray?
The flames climbing higher
From the jolly old fire,

Stumps Treasury With $100 Gift

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Lester Lehn had a little trouble getting the federal government to take his $100. He gave the Treasury a rather original idea and they didn't know what to do.

Lehn, owner of a Trailer Sales Agency, wants to help the federal space agency build a rocket that will put the Soviets to shame.

The U.S. Treasury spent three months trying to decide in which account to put Lehn's $100. Finally, Lehn had to tell them.

He suggested an open account so any citizen could contribute to the cause. His $100 was accepted and he sent another $100 check.

SENTENCE 7 BOOTLEGGERS FROM READING

The men were convicted by a jury June 29 in a second trial. The first trial ended in a mistrial because of a statement made in court by a witness leaving the stand.

Twenty-seven persons originally were indicted. One was acquitted in a separate trial, six pleaded guilty and eight others won judgments of acquittal because of lack of evidence.

ASK REVERSAL ON BLUE LAWS

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP)—The Middletown Merchandise Mart says it will ask the U.S. Supreme Court to reverse a federal court ruling upholding a 1959 amendment to a 1959 state law prohibiting certain Sunday sales.

Samuel I. Feldman, Mart executive vice president, said Wednesday he would "personally enter the fight" to have the ruling by three federal judges upset.

Feldman said he was a member of the International Religious Freedom Assn., associated with Seventh Day Adventists. Seventh Day Adventists observe their Sabbath on Saturday.

The mart official was unable to say, pending study of the court ruling, whether his establishment would open Sunday.

During the past several months the Mart had been raided on successive Sundays under the 1939 statute which imposed a $4 fine. The special three-judge panel did not rule on the 1939 law.

The 1959 amendment raised the fine to a maximum of $100 for the first offense and a maximum of $200 and 30 days in jail for the second offense.

Dauphin County Dist. Atty. Huette F. Dowling said he would meet later in the week with Deputy Atty. Gen. Harry J. Rubin to determine whether to proceed under the 1959 amendment.

NEHRU EAGER TO MEET IKE

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today said his talks with President Eisenhower probably will range over the entire world situation, including India's border dispute with Communist China and anything else.

Terming his meeting next week with the U.S. President "most important," Nehru told his monthly news conference:

"I want to chat with him about the lead he has given toward finding a way out of the entanglements in which the world finds itself."

Pin Down Chinese

In a move to pin down the Chinese population in India, Nehru announced all foreign nationals — except those from British Commonwealth countries — are being required to register with the government. Previously, foreigners who had lived in India prior to August 1943 were not required to have residence permits.

Nehru made clear the new rule was prompted by recent demonstrations in Calcutta siding with Red China in the border dispute.

Weekly Benefits Are Increased

HARRISBURG (AP) — Maximum weekly benefits for occupational disease have been increased from $37.50 to $42.50.

The increase, signed into law Wednesday by Gov. Lawrence, also boosts from $10,000 to $10,500 the ceiling on death benefits for a disease contracted as a result of working conditions. Diseases include anthraco-silicosis (miner's asthsma), silicosis and asbestosis.

More liberal funeral expenses and payments during healing periods due to amputations also are provided by the new law.

Lawrence also approved a measure appropriating an additional $300,000 for payment of the Korean bonus and removing a requirement that career servicemen be a resident of Pennsylvania at the time they receive the bonus.

from their present exposed and imperfectly buried condition in the fields for miles around to a cemetery." He also announced purchase of the present cemetery plot.

Following that letter was the governor's reply in which he said that the other states should be permitted to join in the plans and adding, "The proper consecration of the round must claim our early attention." The proper consecration was provided less than three months later, Nov. 19, 1863, by President Abraham Lincoln.

Gets Local Support

In the same edition under the heading "The Battle Field of Gettysburg" was a letter written by McConaughy on August 14, 1863, to the Rev. Dr. C. P. Krauth, Rev. Dr. S. S. Schmucker Hon J. B. Danner, Rev. Dr. Charles Schaeffer, T. D. Carson Esq., Rev. Jacob Ziegler, R. G. McCreary, J. L. Schick "and others."

McConaughy reported, "Immediately after the battle of Gettysburg the thought occurred to me that there could be no more fitting and expressive memorial of the heroic valor and signal triumphs of our army on the first, second and third days of July 1863 than the battlefield itself. . . ."

He reported he had negotiated for and had secured deeds to some of the property. He suggested incorporation of a Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association to seek funds to buy the field and urged the cooperation of the other men.

Local Cooperation

That cooperation was quickly forthcoming. A letter dated August 18, 1863, from the group headed by Dr. Krauth was printed in the September 16, 1863, Adams Sentinel. It concluded, "We therefore highly approve and will cheerfully unite in the plan proposed by you, believing it to be the best method of accomplishing the much desired end — the preservation of the standing memorials of the terrible struggle and almost superhuman achievements of our troops in the greatest battle recorded in the annals of the world."

Thus both movements were well underway before the last soldiers had left Gettysburg. According to the Adams Sentinel of that date, "We understand that there are still about 1,300 wounded in the Hospitals at this place. a large portion of the wounds consisting of compound fractures. It is expected that all of the patients will be removed to other places during the present month and the hospitals here closed."

Dedicate Cemetery

Wills' project went on to successful culmination with the dedication of the cemetery November 19, 1863.

April 30, 1864, Governor Curtin approved the act of the Pennsylthe Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association. It designated McConaughy, and a number of other men from Gettysburg and throughout the state including Generals Meade and Hancock "and all others who shall hereafter subscribe to the fund devoted to the preservation of the Battlefield of Gettysburg and their successors . . . are hereby made a body politic and corporate. . . . That the object of said association shall be to hold and preserve the Battle grounds of Gettysburg on which were fought the actions of the first, second and third days of July one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, with the natural and artificial defenses as they were at the time of said battle and by such perpetuation and such memorial structures as a generous and patriotic people may aid to erect, to commemorate the heroic deeds, the struggles and triumphs of their brave defenders."

$4,000 Is Raised

By May 17, 1864, more than $4,000 had been raised, including $100 from Thaddeus Stevens, and the association had "negotiated for about one hundred acres of the Battlefield and has title to seventy acres."

By 1895 the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association, a Pennsylvania corporation, owned 800 acres of battlefield. Through the efforts of General Daniel Sickles, then a congressman, Congress established, February 11, 1896, a "National Military Park at Gettysburg," authorizing the secretary of war to receive all of the lands, rights of way and property of the Gettysburg Memorial Association in exchange for $2,000, "or whatever lesser debts of the association."

In 1933 control of the battlefield passed from the War Department to the Department of the Interior. By that time the Battlefield consisted of 2,743 acres of land. Today the acreage is slightly larger.

Major Haller in formally presenting Arquette this afternoon with a charter membership in the Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Association and in naming him finance chairman said, "We are embarked on a drive to raise funds to carry out a project that began in 1863. The men who answered David McConaughy's letter of August 14, 1863, responded, 'We entertain, in common with you, the sentiment that these ever memorable battlefields . . . deserve commemoration to the latest posterity.' "

Court Rules New Blue Law Amendment Constitutional

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The constitutionality of Pennsylvania's 1959 amendment to the Blue Law, has been upheld, but some enforcement officers aren't certain what to do this Sunday. Others say they'sll enforce the law.

The district attorneys of Montgomery and Lehigh County said Wednesday they would arrest all violators. They said detectives will look for people doing business in violation of the law.

The district attorney's office in Delaware County hasn't made up its mind. A spokesman said enforcement is up to local officials.

Dist. Atty. Paul R. Beckert of Bucks County took the same position. He said he wanted to study the decision more thoroughly.

Dissolves Injunction

But Judge Edward G. Biester of Bucks County dissolved a temporary injunction restraining Doylestown borough from enforcing the law against Kiddie City, a toy and novelty merchandising firm. Felix R. Gowan, Doylestown police chief, said, "If Kiddie City opens on Sunday, we'll enforce the law."

The Tuesday decision, by three federal judges, is a blow to Kiddie City and other large retail establishments which sell many of the items outlawed in the 1959 amendment to the Sunday sales law. They do much of their busines on Sunday.

The 2-1 ruling upheld the constitutionality of the amendment in a test case brought by Two Guys from Harrison, a discount house near Allentown, against McGinley. The amendment provides stiff penalties for those convicted of selling specified items such as clothing, appliances and toys.

Won't Enforce Law

City Solicitor David Berger said Philadelphia will not enforce the law on Sunday. He said the ruling probably will be appealed to the U. S, Supreme Court.

The highest court in the land could grant a stay, so that no action could be taken pending the outcome of the case.

Berger also noted that local courts have enjoined city officials from enforcing the Blue Laws. A case involving five south Philadelphia merchants has not been decided.

Election Issues Will Be Balanced Budget, Missiles

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—It will be budget-balancing vs. the missile gap in the center ring when the presidential election year Congress meets next month.

President Eisenhower signaled his awareness the forthcoming conflict between Republicans and Democrats with news conference comments Wednesday outlining the administration's position on both issues.

Eisenhower told the reporters that everybody who is a taxpayer ought to be thinking about what would happen if the government doesn't curb inflation by balancing its budget.

Ike Issues Warning

The President also cautioned against giving way to any "tremendous hysterical urge" to abandon manned bombers and immediately put all the country's defense eggs in the missile basket.

This advocacy of balanced forces in a period of defense weapon transition seemed certain to be seized upon by Republicans in Congress to combat Democratic efforts to blame the administration for space failures and the lag behind the Soviet Union in military missiles.

Republicans will be on the defensive in the space and missile argument. But they are happily looking forward to the chance to boom the drums for the balanced budget they contend is necessary to prevent inflation.

PLANE CRASH PROBERS OFFER REPORT TODAY

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Government and commercial investigators met here today to make preliminary reports on their probe of Tuesday's Allegheny Airline plane crash that took 25 lives.

Teams of investigators from the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Air Administration, the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and Allegheny began their probe Wednesday.

Their findsings will be presentedat a public hearing here, expected in two to four weeks.

A spokesman for the CAB said the preliminary reports probably would be kept confidential for the time being.

Survivor Is Serious

Meanwhile, Louis Matarazzo, 35, of Springfield, Pa., lone survivor of the crash, was reported to have spent "a comfortable night" at Williamsport's Divine Providence Hospital. However, he was still listed in serious condition by the hospital.

Dr. Earl R. Miller, Lycoming County coroner, has said it had appeared the pilot, Capt. Thomas R. Goldsmith, 30, of North Olmstead, Ohio, had made a wrong turn.

But Wednesday David Miller, senior vice president of Allegheny disputed this, saying:

"There are conflicting reports of various types. A formal investigation is underway to clarify them."

Miller said there were indications Goldsmith, who had 12,000 hours logged, had made the proper turn.

NEW TV BAN ON COMMERCIALS

NEW YORK (AP) — Starting Jan. 1, the Columbia Broadcasting System will eliminate from television shows commercials advertising products other than the sponsor's.

The ban — latest CBS cleanup move — strikes at a little-publicized but profitable practice of charging manufacturers for having their products used as show prizes.

The new rule, issued Wednesday by Joseph H. Ream, CBS vice president in charge of standards and practices, ordered that all prizes be paid for out of a show's budget.

Also barred are free plugs for airlines and other transportation facilities.

The new rule is also expected to stop television personalities from using their programs to promote other commercial activities in which they have an interest.

A main program affected by the CBS policy will be Art Linkletter's "House party," which identifies donors of gifts.

YANKS, REDS SEEKING PACT

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Working against the calendar, the United States and the Soviet Union are stepping up behind-scene efforts to reach agreement on the makeup of a U.N. committee to study ways to keep outer space peaceful.

Both the U.S. and Soviet delegations kept a tight lid of secrecy on the negotiations, but Soviet informants hinted privately there was about a 50-50 chance the two nations would come together on a division of seats for a permanent U.N. committee.

Prodding the negotiations was the new target date for the Assembly to end its 1959 session — Dec. 12 — set Wednesday by the steering committee. Earlier the group had hoped to close out by Dec. 7.

The Soviets boycotted the 18-nation special outer space committee set up last year because Communist and neutral countries were outnumbered by the West.

My Dear Girl won five of her seven starts, including two $100,000 races, the Gardenia at Garden State Park and the Frizette Stakes at Aqueduct. She earned $175,622.

FTC PROBING "PAYOFFS" TO DISC JOCKEYS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission says it is making an intensive investigation of alleged payoffs by recording companies to disc jockeys to promote their records.

FTC Chairman Earl W. Kintner said investigators are checking on possible violations of the law by record firms in payments made to television and radio disc jockeys. Several sections of the country are being checked, he said, naming New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Chicago as among them.

Kintner said "commercial bribery" has been recognized as a violation of the FTC Act in several court cases.

FTC sources said privately that action was likely against several record firms under a section of the act which bans deceptive and unfair trade practices they did not name any companies.

The FTC investigation was revealed as another government agency, the Federal Communications Commission, was preparing to open a hearing Monday into radio and TV program practices.

The hearing is aimed at finding whether the FCC has authority to regulate program content, or whether new legislation is needed. The inquiry stems from House committee disclosures about fixed TV quiz shows.

SEAWAY ENDS FIRST SEASON

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway, opened last June by Queen Elizabeth II in her yacht Britannia, closes for the winter today after two tugs haul through a disabled straggler.

The Norwegian freighter Saltvik will be tugged into Montreal harbor at the eastern end of the seaway, the last of more than 6,500 vessels passing through the locks in the 475-million-dollar waterway's first season of operations.

The 1,680-ton Saltvik lost her electrical power on Lake Erie. The tugs James Battle and Sinmac took her in tow and began a race to beat the seaway's closing deadline, originally set for midnight Monday but pushed back when good weather held.

Bullets Trail Throughout In Bowing To Lions 84-68; Meet Rider At York Tonight

A slow start which found them trailing 24-8 in the early minutes of the game proved fatal to the Gettysburg College cagers as they dropped their opening game of the season to Albright 84-68 at Reading Wednesday evening before about 2,000 fans.

The Lions got their fast lead on the sharp shooting of Terry Pearsall, a freshman, and Ken VanDine, 6-5 center. Albright maintained its big lead until five minutes remained in the first half when the Bullets began to click via some outside shooting by Bob Parker, lay-ups by Bill Hemsing and a trio of corner shots by Ron Warner. John Warner and Parker tallied from the foul line as Gettysburg pulled to within 37-33 at intermission.

Both teams matched shots midway through the second half but Coach Hulton's lads were unable to move any closer. Ron Warner kept the Bullets in contention but his work was offset by the shooting of Ted Evans and Jim McNeill, freshmen.

Lions Rebuild Lead

As the game narrowed down to the home stretch, the Lions began picking up on the shooting of Evans and McNeill while the Bullets began to falter. With two minutes remaining in the contest, Albrigh had rebuilt its 16-point lead and at this stage of the game both coaches began utilizing their bench power.

The Lions turned in an excellent field goal shooting percentage, missing rarely in the second half. The Bullets were kept alive with a fine exhibition of foul connections, landing 20 out of 26, but their outside shooting fell off considerably. Terry Pearsall paced the winners' attack with 20 points while Ted Evans registered 18 and Ken VanDine racked up 10. Ron Warner and Bob Parker, the same combination which led last year's frosh, also were the top duo for the Bullets. Warner recorded 20 points while Parker landed 17. Bill Hemsing came in third with 10.

Tonight the Bullets will travel to York where they will try to even their record when they tangle with Rider College in the second part of a twin-bill. Mt. St. Mary's and Shippensburg State Teachers' College will square off in the first game at Hannah Penn Junior High. Last night Rider dropped a close 58-52 decision to Army.

OKLAHOMA IS OFF TO GOOD COURT START

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oklahoma's Sooners, who used to have as big a name in basketball as they now have in football, may be on their way back to challenge the rule of Kansas State and Kansas in Big Eight cage competition.

Not since 1949 has Oklahoma had even a share of the conference title. It was a distant second to Kansas State last season. But in opening the 1959-60 season Wednesday night with a 76-58 victory over Texas Western, Coach Doyle Parrack displayed a wealth of sophomore talent to back up a big crop of holdovers.

A highly praised sophomore was unveiled as Seton Hall opened with an easy 84-47 victory over the University of Toronto. Art Hicks has been called the Hall's best prospect in ten years and he justified Coach Honey Russell's high opinion of him by netting 19 points and taking 15 rebounds in 24 minutes of play.

Villanova Wins

Pittsburgh, minus All-America Don Hennon this season but with Dick Falenski pouring in 23 points trounced Michigan of the Big Ten 73-57. Villanova turned back Princeton, last year's Ivy League runner-up, 66-46. St. Joseph's (Pa) whipped West Chester State 91-69. Navy edged out touring Kentucky Wesleyan 48-47 and Army beat little Rider 58-52.

Opening the doubleheader season at the Philadelphia Palestra LaSalle defeated Millersville (Pa) State 76-60 and Penn outscored Washington and Jefferson 63-44.

Three other Ivy League teams were in action Wednesday night. Yale started with an 84-62 victory over Sprngfield, Cornell beat Buffalo 60-53 and Brown whipped Tufts 93-70.

The principal surprises turned up in the South where Georgia Teachers upset the University of Georgia 8-73 and favored Richmond barely edged Randolph-Macon 76-75. Florida easily defeated Tampa 76-62, Mississippi State trmmed Troy (Ala.) State 66-50 and Loyola (La.) beat Florida State 71-64.

CANNERS HOST WEST YORK FIVE FRIDAY NIGHT

A 14-man squad is being groomed by Coach Bernard Thrush at Biglerville High School for its opening basketball game with West York Friday evening at Biglerville.

The Canners, who will participate in the South Penn League this season for the first time, have two remaining lettermen from last year's outfit which won the Adams-Franklin League title.

Larry Eckenrode 6-0 and Jack Frantz 5-10, both seniors, are the only returning letter winners.

Three other candidates were members of the varsity squad last year, Ted Orner 5-8, Vance Johnstone 5-9, both seniors, and Fred Hartzel, 5-7 junior.

Other Candidates

Sophomores — Gordon Harvey 5-7, William Sanni 5-6, Barry Trostle 6-0, and Glenn Olmstead 5-11.

Coach Thrush indicated today he will not choose his regular starting group until after several games have been played.

Last year the Canners lost at West York and they will attempt to avenge that reverse on Friday.

Twelve of Biglerville's 20 games will be South Penn League contests.

Two Exemptions From Blue Laws

HARRISBURG (AP)—Legal exemption from the Sunday Blue Law for bowling and basketball has been endorsed by the Legislature.

The House went along with the proposal Wednesday, 151 - 26. It goes to Gov. Lawrence for final consideration.

The legislation gives statutory recognition to a practice that has been going on for years.

Other sports mentioned in the bill are golf, tennis, boating, swimming, picknicking, target shooting and "similar healthful or recreational exercises and activities." Baseball and football already are exempt.

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Santa Claus, the guest of honor in the annual Christmas parade Tuesday night, was his usual lovable self and all the kids were clamoring for the favors he tossed from his float.

MAJORS AND 3RD LEAGUE FACE CLASH

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —The first head-on clash between the majors and the proposed third major league—the Continental—may take place Tuesday when they all meet separately but under the same roof at Miami Beach.

The American and National, spurred by Commissioner Ford Frick, are expected to make known their positions on expansion of their eight-club leagues.

The Continental League, aware of Frick's pressure on the majors, has called a meeting of its own to coincide with those of the majors. Branch Rickey, president of the five-team circuit, will fly down from New York, prepared to respond when the majors state their positive intentions.

American League President Joe Cronin will call on his three-man fact-fincing committee to report its findings for internal expansion for 1961. The committee was selected during an October meeting in New York when the league announced it was seriously considering expansion to 10 teams by 1961. The meeting stemmed from a Minneapolis group's request for a franchise. Minneapolis-St. Paul is one of the five founding members of the Continental League. The others are New York, Denver, Toronto and Houston.

Geroge Kirksey, associated with the Houston franchise, met with Frick earlier this week in an attempt to clear up all misunderstandings that had cropped up in recent weeks. He indicated he came away satisfied.

Frick said he expects some kind of a statement on expansion from the two majors.

"As commissioner of baseball" Frick said, "I have three great obligations. One is to the public, another is to the players and the third is to the minor leagues. I must guard against players being sold down the river or the minors being sold down the river."

L. A.-SENATOR DEAL STALLS ON DEMETER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Los Angeles' refusal to include outfielder Don Demeter stalled a six-man player trade parley between the Dodgers and the Washngton Senators today.

The Dodgers had offered shortstop Don Zimmer, outfielder Ron Fairly and pitcher Danny McDevitt or Clem Labine for slugger Roy Sievers, pitcher Russ Kemmerer and second baseman Reno Bertoia. The Senators insisted that Demeter be substituted for Fairly and were rebuffed by the Dodgers.

Consequently, the Senators, still searching for a shortstop and center fielder, turned to the Chicago White Sox. They offered the same trio for Chicago's Sammy Esposito, Johnny Callson and a catcher, either Earl Battey or John Romano.

Not a single deal was completed Wednesday although every club reported trade talk. The feeling was that no deal would be engineered until the major league meeting in Miami beach next week.

Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, said talks with the San Francisco Giants of a trade involving Johnny Antonelli and Daryl Spencer of the Gants and Larry Jackson and Don Blasingame of the Redbirds had collapsed but expressed hope that a trade could be made between the clubs along those lines "with variations."

SYRACUSE IS CHALLENGING CAGE LEADERS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't look now, but here come the rampaging Syracuse Nationals to challenge Boston and Philadelphia for Eastern division supremacy in the National Basketball Assn.

The Nats broke the St. Louis Hawks' four-game winning streak Wednesday night as they beat the Western division leaders 130-121. In the opening game of a doubleheader in Syracuse, the Cincinnati Royals handed New York its ninth defeat in 10 games by 135-118.

Syracuse, in posting its third victory in four starts, drew within 1½ games of the second-place Warriors and 3½ games of the leading Celtics in the Eastern division.

Shackle Bob Pettit

Hal Greer, Johnny Kerr and Dolph Schayes provided the Nats with a balanced scoring display and Bob Hopkins helped put the shackles on Bob Pettit, the Hawks' top point-producer. Greer hit for 29 points, Kerr 27 and Schayes 25. Guarded by Hopkins most of the time, Pettit clicked for 18, including just four field goals. Cliff Hagan was high for St. Louis with 37 points.

Jack Twyman, the league's leading scorer, netted 39 ponts as Cincinnati climbed to within one game of third place in the Western divison. The Royals went on a 13-point tear late in the third quarter to overcome an 81-69 New York advantage. Richie Guerin was high for New York with 29 points.

GENE FULLMER SEEKS WIN FOR LARGER PURSES

By JACK STEVENSON

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Bigger pay days loom for NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer if he successfully defends his crown Friday night against the challenge of Chicago's Spider Webb.

For although the Mormon Sunday school teacher twice has ruled the 160-pound boxing class, there always have been strings attached.

When he beat Sugar Ray Robinson on Jan. 2, 1957, contracts called for a return match and Gene lost. For the first fight, Fullmer received just 12½ per cent of the gate with an even split on the second.

Basilio Paid More

He collected $80,000 for his victorious battle with Carmen Basilio for the NBA crown last Aug. 28 after the association took its title from Robinson for failure to defend. Still Basilio received more.

The string this time was an NBA requirement that Fullmer meet its No. 1 challenger in his first defense. That's why he fights Webb.

"If we get over this fight there will be more strings attached as far as the NBA is concerned," says Manager Marv Jensen. "Another string might be Robinson for the undisputed title but truthfully, I don't think he'll ever fight Fullmer so we might as well eliminate him from Gene's plans."

Promise Return Bout

Should Fullmer lose to Webb, a contract already is signed calling for a return match in Salt Lake City on June 10. Promoter Bennie Ford has offered a $250,000 guarantee for a return bout in San Francisco.

"If I win, we'll be on our own and ought to be able to do a little better financially," observed the 28-year-old Fullmer who hails from West Jordan near Salt Lake City.

Gene has hopes of fighting Archie Moore for the light heavyweight title although the middleweight king's next bout may be against Bobo Olson in San Francisco early next year.

"Gene would like one fight against a light heavy to show he deserves a shot at Moore," Jensen observed.

The 15-round nationally televised (NBC) bout will be held at the Utah State University field house with its capacity of 7,000. A gate of about $90,000 to go with the $100,000 TV stipend is expected.

ECAC STARS ARE CHOSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Two small colleges that had football teams strong enough to upset a major team during the 1959 season—Delaware and West Chester (Pa.) State Teachers, each placed two men on their ECAC divisional all-star team.

The selecton committee which today named the ECAC small college, southern section, team listed Delaware captain and center Mark Hurm and fullback Tony Suravich of Delaware and end Ken Campbell and halfback Billy Shockley of West Chester.

The ECAC small college south team:

5 Games Dropped From Frosh Card

Five games, all scheduled on foreign courts, have been dropped from the Gettysburg College freshman basketball schedule leaving the Bullet yearlings with a 17-game program.

The yearlings, coached by Howard Shoemaker, will play their first game here Monday evening against Villanova in a preliminary to the varsity contest.

MOUNTS LOSE TO HOYAS IN OPENER 81-73

Mt. St. Mary's opened its basketball season by bowing to Georgetown 81-73 at Washington, D. C., Wednesday evening, the Mountaineers trailing after falling behind eight minutes after the opening whistle. Approximately 3,000 fans watched the game.

During the first half the Mountaineers kept the Hoyas pretty well under control and at intermission trailed only 36-31 but a surge midway in the second half iced the game for Georgetown.

Brian Sheehan, who tabbed 17 points for Georgetown, got his first goal after eight minutes of the first half and from then on Georgetown was on top.

Savage High Scorer

Jerry Savage, Mount veteran, took the scoring honors for the evening with 20 points and was ably assisted by Dick Talley who netted 14 of his 15 points in the last half to keep the Mountaineers in contention.

Jim Carrino, a sophomore, was high man for Georgetown with 19 points.

The Mounts landed 27 goals as compared to 28 for Georgetown but managed only 10 of 26 free throws while the Hoyas converted 25 of 38.

Committee Opposes Hiway Drag Races

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate Highways Committee has approved legislation which would prohibit drag racing and any other contest of speed or physical oenduranceon state highways.

Committee approval Wednesday sent the measure to the Senate floor where it will be in position for debate when the Senate reconvenes Monday.

The House-passed measure provides a fine of $100 to $300 or up to three years in jail for conviction of racing on highways. It also provides for suspension of the convicted person's driving license.

Local officials also would be prohibited from establishing or maintaining any road or municipally owned property for such contests.

VETS GET BONUS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Some 100,000 veterans of the Korean conflict will have received 30 million dollars bonus from the state by Christmas.

The Korean bonus bureau said Wednesday 41,962 checks were approved in November, bringing the total since Oct. 1, when payments began, to 59,374. A total of $14,965,665 in compensation has been paid.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Chinese Communist embassy officials continue to violate military regulations banning them from West Java, army authorities charged Wednesday.

A military spokesman said Chinese Consul General Ho and a military attache were found roaming about in two cars at Tjiandjur, a rural town 35 miles from Bandung.

JOE BROWN, 34, STOPS YOUNG D. CHARNLEY

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown, a skittish 34-year-old, stopped another charge of youth Wednesday night when he beat Britisher Dave Charnley on a technical knockout.

And a few minutes later the champion said he would be ready to fight again only a week hence.

Brown didn't have any particular fighter in mind but declared he would like to get somebody for Dec. 9.

8th Title Defense

Charnley, the 24-year-old exboilermaker from Dartford, Kent, who is called "the midget Marciano" because he has shoulders and neck like a heavyweight, never was in the fight with the Baton Rouge, La., Negro, making the eighth defense of his title in 39 months. It tied the number of defenses by Benny Leonard, who set the record in the lightweight class before he retired undefeated in 1925.

Brown was leading by as many as five points in the fifth round when he lashed out with a left and then a right and crimson spread down the right cheek of the 24-year-old Briton as a deep cut opened over his eye. Charnley put his glove to his head and staggered back just as the bell rang, ending the round.

Charnley shuffled to his corner and while his handlers worked over him, Referee Jimmy Webb raised Brown's hand and led the champion to the center of the ring.

Claims Butt

Arthur Boggis, manager of Charnley, claimed it was a butt that caused the cut but that it was unintentional. However, Webb ruled that it was a hard right and that Brown had won on a technical knockout in the sixth round since the fifth was over when the fight was stopped.

Brown verified that it was a right that put Charnley away. He said he got the British fighter on a right uppercut following a left.

"That's the one that ripped him open," said Brown. "But I would have knocked him cold anyway if I hadn't cut him."

MINORS SEEK TO EASE OFF GENEROUS PAY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The minor leagues want to curb payments of excessive bonus money to untried youngsters and to ease the advancement of their players to the major leagues.

The Louisville club wants a new version of the bonus rule which was scrapped two years ago. Players paid more than $6,000 above minimum salary to sign would be sharply restricted. If kept on the major league roster, they would have to pass through waivers before being optioned to the minors. If signed to a minor league contract, they would be subject to draft after their first year in organized baseball.

Bob Howsam, owner of the Denver club, had an even more radical proposal. He suggested a draft of all free agents, similar to the professional football and basketball drafts. Under this plan, all high school boys, college graduates and other free agents would go into a common pool. The majors and minors would then make their selections in reverse order of their standings. Three drafts would be held each year, on June 15, shortly after high school graduation, on Oct. 15, and on March 15.

Crist Gets Letter At Millersville STC

Tom Crist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crist, 2 Elm Ave., received a varsity football letter at the sports dinner held Monday evening at Millersville State Teachers College.

Crist graduated from Gettysburg High School last June where he was an all-around athlete and this fall played freshman football at Millersville but advanced rapidly to gain a varsity halfback position.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Biltmore golf course par of 35-36—71 appeared destined for a beating today as 150 sharpshooters tee off for the first round of the 72-hole, $25,000 Coral Gables open tournament.

The once-gamed layout, scene of major competitions in the 30's and early 40's, was given a good going-over Wednesday in the pro-amateur competition. Fifteen entrants shot par or better. Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., carded a 66.

YOUSE HONORED

Connie Youse, center halfback on the Gettysburg College soccer squad this year, has been named to the all-opponent team of Elizabethtown College.

L. A. TO PLAY IN COLISEUM

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will be back in the Coliseum next season.

Their return was made certain Wednesday when the Coliseum Commission's baseball committee approved a new contract proposal which would cost the Dodgers about $500,000. Last year the ball club paid a little more than $319,000 for use of the 90,000 - plus capacity stadium.

They also played — rent-free—three World Series games in the Coliseum. But if the Dodgers get into the 1960 World Series, they'll have to work out additional rental terms with the commission.

A formal contract will be prepared within two weeks.

The Dodgers are building a new stadium in Chavez Ravine but it won't be ready for at least another season.

Catholic Shrine In Washington Is Unique Combination Of Old World And New; Called Enduring

Techniques more than a thousand years old were used to build it, yet the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Washington, D. C., is one of the most modern churches in the world.

The Cathedral of St. Mark in Venice, dating from 1063; Santa Sophia in Constantinople, dating from 532, and the National Shrine, which was dedicated November 20, all embody identical structural principles. But built into the National Shrine are electronic devices which are the most modern in their fields.

The National Shrine:

Theoreticaly is constructed to last forever.

Gives the United States its first real National Church built by all the Catholics of the country under the leadership of their bishops.

Is the largest Catholic church in the United States.

Is one of the most beautiful structures anywhere.

Has an electrical load of two million watts, or the equivalent of that of a 15-story offce building with air conditioning and all modern equipment.

Other Features

Is heated by probably the largest single unobstructed radiant heating slab in the world. (Radiant heating, although considered quite modern, incidentally is the first form of central heating ever installed in a building, dating back to the Roman Empire.)

Has an accustical system, including a public address arrangement, that is the last word in modernity.

Has temperature controls that "anticipate" the weather.

Gives the national capital of the country a magnificent new place of pilgrimage.

Ten million common brick, 1,500,000 face brick, 10,000 cubic yards of concrete, 350 carloads of limestone and over 60,000 cubic feet of granite went into the shrine's construction. Engineers say it is built of "everlasting materials." Its walls are so massive that conceivably it could, without assistance, have virtually the same temperature the year round. It would take so long for outside heat to penetrate its walls that the outdoor temperatures would be starting to drop before the interior of the shrine began to get warm.

But air will be circulated in the vast upper church, where the ceilings of three domes are 100 feet above the floor, and that of a fourth dome 159 feet in height. Thus it will not be possible to rely on the great walls for temperature comfort.

In designing the mechanical and electrical services in the shrine, Stressenger, Adams Maguire and Reidy of Boston, Mass., recognized two basic conditions: a. that the building theoretically is constructed to last forever and, therefore, the systems put into it must serve their purposes in the distant future as well as the present time, and, b. because of the large volume, high ceilings and massive construction, they should seek to heat, ventilate and illuminate the useful areas as efficiently as possible with a minimum of wasted effort.

It was decided that the air should be heated and ventilated to height of 12 feet above the floor, and that a horizontal surface 30 inches above the floor be illuminated.

Temperature Control Methods

Radiant heat was chosen to provide quick warmth within 12 feet of the floor. The ventilating system will take off the thermal excess, which must be taken into account wherever a large number of people assemble. Six miles of pipe lie beneath the 50,000 square feet of marble floor in the upper church to provide the heat. The temperature is controlled by thermostat grouped in units of four each. In such a unit one thermostat is in the floor, one in the wall, one in the glass of the shrine and one outside. The outside thermostat "anticipates" changes in the weather, then the four devices compensate each other, and the result is a heating system that is "ahead of the weather."

It was originally planned to air condition the upper church of the shrine, but it was decided that in a structure its size such treatment was unnecessary.

There are in the upper church magnificent chandeliers that drop some 60 feet from the distant ceilings. They throw light upward, as well as down, to dispel the shadows near the ceilings, but they are largely ornamental. Reading in the shrine will be done by light from the domes; that is, from light originating 100 to 159 feet away.

Downlights are set in four interior domes. In three domes which are 100 feet above the floor the lights, appearing as round openings in the ceilings, consist of clusters of 21 500-watt spotlights in each dome. In the central, or "crossing" dome, where the ceiling is 159 feet above the floor, the downlight consists of a cluster of 37 500-watt spotlights plus a circle of 18 1,000-watt spotlights.

Two-Fold Lighing

This lighting arrangement achieves two purposes. First, it provides adequate lighting on missals and prayerbooks that will be read, as well as on kneeling benches, chairs and other objects. Second it accentuates the loftiness of the shrine's ceilings. The light will not come down as a shaft but will be diffused and thus illuminate the domes, which in time will be covered with mosaics.

While keeping the radiated heat within 12 feet of the floor, more than enough height for the area in which people will move about, the engineers have also arranged to confine the human voice within 10 feet of the floor.

This latter precaution was found necessary, because it was established that if low frequencies of sound should get up into the domes, and particularly into the great central dome, they could reverberate for as much as 15 seconds, causing an overlapping of sound.

To meet this situation, wires have been installed beneath the marble floor, with an outlet coming up under each pew. Connected with each outlet will be a system of low level speakers under the pew. There will be a speaker for each four persons, or more than 500 speakers.

Unique Address System

Not only is the sound kept close to the floor, but a magnetic time delay unit will be worked out which eventually will pace sound emanating from the sanctuary. Under this arrangement, the voice in the pulpit will be taped automatically and will then emanate from the low level speakers at intervals of a fraction of a second as the voice is carried toward the back of the church. In this way, a person sitting in the last pew will hear the speaker at the same time he would have heard his voice normally, if the voice would carry that far from the sanctuary, which it will not. Despite the minute time delays, the person in the last pew seems to hear the speaker's words in synchronization with his lips and gestures.

Eugene F. Kennedy Jr., of Boston, active architect on the shrine, says it is "unique." "It is reminiscent of no other building in the world," he declares.

Enduring Structure

There is no structural steel in the shrine. Massive piers of brick are used where reinforced concrete might have been. The brick piers will last longer than the reinforced columns, it is contended. Kennedy says that since the National Shrine is built like St. Mark's and Santa Sophia, it can be anticipated "with reasonable certainty" that the great church in Washington, D. C., will withstand the ravages of time as well as the older edifices.

National Golf Day in 1959 realized more than $90,000 which eventualy will be turned over to charities and worthwhile golf projects.

East Berlin Church Receives Charter

The York County court has granted a nonprofit corporation charter to the Lower Conewago Church of the Brethren, East Berlin R. 1, in keeping with a petition filed by incorporators Harvey King, East Berlin R. 1, chairman of the board of trustees; Roy King, Dover R. 4, and John H. Baum, Dover, members of the board; O. W. Cook, Dillsburg R. 3, and Glenn Julius, Dover R. 2.

The petition lists the Kings and Baum as directors and says the church is starting its corporate existence with $150,000 worth of real estate and $5,000 in personal property.

CUBA LOSING TOURIST FOLK

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of free-spending American tourists are bypassing Fidel Castro's Cuba for other Caribbean countries, travel officials here say.

The loss to Cuba runs into millions annually.

The decline in Cuba's tourist trade is blamed upon anti-American statements by high Cuban officials and reports of incidents in Havana.

"You can't blame the tourist," one travel agent said. "He doesn't want to go where he's not welcome."

Travelers have said: "Why should we spend our money in a country where we're not wanted?"

All of the major steamship line have cancelled Havana as a port-of-call on their winter cruises. These lines in the past have carried an estimated 30,000 tourists to Havana each year. One line, the Holland-America, alone carried 10,000.

GATES TALKS TO NEWSMEN

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. says the Defense Department and all its officials have an obligation to see that the maximum amount of information is made public.

He plans to hold news conferences at least every two weeks and says he will encourage the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force to meet with newsmen and answer questions dealing with "factual" matters.

Gates held his first news conference Wednesday a few hours after he was sworn in to succeed Neil H. McElroy as defense chief.

SENATE COMES UP WITH PLAN ON SCHOOL AID AND TAXATION

HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate Republicans devised a plan Wednesday to cut back increased state aid for schools to $28,700,000 and extend the 4 per cent sales tax to across-the-bar drinks to finance it.

It was their reply to Gov. Lawrence's insistence that he would veto any school subsidy measure sent to him without an accom--anying tax program.

The Democratic-controlled House passed a 55-million-dollar school subsidy program and with it a proposed six-mill tax on personal property carrying an identical revenue estimate.

The Senate turned down the personal property levy and suggested that the House come up with another tax program.

Over 20 Million There

The present sales tax on liquor and beer applies only to purchases made from beer distributors and at state liquor stores. An across-the-bar levy is estimated by GOP sources to yield from 20 to 30 million dollars.

The governor's position on this is now questionable although an across-the-bar sales tax had been recommended by a bipartisan tax study committee.

Lawrence is reportedly cool on taxing beer and liquor across the bar on the basis of possible voter resentment against putting another tax directly on consumers.

Bright hopes for an imminent adjournment of the 1959 legislature were tarnished by the political wrangle on the school subsidies-taxes problem.

Banks Get Advice On New Branches

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bankers have been urged to make analytical and concrete investigations before establishing branch banks.

Robert R. Williams, president of the Bradford National Bank, told the fall meeting of the Pennsylvana Bankers Assn. Wednesday:

"In establishing branch banks, bankers are seeking a potential to promote at a profit." He added that consideration of locality and the type of staff are important in the investigations.

In another speech at the closing of the two-day meeting, Franklyn A. Edwards, assistant treasurer of the Manufacturers Trust Co. of New York, suggested "that every bank should review its operations periodically to determne whether improvements can be made."

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Christmas Carols voice faith in warm, happy song. The first Nativity hymn, "Jesus Light of All the Nations," was composed in the Fourth Century.

Later under the influence of St. Francis, solemn religious hymns were transformed into simple, popular, joyous and fervent carols. Martin Luther is credited with composing "Away in a Manger." In 18th Century England, strolling musicians warmed the spirits of their fellow townsmen as they sang from door to door. Father Joseph Mohr in the Austrian Tyrol manifested his faith in the 19th Century when he wrote "Silent Night." It is said that he wrote verses on Christmas Eve because the church organ was broken and he did not wish his parishoners disappointed. He rushed to his friend, the organist, who composed the melody in a few hours, and it was sung at midnight.

Today carolers of all ages, representing churches, organizations and neighborhood groups, lift spirits as they softly sing down hospital halls, to the aged in homes, to gatherings in communities and to their neighbors.

"God rest you merry gentlemen, Let nothing you dismay, Remember Christ our Savior was born on Christmas Day . . ."

SID CAESAR IS BETTER IN SECOND SHOW

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Sid Caesar, who hung his first show of the season on an automobile theme, devoted his attention to the institution of marriage Wednesday night. And this second special was a more disciplined and funnier show.

Caesar usually has fine comic ideas. Two often he goes great guns with one for the first five minutes but he rarely knows when to quit. For the most part he avoided this trap in "Marriage—Handle With Care."

The first sketch, in which he was aided by Audrey Meadows, was a satire on modern housewifery and push-button living and was pretty effective. Then there was a spoof of a television audience participation show that went on for much too long and was vastly overdone.

Opera Burlesque

Best sketch of the show, however, was the finale—a wild and wonderful burlesque of Italian opera with a plot based very loosely on Faust. Everybody sang and talked in fractured Italian.

Only 17 Calls

After the other night's Jack Paar broadcast, it appears that the only really new trend in broadcasting this season is the bibulous interview. Mickey Rooney's appearance, however, didn't cause much of a storm in New York—NBC headquarters received only 17 calls on the subject. Five complained about intoxication; one said she enjoyed the show, and eleven said Paar took advantage of his guest.

Two To Disappear

At least two shows are scheduled to disappear from the NBC lineup at the end of their first 13 weeks—"Five Fingers" and "Love and Marriage"—and a major reshuffling of programs will take place.

"Riverboat" is to move from its Sunday night berth to Monday night. It wll be replaced by a Western starring William Bendix. "Richard Diamond" will go from Monday at 7:30 p.m. to Saturday night at 9:30 (opposite CBS' popular "Have Gun, Will Travel) and "The Deputy" will move up to 8:30 Saturday night in a time switch with "The Man and the Challenge."

Meanwhile, at CBS, the axing of the hour-long "Lineup" now on Wednesday night at 7:30 will leave a programming spot which the network is planning to fill with another 60-minute show, probably musical-variety, but definitely not another cops-and-robbers.

STUDY SHOWS THAT ROMMEL WAS FAVORITE

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel of Germany was Britain's favorite enemy — pehaps America's too — in World War II.

But after a 10-year study, author Cornelius Ryan has concluded the Allies were a bit overkindly in their estimates of the dashing Nazi armor genius.

"Rommel has been sometimes portrayed as a high-minded military idealist who played war as a big exciting game," said Ryan, author of an account of the Allied invasion of Normandy on June 6, 1944.

Colleagues' Resentment

"The truth is he was a Hitler favorite bitterly resented by the career officers of the regular German army.

"Actually, Rommel was a very ambitious man willing to trample on anybody to get ahead. He was an utter politician. He was a fine tactician, but he simply didn't have the depth of training to handle the defense of Europe against the invasion."

His study convinced Ryan that Field Marshal von Rundstedt, who nicknamed Rommel "Marshal Bubi"—the baby marshal — was the superior soldier.

Dire Situation

He feels that the Allied beachhead would have been in direr peril—perhaps even thrown into the sea—if Von Rundstedt had been allowed to carry out his plans for a massive counterattack on the third day of the landings, instead of attacking piecemeal on D-Day itself, as Rommel ordered.

But both sides bungled their own intelligence reports badly, and says Ryan: "Plans were tossed out the window on that day, and in the final irretrievable moment when the soldiers met face to face, history voted for the Allies." guy."

It is impossible to get a completely clear view of what goes on in a major battle. But Ryan gives as clear a picture as we ever will get of what actually happened in those first few mighty hours as an Allied armada of 5,000 ships bearing 200,000 troops hit the Normandy coast.

Swear In Barr As Pittsburgh Mayor

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State Sen. Joseph M. Barr, 52, has been sworn in as mayor of Pittsburgh. He is the city's youngest mayor in 25 years.

Barr, elected last month, took the oath of office Wednesday. A Democrat, he will serve slightly more than two years in the post to which Gov. Lawrence was originally elected.

Lawrence resigned to become governor. In the interim, Thomas J. Gallagher, 75, city council president, served as mayor.

Barr said he will keep his post as state senator, without salary, until the primary election next spring.

Assuming Christmas Is More Than A Test Of Good Will, Boyle Offers Timely Advice

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas is more than a test of good will.

Every year it is getting to be more of a test of body and mind. You have to be sound in wind and limb—as well as stout of pocketbook—to survive the holiday season.

The guy who gets himself in good shape now is the guy most likely to still be on his feet come Jan. 1.

Helpful Hints

Here are a few home exercises guaranteed to help you through the annual ordeal of Christmas:

Indian hand wrestle—you and your wife sit down, put your elbows on the table, grip fingers, then see which can force the other's hand backward to the table. This will strengthen you both for all the backslapping, handshaking and greeting card writing you will have to do between now and New Year's Eve.

The face save—from now on you will be smiling, smiling, smiling. Since you have been doing nothing but frowning with worry for the last 11 months, a sudden smile may split your face wide open. So, several times a day, pause in front of a mirror and practice smiling. Don't overdo it. Start with a series of small weak smiles. By the end of the week you should be able safely to manage a fair-sized grin.

Traffic Practice

Leap for life—stand in the middle of the room with your arms full of bundles. Jump as high and as far as you can in all directions at the same time. Repeat 12 times. As a pedestrian, this maneuver may save you from Christmas motorists. On the other hand, it may not.

Hit-the-line body builder—rent the nearest high school football tackle for a few afternoons. At a given signal you both crouch down, then crash into each other at full speed. After a few days of this, you should be tough enough to go into any department store and compete with the crowds of women shoppers for Christmas bargains.

Smooch conditioner—did you save your home-made Halloween pumpkin goblin? Lift it tenderly, close your eyes, and kiss its rough yellow cheek 100 times a day. Now you are in shape for perhaps the worst ordeal of the holidays—kissing your wife's girl friends. Also, be sure and kiss your own wife.

Bankruptcy avoider—plant yourself in front of a mirror and shout "No!" loud and clear 250 times daily. This exercise may make your voice firm enough to keep your wife from spending you insolvent—but don't bet on it.

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Tech Sgt. Frank Rice, Jr., of New Cumberland, Pa., was among four crewmen killed Wednesday when an Air Force twin-engine plane crashed in a forest preserve.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — How much do you know—except for Adlai E. Stevenson and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—about the men now being mentioned as presidential possibilities.

The answer is probably not much.

Right now, in this pre-campaign period, most of the would-be candidates are simply running around, trying to create a favorable impression, hoping they can win enough support to make a real go of it in 1960.

Hard To Select

They are not saying anything very profound. They're like men thrusting a thermometer into the political pool here and there to see if the water is warm.

For this reason it's hard to understand what voters base their preferences on at this moment in the race when they choose one candidate above another in public opinion polls.

An exception has to be made for Stevenson and Nixon. Since both men campaigned in the 1952 and 1956 election contests, their views and personalities can be assumed to be pretty well known.

Little About Others

But how many voters at this stage know anything in detail about some of the other men mentioned as likely prospects for the presidency next year: Senators Kennedy, Humphrey, Symington, Johnson or New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?

In the three years since the last campaign these men have taken positions on a lot of bills and issues. Unless you had a voting record in front of you, it would be hard to tell who did which.

Stevenson, a two-time loser, has said several times he will not seek the Democratic nomination again. But saying he won't seek the nomination is a lot different from saying he would not accept it. So far Stevenson has not said he would refuse.

Nixon Is Cool

Nixon is the one who has been taking it cool, and can afford to. He has spent the years since the 1952 election lining up the Republican professionals for the try at the presidency next year.

He will probably continue to play it cool unless the only man now in sight who looks like a rival, Rockefeller, begins to look like a real contender.

Without formal announcement of any candidacy, the various aspirants have been trotting around, making speeches, trying to make impressions. But if each gives the appearance of being overly modest because of his hesitancy about acknowledging his candidacy, it is a modesty induced by uncertainty.

WASHINGTON (AP) — As one his last acts in office, Secretary of his last acts in office, Secretary ceded the Soviets will be ahead of this country in missiles for another three years.

Since the Democrats have hammered at the Eisenhower administration for months—complaining that it lacked a sense of urgency in meeting the Sovet missile challenge—next month's opening of Congress should be a fiery one.

McElroy made his statement Tuesday shortly before leaving office to go back into private business and just a few hours after boasted in Hungary the USSR now has enough nuclear rockets to flatten all its foes.

Made Two Points

But McElroy made these two points:

1. As of today, he said, the Soviet Union and the United States have about the same number of long-range missiles and the number is "quite small" on both sides.

Last July he estimated the Soviet Union had fewer than 10 intercontinental ballistic missiles capable of hitting the United States. He said then that overall the United States could more than match Soviet ICBM capabilities.

But only recently Khrushchev said one Soviet plant was turning out 250 missiles a year, which would be a lot more than the 10 McElroy said the Soviet Union had.

Need More B52's

2. McElroy said the administration will ask Congress for money so that bombers capable of carrying nuclear weapons can be maintained on an airborne alert.

The money would go, he said, to buy additional engines for B52 strategic bombers and to train Air Force crews so that some degree of airborne alert can be ordered when the Joint Chiefs of Staff conclude the Soviet Union has a substantial ICBM lead.

The B52 is a jet bomber capable of making 650 miles an hour and with a range of over 6,000 miles without refueling. Soviet jet fighters which would try to intercept the bombers can do up to 900 miles an hour.

Hound Dog Missile

This country is going in for B52 model jet bombers which can fire the Hound Dog missile. This weapon, carrying a nuclear warhead, can be fired from the bomber at a target 500 miles ahead.

McElroy explained: If the Soviets build the number of ICBMS they are capable of building and if the United States builds the number it now intends to, the Soviets will have more missile capability over most of a three-year period.

McElroy was defense secretary 26 months. Under his direction this country developed its first intercontinental ballistic missile, the Atlas, and worked toward perfecting more advanced weapons.

But as time went on and the Soviets inflicted one embarrassment after another on this country in space development, plus their missile boasting, the Democrats protested the administration was not doing enough to keep up or get ahead.

Last winter McElroy finally said this country didn't plan trying to match the Soviets missile for missile.

Mail Order Frauds:

Mail Order Racketeers Thrive Despite Uncle Sam's Vigilance

By BERNARD GAVZER

NEW YORK (AP)—Across the nation, the mail order business is playing an important part in the economy. Mostly it represents solid enterprises offering valuable goods and services, but there are also some very sour apples.

"There are really few outright mail order rackets," says a National Better Business Bureau expert. "After all, Uncle Sam is the store and these sharp promoters don't want to change tailored suits for striped ones, prison variety."

Ban Miller, an NBBB vice president, says this of shady mail order schemes that bilk the public of millions of dollars each yea

"They usually have the same outstanding characteristics. There is gross exaggeration and gross distortion. They are seldom plainly fraudulent but they certainly are misleading. They usually cling to one point — about which there may be ni argument — and parlay it into a glowing account of pure wonder."

Examples Given

Mail order schemes cover just about every conceivable item. Miller lists a few that brought an avalanche of complaints to the NBBB:

A pocket-sized portable radio, promoted as a miracle-radio that never wears out and can be taken on planes, trains, automobiles, ships. As a bonus, there's a direct-circuit personal earphone speaker. "This radio is a simple crystal set using a germanium diode crystal," says Miller. "The earphone is permanently attached simply because you could hardly hear a thing without it. And while the impression is that it can be heard anywhere, the promoter merely says that it can be taken anywhere. The company promoting this item is now in temporary receivership as a result of action taken by the New York attorney general."

Another operator promoted a nine-inch doll with blonde hair down to her shoulders and 10 different dresses, all for 59 cents. "The drawings and the wording of the promotion gave the impression that this was a dimensional doll and that the costumes were miniature dresses," says Miller. "But it was all simply printed — the doll on cardboard and the dresses on paper. The promoter wasn't lying by calling it a doll because by definition any representation of a human being or animal is a doll."

"Next to a man's body—which gets love and attention — is a man's automobile," says Miller. "And so there are always gimmicks being promoted for cars."

One described by Miller was a device that promised to radically reduce gasoline consumption. It is a hollow tube about two inches long which is inserted in the high-tension wire between the coil and distributor. Laboratory tests conducted at the request of the NBBB showed that the device actually decreased, rather than increased, the delivery of ignition energy to spark plugs.

What defense is there against being hoodwinked by sharp mail order operators?

Says Miller: Try to deal only with recognized firms. If in doubt, call your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce. Take acvantage of the promises to refund money by returning the goods in the stipulated time.

Almost all the operators offer money-back guarantees and pay them automatically. Even so, says Miller, the refund demands run about 2 per cent of the total number of purchasers.

Tomorrow: The "advance fee" schemes.

School Aid Dwindles; Lack Plan For Providing Money

HAARISBURG (AP) — The amount of proposed additional state aid to schools is getting smaller all the time, but Senate Republicans are still divided on how to provide the money.

The GOP - controled Senate Rules Committee Wednesday pared the school aid proposal down to 16 millions, a far cry from the 200 millions originally sought by organized teachers and school directors.

It also compares with the 55-million - dollar plan approved by the House to match the estimated yield from a tax on out-of-state stocks and bonds. The Senate Republican leadership has repeatedly declared this tax has no chance of passage.

Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R—Armstrong) suggested the 4 per cent sales tax could be extended to across-the-bar drinks to yield 21 million dollars. At present, the liquor and beer sales tax is imposed only on purchases from beer distributors and at state liquor stores.

Chairman Edward J. Kessler (R—Lancaster) of the Senate Finance Committee said increased school subsidies could be financed by increasing sales tax revenues estimates. He said Gov. Lawrence has estimated them too low.

Chiarman Paul L. Wagner (R—Schuylkill) of the Senate Education Committee said the amendments to the school subsidy bill provide that increased school aid would not go into effect until the 1960-61 school year. The House version would start the boost in the current school year.

The present maximum subsidy of $5,800 per teaching unit (30 elementary pupils or 22 high school students) would jump to $6,200 in the 1960-61 school year. Under the House Version, the maximum would have climbed to $6,300 in 1959-60 and to $6,900 in 1960-61.

Other legislative developments:

Final Adjournment — Both the House and Senate recessed until next Monday leaving up in the air the question of winding up the 1959 Legislature.

There was speculation the two branches would attempt to finish its work next week and then recess until Jan. 4, the day before the 1960 session convenes.

Workmen's Compensation—The House agreed to Senate changes in the workmen's compensation bill and sent to the governor the proposal which would boost benefit payments to $4.50 a week. The present maximum is $37.50. The minimum would be raised from $15 to $17.

Occupational Disease — Gov. Lawrence Wednesday approved legislation increasing maximum weekly benefits for occupational disease from $37.50 to $42.50. The new law also boosts from $10,000 to $10,500 the ceiling on death benefits and provides for more liberal funeral expenses.

Blue Law—The House completed final legislative action on a proposal exempting a number of sports and recreational activities from the Sunday Blue law. By a vote of 151-26 the House approved Senate amendments adding basketball and bowling to these exempted activities( Golf, tennis, boating, swimming, picnicking and target shooting. Sunday baseball and football already are exempt.

Auto payments—The Senate approved and returned to the House for agreement in minor changes a plan to allow auto loans to be repaid in varying amounts. It would benefit persons whose income fluctuates with the seasons.

Disaster relief—A plan to turn over to the highways fund 13 million dollars remaining from a 1955 hurricane disaster relief appropriation was approved finally by the House and sent to Gov. Lawrence for his signature.

Salary increases — The House voted to restore Milk Control Commission members to a bill increasing salaries for state boards and agencies, but rejected a similar proposal to restore members of the Liquor Control Board. Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, said he would try again next week to include liquor board members.

Pay Soldiers With $2 Bills This Week

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — The Army paid some 5,000 enlisted men at Aberdeen Proving Ground in $2 bills this week in an effort to determine the buying habits of soldiers.

Col. G. F. Powell, deputy commander of the post, ordered the distribution of 175,000 $2 bills, which represents almost 10 per cent of Aberdeen's $3,750,000 monthly payroll for 10,000 military and civilian workers.

The Army said it hopes to receive reports on the "informal survey" from banks, grocery stores and other retail establishments.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's jobless ranks increased by 20,000 between mid-October and mid-November but the Labor and Industry Department says it was an improvement over employment in 1958.

Secretary William L. Batt Jr. said Wednesday the jump in unemployment to 375,000 was attributed to workers indirectly affected by the steel strike during that period.

ABDUCTS MAN; STEALS CAR TO ELUDE POLICE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A robber, wounded by police as he ran through center city crowds Wednesday night, made a temporary escape by capturing a business executive in a parking lot.

J. Paul Miller, of Newtown Square, was paying the parking lot attendant when a bullet shattered the windshield of his station wagon.

He spun around and a man with a pistol ordered him into the car.

"I just kept crouching down in the front seat. He was driving with one hand. Police were firing at the car and this man returned fire through the windshield.

"We were weaving in and out of traffic, tires were screeching, sirens were blowing and I was praying that nothing would happen to me."

Roars 20 Blocks

Miller is 35, the vice president of Pioneer Industries Inc., Darby, a men's accessories company. He has two children.

For 20 blocks the car sped north through the city, losing police in the Christmas shopping traffic.

Finally he let Miller out of the car—Miller wasn't sure where—and he allowed him to take his brief case and some art supplies.

Miller and a policeman found the damaged station wagon four blocks away a few minutes later.

A house-to-house search was started, but within the hour, a north Philadelphia doctor, Ralph W. Smith, called the police rescue squad. A wounded man had come to his office, a man he had treated before.

Police took Roosevelt Boasmond, 34, of Philadelphia, to Hahnemann Hospital. Boasamond, who worked for a collection agency, was in serious condition. He had three bullet wounds.

Police said he admitted the holdup of a pawn shop and the abduction of Miller.

Says Flynn Owes $5,000 On Statuette

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Joseph (Sepy) Dubronyi, the sculptor of nude actresses, has an 18-inch gold statue of Beverly Aadland in the nude and is wondering whether he can collect for it from Errol Flynn's estate.

Dubronyi said Wednesday Flynn commissioned the statue of his 17-year-old girl friend before his death but made no arrangements to pay for it. He said he may sue Flynn's estate to recover the $5,000 he says is due him.

Analyst Sees Influence Of Eisenhower Trip As Varied; Suspects Policy Alterations

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The most important result of President Eisenhower's journey to 11 nations starting today, may not be the impression he makes on them but their impact on him.

When he returns around Christmas he may have become convinced some changes in American foreign policy are needed. It should be remembered Eisenhowr is in a new phase of his presidency.

He is more flexible, more active, and perhaps more impressionable in foreign affairs than at any time of his White House tenancy up to now.

Seeking Understanding

He will make 30 talks. He will get the red carpet treatment everywhere. He may creat better understanding for America, as he says he hopes to do.

But he will also be getting a better understanding of some of the nations he visits — all friendly, some allied, but some neutral — for he will be seeing them close-up for the first time since becoming president.

Until now he has had to depend for insights into these countries and his knowledge of their needs and predicaments on second-hand information — their diplomsyd, or American study papers.

Impact Greater

Even a year ago, when Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was so completely dominating American foreign policy, a trip like this by Eisenhower might have had no more than ceremonial significance.

But with Dulles' death last spring Eisenhower took over active direction of foreign policy. He became more flexible and apparently more receptive to new ideas as he sought to cope with Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The result has been a feeling that American foreign policy now is capable of change. Previously it had appeared frozen.

For example: now long ago Eisenhower was telling friends he was opposed to the meeting of heads of state to settle problems. He preferred, he said, the old-fashioned method of letting foreign secretaries do it.

Full Schedule

Since then he made a quick tour of Western Europe, had Khrushchev here, is going to visit him, is making this journey now, will hold a pre-summit meeting Dec. 19, and will later go to a summit conference.

Eisenhower still has a little more than 13 months left in office. It will crown his double career as general-president if, in the time left him in the White House he can initiate, fight for and perhaps push through new ideas or programs which will make the international climate safer for America or safer for everyone.

It would have political value here at home, too, for his own Republican party in the 1960 presidential election.

To Gain Undertanding

He will see first-hand not only some of the dilemmas of the countries he visits—social, economic and military—but some of the contradictions in a world dominated by the United States and the Soviet Union.

For example: two nations under the shadow of the U.S.S.R. One is Afghanistan, staying neutral but getting more aid from the Soviets than from this country.

STATE POLICE PAY MIXED UP

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate Tuesday night approved a $300-a-year pay increase for state police despite arguments that executive action has made the legislation unnecessary.

The wording of the bill, however, apparently would give the state troopers $300-a-year over and above the $300 increase ordered by Gov. Lawrence.

Lawrence ordered the salary increase by executive action, effective Thursday, while the bill was on its way through the Legislature.

The measure which was given finval legislative approval does not provide a scale of salaries and increases. It simply states that beginning Jan. 1, each man through the rank of major shall receive $300 a year more than he was receiving on the day the act becomes law.

The bill is on its way to Lawrence's desk but it probably will be recalled by the Legislature or vetoed.

HARRISBURG (AP) — A new state law requires juries returning first degree murder verdicts to hear additional evidence and deliberate again to fix the penalty, either life imprisonment or execution.

BROWNS GO TO BENCH SUNDAY

By DICK SMITH

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) -- The way Coach Paul Brown is talking, outcome of Cleveland's game with the New York Giants in Yankee Stadium Sunday will depend on the strength of the Browns' reserves. Rookie reserves, at that.

"This team is in the poorest physical shape of any I've had in a long time," Brown said Wednesday after the week's first practice.

"We'll do our best, but we're hurting. Jim Ray Smith and Mike McCormack didn't even dress today.

"Then (Ray) Renfro pulled a thigh muscle -- did it just running down the field. And I don't think he will play. You don't usually come back and play a few days after pulling a muscle."

WASH FIRST

Always wash shrimp-in-the-shell before cooking it. To prepare, drop a pound of the seafood into boiling water, then simmer about five minutes. Seasonings for "boiling" shrimp now comes packaged.

GOOD ADVICE

Coat small new cooked potatoes in parsley butter. A couple of tablespoons of minced parsley added to a quarter cup of melted butter will do the trick with a pound and a half of potatoes.

PAAR-ROONEY RUCKUS NOW PATCHED UP

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Rooney and Jack Paar cooed at each other like lovers after a spat, broke off long enough for some furious new cries of foul, and then started cooing louder than ever today.

The acrobatics of the two seasoned showmen weren't hurting either one—or their publicity.

But you had to be on your toes to keep up with it.

Expresses Regret

"Mickey Rooney is a helluva nice guy. I'm darn sorry, Mickey."

That satisfied the actor. Happy, too, was Rooney's personal manager, Red Doff, who announced that tonight's show will go on as originally planned in a kiss-and-make-up session between Paar and Rooney Wednesday. Rooney once more will be his guest on the show.

"The whole thing is smoothed over now," Doff said.

That wasn't the way he felt a couple of hours earlier after hearing secondhand accounts of Paar's comments on the air. At that time Doff furiously declared he would not let Rooney appear with Paar.

It all started Tuesday night. Paar accused Rooney of being drunk on his show. Rooney walked out—by invitation.

They patched it up in a tense hotel room drama—in which four aides on each side eyed one another cautiously outside the door, the way Paar tells it.

It's doubtful the publicity attending the ruckus will impair the rating of tonight's show. This, despite Paar's quizzical comment to his audience: "Strange it's so big in the papers."

Even the thorniest issue between them was settled. That was the barb left by Paar's remark Tuesday night as Rooney made his exit:

"It's a shame. He was a great talent."

Paar Wednesday night explained it away. He told the actor in their man-to-man talk: "You were a great talent—but you weren't a great talent last night."

Rooney acknowledged he had a few drinks before going to the studio. He was celebrating the first anniversary of his fifth marriage—this one to Barbara Ann Thomason.

BOY, 15, ADMITS STABBING GIRL

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Clifford Fortner, admitting Wednesday night that he stabbed and killed Lorna Lux in the 12-year-old girl's fig tree hideout, told police:

"I don't know why I did it. Something just came over me."

Booked on a charge of murder, Clifford was held in the Marin County Youth Guidance Center. He will be arraigned today.

Lorna's body was found Monday morning, Nov. 16 by Clifford's younger brother, Norman Jr., 13, in the Kentfield Grove hideaway about 200 yards from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Lax.

Inspector Marco Mellovich said Clifford re-enacted the crime at the scene and gave this account:

After a Saturday night high school football game, Clifford slipped from the house after midnight and met Lorna. They had intercourse and "then something came over me."

ALL-WOMAN JURY CLEARS JOHNNY RAY

DETROIT (AP) — "My prayers have been answered," said a tearful Johnnie Ray Wednesday when he revived after fainting at hearing a jury's verdict that he was innocent of a morals charge.

The singer passed out when an all-woman Recorders Court jury announced its decision after deliberating 50 minutes.

Ray, 32, had been charged with accosting and soliciting. A Detroit policeman testified that Ray had made an indecent proposal outside a Detroit tavern Nov. 21. Ray denied the charge.

The jury retired after hearing an hour-long charge by Judge Elvin Davenport in which he said that policemen have no right to entice persons into unlawful acts.

Patrolman Eugene Caviston of the Detroit Police Department's vice squad told the court he and two other officers went to the bar knowing that Ray was there. The singer pleaded guilty to a similar charge here in 1951 and paid a $25 fine.

MAGIC CIRCLE Travel Clinic

CHICAGO—Magic Circle City of the week, the big town is virile, gay and a visitor's delight.

By EDWARD COLLIER

Chicago, Poet Carl Sandburg's city of "Big Shoulders," has as many moods and changes of face as does Lake Michigan, the lusty inland sea that abruptly barricades the metropolis from expanding to the east.

While you stand on the year-round, temperature-controlled observation deck of the Prudential Building, Chicago's sleek new skyscraper, your eyes comprehend the throbbing giant that sprawls out to the horizon on three sides.

Directly below is Lake Shore Drive, an endless conveyor belt which effortlessly speeds thousands of automobiles hourly through the continuous chain of parks, vivid gardens, fountains, museums, beaches and yacht club basins that border Lake Michigan. To the impressed visitor this is an almost uninterrupted showplace from Wisconsin in the north to the distant but dramatic smokestacks of Indiana's steel mills to the south.

The lake itself is like one of the huge new movie screens that fills the complete end of a theater. Projected on it during calm days is a color spectacle of ruffled cobalt waters, patched by bright green to simulate the tranquil glamor of the Caribbean. White sails, speed boats and pleasure craft complete the image. But the wideangle screen suddenly can change scene to a quick storm of raging waves; it can turn darkly sullen or capricious.

Park 5,500 Cars

Six hundred feet back down in the pink granite lobby, via high speed escalators and elevators, and you are ready to begin your Magic Circle tour of Chicago the virile. Everything is convenient—you have parked either underground or on the adjacent lots that together handle 5,500 cars. Two blocks away across Michigan Ave., Chicago's glittering answer to New York's Fifth Ave., is the heart of The Loop.

State Street has had the same loving care that is lavished on a veteran movie star. Newest in the continued series of face liftings are graceful, triple pea-pod fluorescent lights. Shallow bowls hang out from the posts with ferns and white carnations. Living trees grow from huge pottery urns on the sidewalk to complement the windows of the great stores, masterpieces of lighting and background effects.

The block-square Marshall Field's continues to hold The Loop's spotlight. This amazing store is an ever-renewing showcase of American genius in industry, design, fashion, creative arts. Near at hand is a melange of theaters, night clubs, pizza havens and hotels. A quizzical note is provided by a big lawn seed and garden store holding forth amid the hubub; facing it on the sidewalk is a newsstand handling only papers and magazines from foreign lands—plus Alaska!

Lake Shore Drive

The Magic Circle out of The Loop is to Chicago's South Side. Using handy Lake Shore Drive, the route is through Grant Park and its concentration of civic prides: The spectacular red marble Buckingham Fountain, with its 100-foot high center spray; the Natural History Museum, valued at $50 million and with few rivals; the Moorish-Roman looking, octagonal-shaped John G. Shedd Aquarium and its 10,000 living specimens; Adler Planetarium, resembling an oriental temple and jutting out on a man-made island in the lake. Soldier Field, the 105,000-seat stadium where anything can happen—Easter Sunrise services, civic pageantry, music festivals, football and the band shell for summer symphony concerts.

Jackson Park is next in chain of green that enhances the southern lake shore. Not handsome—but awesome in size and content—is the Museum of Science and Industry, where practically everything moves. There is a coal mine in operation, replete with a trip underground. The same room is so large that it houses the yacht "Dal" in full sail, which traveled from Poland to Chicago in 89 days in 1934. Here, too, is an oil well that pumps and which is augmented by dramatic petroleum exhibits.

Star Exhibits

All-time attention getters at the museum never lose their pull: The German submarine U-505 which U.S. sailors daringly captured intact, even to the code boks, off the coast of French West Africa in 1944, and Coleen Moore's Dollhouse, the ultimate of perfection in miniature from the tiny fountain with running water, pin-size chessmen, oil paintings and Cinderella's coach and horses in solid silver to glowing chandeliers and a treasure chest room.

Popular also is "Yesterday's Main Street," a cobblestone thoroughfare lit by flickering gas street lamps. Today's girls are fascinated by the store windows which feature "Daintiness Steps Out" with high-button shoes and a laced-in-front corset, purple in color and strapless; and a political street rally stand with a banner "Shall Women Vote?"

No acquaintance with the South Side is complete without a visit to the University of Chicago, famed as one of the world's great urban educational centers. The tree-shaded dignity and the sedate mien of its Gothic buildings is matched by the serious look and demeaner of its students. History has been made here — daring educational experiments, abandonment of big-time intercollegiate athletics, the 1942 laboratory "birthplace" of the atomic bomb. The Oriental Institute has a rare collection of the wonders of ancient civilizations which the university's archaeologists have unearthed in Babylon, Egypt, Thebes and Palestine.

Athletic Parks

On an autumn Sunday afternoon your final stop back to The Loop probably will be a Wrigley Field where the rugged Chicago Bears pro-football team tears up the sod after it has been abandoned for the season by mild-mannered Cubs of the National League. Comiskey Park, home of the American League's champion White Sox and the Chicago Cardinals pro-gridders, is in another world of Chicago — the North Side — as are Lincoln Park and its zoo of television fame, yacht harbors, bridle paths and the vast glass-protected Conservatory noted for chrysanthemum and Christmas exhibitions of flowers and plants, followed by Easter and summer shows.

The Magic Circle out of Chicago leads north into Evanston, home of Northwestern University and one of the nation's most spotless and progressive suburban cities. It was named in honor of Dr. John Evans, pioneer Chicago civic and medical leader who not only envisioned the future for Northwestern, but also later was to become territorial governor of Colorado under President Lincoln and founder of the University of Denver.

Oaks, Maples, Elms

Enhanced by gardens and shaded by oaks, maples and elms, Northwestern looks the way that a college campus should. Stretching out for a mile, it occupies a strip between Sheridan Road and Lake Michigan — perhaps the only university with its own private beaches! The ivy-clad older buildings are interspersed with impressive structures such as Deering Library, which has outdoor reading rooms for mild weather. Constructed of tan Lannon stone in Norman Gothic style, its exterior beauty is set off by designs connected with the world of learning such as owls, pens, hourglasses and studious monks. The oak-paneled interior houses some 650,000 volumes. "Sorority row" is graced not only by the coeds, but also by long, graceful, vine-covered-gray stone buildings whose "fronts" are interior garden courts.

North of the campus is Dyche Stadium, where currently the Wildcats are giving a good account of themselves in the high-powered Western (Big Ten) conference. A few blocks away, as you drive around the fine residential section, you are startled suddenly to come upon the Baha'i House of Worship, a white, eight-sided oriental temple of rare beauty. The filigree dome and precision landscaping further add to the feeling that you have stumbled upon something in an Arabian Nights fantasy.

Happy Driving

Here the Magic Circle turns west to pick up the new Illinois Tollway (U.S. Interstate 294) for four miles until it meets the northwest arm of the Tollway (U.S. Interstate 90)—the system that now makes driving into, out of or around Chicago a motorist's delight. One of our fascinating experiences was stopping at an "oasis," the new type service area where the restaurant occupies a glass and steel span suspended over the four divided highway lanes so that you can watch the cars spin by beneath you.

Particularly lovely when the blue haze of Indian summer is in the air, or when the countryside blossoms in spring, is your route (now U.S. 20) along the backbone of Terrapin Ridge from Stockton to Elizabeth.

Galena, basking in the glow of past glory when it was larger than Chicago, is a museum-piece little city where century-old homes and churches cling to the hillsides. Pride of the town, the Ulysses S. Grant Home State Memorial, is just a thousand feet off the highway. As you step through the doorway (no admission fee), you have the feeling that the Grants still live here in this house which was presented to them by grate-

Dynamic Chicago is a delight to visitors, whether it's seen from the new lake front skyscraper, or by visits to its imaginative parks, museums of every type, smart stores, sports and cultural events, the great stock yards. The Magic Circle leads to Evanston, home of Northwesern University; over the new Illinois Tollway with its highway-spanning oasis to Rockford; historic Galena; Grand Detour, a village that looks as if it came from old New England; Dixon, where Abe Lincoln served as a captain in the Black Hawk War, and a host of photogenic state parks.

International Questions Of Varying Natures Will Be Asked, Answered On Tour

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China's activities along the Indian border and widespread desires for more American ad are standout topics likely to claim President Eisenhower's attention on his journey abroad.

U.S. relations with the Soviet Union and even with Latin America may come up, too. So may questions concerning military bases overseas and the strengthening of Western alliances.

But a jammed, jet-age schedule indicates that the 23,000 mile tour which gets under way Thursday night wil be primarily just what the President has said it will be — an effort to build good-will and a better understanding of America.

Summit Included

Eisenhower will be visiting 11 nations on three continents in 19 days. Three of those days are marked off for attending a Western summit conference in Paris beginning Dec. 19. Two and a haf are reserved for a cruise and a rest on the Mediterranean. Nearly five days are set aside for troubled India, at the far point of the President's travels to Europe, Asia and North Africa.

India is the exception, and intentionaly so. The vast, teeming sub-continent had drawn Eisenhower's interst and concern even before Communist China began shaking a fist along the northern border. Now the President is expected to use New Delhi as a forum for transmitting to all Southern Asia as a message of American friendship and support.

Agenda Lacking

Neither in India nor elsewhere has a forma, item-by-item agenda been laid down as a basis for discussions.

But the border issue is certain to arise in New Delhi, where Eisenhower will have numerous opportunities for private and semi-private sessions with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. Indian relations with Pakistan, an American aly, may arise also.

Requests for more U.S. military aid might grow out of the border difficulties and a desire to strengthen the Indian army. Possibly Nehru may ask to buy U.S. weapons outright, because of his country's dislike of strings attached to the aid program.

India also is counting heavily on continued economic assistance. It might feel inclined to ask Eisenhower how much can be expected for its third five-year development pan, now on the drawing boards.

An Associated Press check at presidential stopping places indicates that more than half the nations Eisenhower will visit may make polite inquiries about continued or increased military or economic aid or both. In addition to India, the list includes Pakistan, Turkey, Afghanistan, Tunisia, Iran, and possibly Spain.

Request Possible

Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain may ask for an early shipment of promised military equipment for two divisions of troops. He may bid for a larger U.S. immigration quota for Spain.

In addition, Franco is known to be concerned about a rise of anti-American feeling in Latin America, particularly evident of late in Cuba and Panama. He might see fit to offer his services in an attempt to clear and improve the atmosphere.

MAGIC Travel Clinic CIRCLE

ful Galena citizens when he returned in glory from the Civil War in 1865.

The original oak furniture is in the library, dining room and parlor where General Grant received the congratulations of friends on being elected President in 1868. Other prized mementos are the silver service used by the Grants in the White House, the Haviland china especia ly made for Nellie Grant's wedding there in 1874 and the cast iron pots and wooden sink in the kitchen. Framed on the wall is Mrs. Grant's recipe for "Veal Olives."

Circling south (Illinois 80) the next stop is photogenic Mississippi Palisades State Park. From the lofty white limestone bluffs there are countless panoramas of the "Father of Waters" and across into Iowa.

The traveler accustomed to the prairies and farming country of the Midwest is in for a surprise at White Pines Forest State Park. Here you drive through the wide Pine Creek valley, surrounded by evergreen giants, said to be the largest southernmost stand of white pines in the country Once these forests covered much of Illinois, but only this secluded spot escaped the uncontrolled logging.

Visit Grand Detour

When you drive under Memorial Arch on Galena Avenue in Dixon, you are in Abe Lincoln's northern Illinois country. Here he served a hitch at age 23 as captain in the state militia during the Black Hawk War. A statue — possibly the only one commemorating this part of his life — is north of Abraham Lincoln Memorial Bridge. The refurbished New Nachusa House, now a modern hotel, has restored Lincoln's favorite room in detail, including the original bed, desk and dresser.

Well worth the time is a six-mile side trip to Grand Detour, a white clapboard village that looks as if it had slipped out of the pages of an early-day New England story book. Proud townspeople, abetted by artists and those who would preserve the best of Americana, have been responsible for maintaining and restoring the homes. Noteworthy is the little 1849 stone St. Peter's Episcopal Church and Colonial Inn.

Canyons, waterfalls and extensive bird and plant life are the top attractions of Matthiessen State Park, once a private estae. Deer roam in a stockade, and there is a reconstructed pioneer block house, like those used for the protection of settlers against the Indians.

Starved Rock, high on a picturesque bluff with a commanding view of the Illinois River valley, was discovered by Father Marquette and Joliet in 1673 and fortified by LaSalle 10 years later. At the foot of the cliff is a huge grove with extensive parking areas and shaded picnic tables. There is a sightseeing boat dock and seats along the high walled bank that overlooks the rapids formed by the dam and locks. Great Cottonwood trees, generally seen only in the Rocky Mountain area, spread their white blanket over this part of the park in May. Favorite Hikes and boat trips are to the sudden and deep canyons that have been "melted" out of the sandstone ledges over the centuries.

The Magic Circle trip back to Chicago is completed with a picnic at Gebhard Woods State Park, which makes up in charm what it lacks in size. Only a mile off U. S. 6, it is a delightful landscaped glen with two ponds where only children can fish. At the back of the park flows the placid old Illinois and Michigan Canal, which looks ideal for canoeing. The tranquil picture is completed by several acres of grass, shelters, fireplaces, picnic tables in a grove — they even furnish you with cut firewood!

ACCORDING TO BOYLE THERE'S ALWAYS AN 'IF'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It might be a better world if—

Honeybees had wheelbarrows, to save wear and tear on their wings.

All traffic cops had laryngitis, plus writer's cramp.

Honor Parents

Children would honor their father and mother without saying, "Oh, yeah!"

A fellow could open a plastic-wrapped package gracefully

One could be sure he was going to inherit money. Then he could relax and be an honest snob, and mingle with a better class of people.

Husbands actually listened to their wives. But even if they did they would go on being their normal selves.

Town And Country

Suburbanites could live in town in winter when they can't grow anything anyway except frost-bitten noses—the hinterland's out-of-season tomatoes.

Clothing Sleuth

Someone would find out whatever happened to vicuna, and the two-pants suit.

Pizza pie was served a la mode.

Shoelaces never untied themselves.

It would be a better world, all right, if—

But it isn't. We must put up with it as it is.

Ike To See New Italy On First Stop Of World Tour

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME (AP) — Opera has its hand out for government aid. But the corner bar juke box is raking in a fortune.

Spaghetti is still a big first dish in the restaurants But they are hawking popcorn in the movie houses.

Changed Since 1952

That's the new Italy that President Eisenhower will see when he makes Rome the first stop on his 20,000 mile, 11-nation tour.

Things have changed from that chill morning in early February 1952 when Eisenhower reviewed Italy's armed forces at Udine in his farewell as NATO's European commander.

There wil be a strong note of personal achievement in his welcome back.

Italy takes credit for leading the world out of the dark ages and into the Renaissance of culture 500 years ago. But many Italians credit Eisenhower's World War victory and America's postwar aid with leading Italy into a second renaissance of social and industrial development.

New Generation

A changed diet, plus more "growing years" in school before having to help hustle for the family's food, has brought its change in the new generation of Italians.

With massive American economic aid—73 million dollars in direct loans and credits last year along exclusive of military grants—Italy has built her postwar way back to a solid currency and sound economy.

Italy is hauling in millions from tourism. A record 15 million tourists, almost one for every three Italians in this country, came here this year. Next year, with the Olympic Games in Rome, the figure is expected to go far higher.

The country still has some stiff problems to solve.

Wages Are Low

Unemployment is over half that of the United States which has almost four times Italy's population.

Wages are low. The average Italian earner takes home less than $100 a month.

Education is still expensive, difficult and insufficient.

Italy's government since the war has been stable, dominated by the Christian Democrat party, and pledged to the hilt to NATO and the West.

That is despite the still ringing challenge of Italy's powerful Communist party, probably the strongest in any Western country. It got nearly 23 per cent of the popular vote. The Christian Democrats themselves short of a majority poll 42 per cent.

NIXON DELAYS STATEMENT ON HIS '60 PLANS

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon expects to delay until after Feb. 1 any announcement that he is seeking the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

If he can preserve this schedule Nixon will be able to confine to a little more than five months the limited campaigning he now expects to do before the Republican convention in Chicago next July.

There are indications that if Nixon could control events, he would be happy to go along tending to his duties as vice president for even longer. But the near necessity of entering the March 7 New Hampshire primary may force him out into the open early in February.

See Sharp Contrast

Nixon's associates think he is doing so well that they are going along willingly with the vice president's decision that the less public eagerness he displays for the nomination the more likely he is to get it.

They figure this offers a sharp contrast to the scramble among top Democratic contenders to meet the voters at every crossroad months ahead of the time that party's convention makes its choice of a nominee.

Because he is convinced he will have to run on the Eisenhower administration record, Nixon wants to spend as much time as possible in the next few months helping shape the GOP program in executive agencies and helping put it over in Congress.

Hall Is Working

In line with this idea, the vice president is expected to delay setting up any formal campaign organization or appointing a campaign maager. He may decide to be his own manager.

This doesn't mean Nixon is overlooking any bets or that he is taking it for granted he will get the nomination.

He has Leonard W Hall, former GOP national chairman, working diligently to line up delegate strength. He is going along with the formation of Nixon clubs He will make speaking appearances at frequent intervals.

This soft-sell approach could be upset, of course, if Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York should come out in the open as a candidate for the GOP nomination earlier than expected.

CITES RESULTS IF U. S. BANNED SALE OF FAGS

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — What would happen to the economy if the government banned cigarettes?

It's not likely to happen, since at present the government has no authority to move against cigarettes for any effect they may have on health.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney last week warned that the weight of evidence implicates smoking as the main cause of a rising rate of lung cancer, but he has no power to ban smoking even if he favored such a move. Industry spokesmen attacked Burney's warning as a warmed over rehash of old statistics.

Grim Results

But if the government did ban cigarettes, the action would have several hefty consequences. For one thing it would paralyze a seven-billion-dollar industry. For another, it woud take a painful bite from federal, state and local tax revenues.

While taking no sides on the cancer controversy, farm officials said today a drastic ban of cigarettes would adversely affect three-quarters of a million farm families and thousands more workers now marketing, processing and selling tobacco products.

The Agriculture Department said taxes collected on tobacco products by federal, state and local governments will total $2,700,000,000 this year. Nearly two billion dollars of this goes to the federal government.

Subsidies Lowered

Subsidies paid tobacco growers under federal farm programs total less than 175 million dollars since the inception of those programs in the mid-30s. Subsidies have been small compared to those for other crops because production has been controlled more rigidly.

Tobacco manufacturers and the federal government would lose more in total dollars than would growers, who will receive an estimated $1,100,000,000 for their tobacco this year.

Officials estimated that more than 40,000 wage earners would be thrown out of work in the industry. Their wages were estimated at more than $160,000,000 a year. Thousands of retail tobacco stores would be affected. Heavy losses would be sustained also in useless cigarette vending machines.

"Christian Pacifist" Faces Jail For Contempt Of Court

CONCORD, N.H., (AP)—A New Haven, Conn., lecturer—ready to go to jail for contempt rather than disclose names in a subversive activities inquiry—says the state of New Hampshire will "find it hard to put a man in prison because of his conscience."

Willard Uphaus, 68, who describes himself as a Christian pacifist, was ordered Tuesday to appear in Superior Court Dec. 14 and name guest speakers at his World Fellowship Center, a summer camp meeting at Conway, in 1954 and 1955.

Uphaus steadfastly has refused to supply the information to Atty. Gen. Louis C. Wyman despite a contempt conviction and the failure of appeals to the New Hampshire Supreme Court and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Relies On Public

He told a church gathering at Hartford, Conn., Tuesday night he pins his hopes now on public opinion.

"Unless there is a kind of public outcry that is very impressive, there doesn't seem to be any chance the court will reverse its order."

The Superior Court can send Uphaus to jail unless he purges himself by answering Wyman's questions. "In my case this may mean a life sentence," Uphaus has said.

Governor Quiet

Despite a flood of telegrams and letters urging clemency, Gov. Wesley Powell declined comment, asserting the matter is pending before the court. Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord of Boston and Norman Thomas, former Socialist party candidate for president, are among those who appealed to the governor.

In an earlier court appearance, Uphaus attributed his refusal to religious convictions, conscience and the direct teachings of the Bible that it is wrong to bear false witness against my brother."

"Inasmuch as I have no reason to believe that any of these persons whose names have been called for have in any sense hurt this state or our country," he said, "I have reason to believe they should not be in possession of the attorney general."

SECRETARY OF LABOR CITES U. S. PROBLEM

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said that management is moving too fast and organized labor too slow in improving productive efficiency in America.

Both, he said, had better seriously try to solve a mutual problem that involves the future not only of this country but of the free world.

Mitchell, in remarks prepared for the annual convention of the Investment Bankers Assn., said labor and managemet "would get farther along" if they devoted all the money, effort and imagination they use in propaganda on the efficiency issue to working out settlements.

Dispute Reference

The labor secretary obviously was referring to the disputes in the steel, railroad, maritime and other industries in which management seeks more leeway in cutting manpower costs and the unions are seeking to protect current work practices.

Mitchell said there is no question but that foreign competition to American goods is increasing and the products of industry in this country must be produced on a more efficient and less costly basis in the future.

But, he added: "The objective of efficient production of the economy will not be met by a management attitude so unskillful that it attempts to change in a stroke, by the bang of a single gavel, working habits built up over many years, through many bargaining sessions.

"Nor will the objectives of efficient operation of the economy be met by a labor attitude that sets in a status quo the answer to every challenge of change."

PLACEMENT PLAN TURNED DOWN IN VA.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pupil placement plan was rejected Tuesday by a federal judge in Virginia as "nothing short of contemptuous" and there were indications that an Atlanta plan is in for a rough time.

Elsewhere in the troubled South, two moderate members of the school board at Little Rock, Ark., won election over women running as independents, and a white man beat a Negro for the Dollarway School Board in an election split clearly along racial lines.

Judge Walter E. Hoffman told the school board at Newport News, Va., to submit a new pupil placement plan by March 15. He warned the school board and the State Pupil Placement Board they will face contempt proceedings if they continue to deny qualified Negroes admission to white schools.

Atlanta Plan Next

Hoffman threw out a one-paragraph plan that simply said pupil assignments would be left to the state board.

The Atlanta plan, ordered by U.S. Judge Frank Hooper, will be argued in Hooper's court Dec. 14. Patterened after an Alabama law that has been upheld on its face by the U.S. Supreme Court, it lists many qualifications for pupil placement, none of which specifically mentions race or color.

At Dolarway, a railroad and paper mill town in southeast Arkansas where three Negroes have been trying to get into the all-white school, incumbent Rob W. Bryant defeated Charles Knott, a Negro and former school board member, 979-408. Bryan carried two white precincts by 808-9 and 157-0 margins; Knott won a Negro precinct, 399-14.

Everett Tucker Jr., president of the Little Rock School Board, and B. Frank MacKey, both criticized by segregationists as pro-integration, won easily from their women opponents. Tucker defeated Margaret Morrison 8,546 to 3,999, and MacKey defeated Mrs. H. H. Ray, 8,553 to 3,863.

EFFICIENT GEM THIEVES GET BIG HAUL

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Police today sought two business-like young bandits who Tuesday made off with diamonds valued at between $80,000 and $90,000.

The pair, one of them disguised as a policeman, invaded the 12th-floor office of wholesale jewel merchant Manes Topper, bound and gagged Topper and his wife, Sadie, with adhesive tape, scooped the gems—including one of 7¾ carats—into a briefcase and sprinted downstairs.

The uniformed man knocked n the locked door of the office and told Topper, 53, "I'm a policeman. We have a report on your stolen car."

Topper's car had been stolen two weeks ago so he admitted the man, who was followed by another wearing a gray hat and topcoat. The second man announced, "This is a holdup."

Police Sgt. James McGauley said the job was thoroughly worked out. The men were familiar with the office and building.

Legality Of Newest Pa. Blue Laws Is Upheld In Federal Court Tuesday

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The constitutionality of Pennsylvania's newest Blue Law has been upheld, virtually eliminating Sunday sales of certain items. It was a crushing defeat for many large discount houses which do a great deal of business on sunday.

In a test case, a special three-judge federal court ruled 2-1 Tuesday that the 1959 amendment to the Sunday closing law was constitutional.

The amendment prohibits the sale of certain items. It imposes a maximum $100 fine for a first offense and a maximum $200 fine and 30 days in jail for subsequent violations.

Arrests This Sunday

The court did not rule on the legality of the original statute, passed in 1939. The majority opinion said state courts hadn't made clear whether it appplied to the case.

The 1939 law is a re-statement of Pennsylvania's first Blue Law, enacted in 1794, banning all wordly employment or business on Sunday. The penalty for violation is a $4 fine.

The ruling means law enforcement officers in the state's 67 counties may make arrests this Sunday. After the amendment was passed last August, most had agreed not to enforce it until this case was decided.

Used Injunction

The plaintiff was Two Guys from Harrison-Allentown, Inc., a discount house on the outskirts of Allentown, Lehigh County. The county's district attorney, Paul A. McGinley, was under an injunction not to enforce the law until the case was decided. The injunction stands until an order is entered dissolving it.

To Study Ruling

Harold Kohn, a lawyer for Two Guys, said: "I'm not sure I really understand it (the ruling) and I will have to study it and consult with my clients before announcing our next step. However, we undoubtedly will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court to protect our Sunday business."

Two Guys, employing about 300 persons, says it does a third of its total business on Sundays.

The majority opinion was written by Circuit Judge William Hastie. He said Two Guys failed to prove any violation of the First and 14th amendments to the Constitution.

The First amendment concerns freedom of religion. The 14th provides for due process and equal protection under the law.

Cites U.S. Decision

Kohn argued that Sunday is the Christian day of rest and to apply the Blue Law to non-christians is an abridgement of religious freedom. Some Jew's businesses, for example, observe Saturday as their Sabbath and do business on Sundays.

Hastie wrote that many non-Christians sincerely believe in the "religious significance of enforced Sunday work stoppage."

He cited, in detail, a U.S. Supreme Court decision rejecting the religious argument in upholding a New York State Blue Law. The plaintiffs in that case were Orthodox Jews convicted of selling Kosher meat on Sunday.

Hastie said the constitutional questions were similar in the Pennsylvania and New York cases. This similarity also holds, he said, for the history and religious considerations underlying adoption of the Blue Laws in the two states.

Dissented In Part

"In effect," Hastie wrote, "The Supreme Court was content to leave as the law of the land its old reasoning that 'the Legislature having ... power to enact laws to promote the order and to secure the comfort, happiness and healht of the people, it was within its discretion to fix the day when all labor, within the limits of the state, works of necessity and charity excepted, should cease. It is not for the judiciary to say that hte wrong day was fixed.'"

District Judge John Lord Jr. concurred. District Judge George Welsh dissented in part, saying the state Legislature had no power to pass the 1959 amendment.

"It it is conceded that this legislation is within the power of the Legislature to enact," Judge Welsh wrote, "then I cannot conceive of any future legislation that cannot also be passed."

Otherwise, he concurred.

BLIND PENSIONS UP

HARRISBURG (AP)—A $10 increase in pensions for the blind was approved by the Legislature Tuesday night.

The measure, setting a new pension of $70 a month, now goes to Gov. Lawrence for final action. It also includes a $3,125,000 appropriation to pay the increase, effective Jan. 1. The house passed it 176-0.

The conference took under consideration a motion to increase its membership from 8 to 10 teams. A special meeting will be held on Dec. 16 in Steelton to act on the proposal.

Young said interested schools are Cedar Cliff and Central Dauphin, both in the Harrisburg area.

The Meaning of Christmas

Tyrants Still Fear the Infant Jesus

NATIVE OF BETHLEHEM: The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, one of the world's foremost Protestant leaders, is president of the United Lutheran Church in America. He is chairman of the policy-making Central Committee of the World Council of Churches, chairman of its executive committee and vice chairman of the United States Conference for the World Council of Churches. He was born Aug. 30, 1900, in Bethlehem, Pa.

By THE REV. DR. FRANKLIN CLARK FRY
President, United Lutheran Church In America

EVERYONE knows there is more to Christmas than tinsel, mistletoe and gifts. Shame on us for often allowing the heart of it to be blurred.

The new-born Christ is the soul of Christmas.

When you think of what we will be celebrating on the Holy Night, what do you see? My eyes are on a manger and a Baby. It is a birthday that we commemorate, a birthday with endless fascination and inexhaustible charm.

THE magnet that draws us to the cattle stall in Bethlehem is the fact that there, as nowhere else on earth, God and man meet. God the all-good, Who usually seems to be far above our heads, and man, who at his best reaches only feebly toward the light, are united here in a crib for a bed.

How wonderfully this Child binds together the extremes in life. He, to quote Shakespeare, Who "issued from progeny of kings, virtuous and holy, chosen from above" is born of a peasant girl; He joins the toilers of the earth. The One Who heard the morning stars sing together at creation became poor for my sake that I by His goodness should be rich.

He Who was in the form of God emptied Himself and took the form of a servant, being born in the likeness of man.

GOD is in this spotless Child's purity. He shines with a clean light from heaven above. How the Babe of Bethlehem sparkled in contrast to the soiled world around Him. That is still true as we had all better recognize. The pure Saviour will not come and live for long in any human heart that will not repent and be cleansed.

See humility here, too. The all-powerful Son of God was so humble that He became a helpless child. In Him God stoops to earth. He enters humanity's low door—and He does it without being stifled or ruffled or in any way less the God He is. That quality ought to be in us, too. But instead of being lowly in spirit of our own volition, how often our pride has to be humiliated. Happy is the man or woman who is wise and clear-eyed enough to be lowly. It means he sees hmself in a true light; it helps him to see God.

Joy is the mood. Glory to God, the skies re-echo. Joy to the world, our hearts reply. Good tidings are here for all peple. The new-born Christ is an artist at breaking down and breaking through every barrier of every kind. He is the nemesis of prejudice. He is color blind as He looks at humanity. No nation is more exalted or honorable in His sight than another. Not our own or any other. A chorus of thanksgving rises on Christmas from every continent; His praises are sung in a thousand tongues.

TYRANTS have always feared this holy Infant. Bloody King Herod went into a panic when he heard of His birth. To this day evil oppressors tear down His altars. The reason is clear. They instinctively know that this Jesus will be the death of them.

On this Christmas Eve let the enemies of mankind tremble again. The carols of the everlasting Christmas cannot be quenched in men's hearts. The pull of this Babe is more powerful than bayonets. Generations pass and centuries are soon gone, but He reigns forever with a cattle-crib for His throne.

Long live Jesus, the new-born King.

Customs of Christmas

In the pagan world of the 4th Century, December 25 was already a sacred day throughout the Roman Empire. It was Dies Natalis Invicti Solis, the Birthday of the Unconquered Sun.

No one knows for certain on what day Christ was born, but a very early Christian tradition said it was December 25. After a careful inquiry into available evidence, Pope Julius I (337-352) decided the tradftional date was probably the true one.

* * *

Christmas celebrations became so irreligious during the Middle Ages that when the Puritans came to power in England they forbade all celebrations, both religious and secular.

In New England, settled by the Puritans, Christmas celebrations were forbidden by law from 1659 until 1681.

Alabama in 1836 was the first state to make Christmas a legal holiday.

The tradition of decorating with evergreens at Christmas comes down from the ancient midwinter festivals. The evergreens, which flourish when all else is brown and dead, are a symbol of enduring life.

Kissing under the mistletoe is apparently an English custom. It is never found in other countries unless Englishmen have settled there.

The community Christmas tree is a modern American custom. The first was erected on Mount Wilson in 1909 by the people of Pasadena, Calif.

The true Christmas candle,, rarely seen now, was very large and burned throughout Christmas Day. If it went out or was accidentally blown out before the day's end, it was thought to be an omen of bad luck.

Christmas cards, only a little more than 100 years old, come from the Christmas pieces which schoolboys produced. These were carefully decorated sheets of paper on which the students wrote sentences which served as greetings to their parents and a display of their ability in the art of writing.

Turkey, a Christmas delicacy, was unknown in Europe before 1542. Goose, or beef, or meat pies were customary fare for the Christmas feast before then.

* * *

In olden days, the traditional Christmas drink was lambswool, a mixture of hot ale, sugar, spices, eggs and roasted apples to which thick cream was sometimes added.

...And the Deaf Hear

The Gospel In Silence

A SIGN UNTO YOU: The Rev. Theo DeLaney of San Francisco, Lutheran pastor for the deaf in northern California, recites with his hands the story of the nativity before a congregation of deaf and mute worshippers in Sacramento. This is the story, with the pictured word in capitals: (left) "Because there was no room (PLACE) for them in the inn." (right) "She brought forth her first born son (BABY)." (lower left) "And they (the shepherds) were sore AFRAID." (lower right) "Suddenly THERE was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host."

Flight Spared Life Of Jesus

THE rhythmic gait of the donkey rocked the Christ Club to slumber in the arms of Mary.

Joseph, leading the donkey and its burden to safety in Egypt, glanced over his shoulder to the darkened Bethlehem which was fading into the distance.

Only a short time before, an angel had appeared to Joseph in a dream telling him to "flee into Egypt . . .for Herod will seek the young child to destroy Him."

Herod, wicked and suspicious, feared the baby Jesus was destined to take his kingship and had ordered the Christ Child found and killed. To insure that He would not escape, Herod ordered every male baby in Bethlehem massacred.

The route of the flight into Egypt is unknown. Joseph may have taken a direct route southward, or he could have gone west to the coastal plain and down into Egypt to avoid the more mountainous routes.

While Jesus was safe in Egypt, Herod in his own country carried on a bloody campaign of oppression against those who opposed him. But before a year was out, Herod died and peace at last returned to the land.

News of Herod's death, probably carried by traders, eventually reached Mary and Joseph. Feeling their return home to Nazareth could be made without fear for the Christ Child's safety they set out, probably taking the coastal highway up through Sharon and then east to Bethlehem.

In a green valley lay Nazareth where the family found friends waiting; where Joseph would reopen his carpenter shop, and where the Prince of Peace would grow through childhood.

Crusty Sam Left Legacy Of Joy

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—About 15,000 needy Wichitans have been Christmas dinner guests of Sam Amidon, crusty old-time Wichita lawyer and politician, in the last half century. Nearly two-thirds of them have enjoyed the turkey dinners since their host died 34 years ago.

Amidon was a gruff man, "rough as a cob in the courtroom," recalls Elton Hook, the Wichitan's former partner. Also, the lawyer was a man of deep sympathy "who made a lot of money and spent a lot of money, and whose quiet philanthropies helped many young people get a start."

It was on a blustery, disagreeable Christmas Eve in 1905 that the Amidon Christmas dinners started. Hook recalls:

"As Sam left his office, a newsboy greeted him, 'Mister, don't you want to buy a paper?'

"Sam bought a paper. Then he took the youngster into a store and bought him a new pair of shoes. He found out the youngster had no family and bought him a big Christmas dinner too, for him and for all his buddies who would otherwise have been hungry next day.

"Amidon—who once served as vice chairman of the Democratic national committee—also was a Shriner. The early Amidon dinners were served in the Shrine club, and the host and prominent members of the bar, including several judges, served as waiters.

"The guests were newsboys, first—then elderly men and women who were friendless and homeless at Christmas time."

Amidon died in 1925, but his widow kept the Amidon Christmas dinners going. When she died a decade later, she set up a trust fund to perpetuate the turkey dinners in her husband's memory.

"Invitations still go out to all the city's newsboys," says William A. Byerley, trust officer for the bank put in charge. "But today's newsboy usually has his own Christmas plans. We ask the Salvation Army to take care of the arrangements now, and most of the guests are older folks known to that organization."

All St. Louis Sings On Christmas Eve

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "Joy to the world, the Lord is come . . ." As they have for the last half century, joyful words such as these will fill the streets of St. Louis again this Christmas Eve.

Some 50,000 carolers will make their annual trip through the neighborhoods, stopping house to house to serenade the entire population of the city.

It all began when a small group of friends joined together to caro. for their neighbors one snowy Christmas year 47 years ago. From that small beginning, the St. Louis Christmas Carols Assn. sprung.

Today more than 2,500 groups carry on this old tradition.

The whole community joins in the Christmas spirit. Carols are in the air everywhere. And everywhere, St. Louisians place a light in their window on Christmas Eve, a beacon welcoming the strolling bands of carolers.

Voluntary contributions are collected by the merry carolers and turned over to some 70 institutions caring for handicapped and underprivileged children.

Pipe Fitter's Yule Tree

MERRY PIPE DREAM: This unusual "Christmas Tree" means Merry Christmas to employes at the Louisville, Ky., plant of Tube Turns Plastic, Inc. Workers built their three of company products—industrial pipe fittings. Charles M. Dever Jr. and Marvis Stacy add the final decorations.

Magic Lantern Goes Modern

The new product is called the Magnajector, and unlike the old magic lantern it requires no slides. In black-and-white or color, it reflects on a wall or screen a magnified image of anything placed in the aperture of the propector — snapshots, drawings, maps, stamps, illustrations, textiles and the like.

The aperture limits the size of the item to be projected to about 12 square inches. But the projector enlarges about 150 times. Constructed of black plastic, it weighs only 28 ounces.

Twelfth Night Celebration Rekindles Ancient Revelry

Each year these words open a fun-filled evening carrying on customs almost as old as Christmas.

Twefth Night—Jan. 5—is the final day of the old 12 days of Christmas. And at Christ Church (Epis copal) Cathedral youngsters of the Sunday School put on the traditional pageant and stunts that used to take place in England as far back, perhaps, as the 8th Century.

Presided over by a king and queen, youngsters from about 6 to 18 dress in authentic English costumes of the Middle Ages.

30 in Royal Court

There are pages, yeomen, ladies in waiting, peasants and of course the royalty—about 30 in all. There is a bishop complete with cope and mitre, a soothsayer with a star-studded blue robe and crystal ball, and a court jester.

Other youngsters get up their own costumes and present stunts, comedy routines, songs and dance at the command of the Master of Revels for the pleasure of the court.

"In feudal days when people lived around castles the lord of the manor called in everybody at the end of the Christmas season and put on a feast for them," says the Rev. Arthur G-T. Courteau, canon of the cathedral.

"They put on stunts and did a little carousing with the Wassail bowl, and everybody had a good time. We don't have the Wassail bowl, but we've added a Twelfth Night cake, the traditional yule log and the boar's head—all part of the script."

The boar's head is a papier mache affair made especially for the Revels, and carried in during dinner that precedes the stunts.

Later comes the Twelfth Night cake, a concoction with special interest for older teen-age boys—one of whom finds a bean in hi slice that means he's king for th next year and chooses his own queen.

Began in Michigan

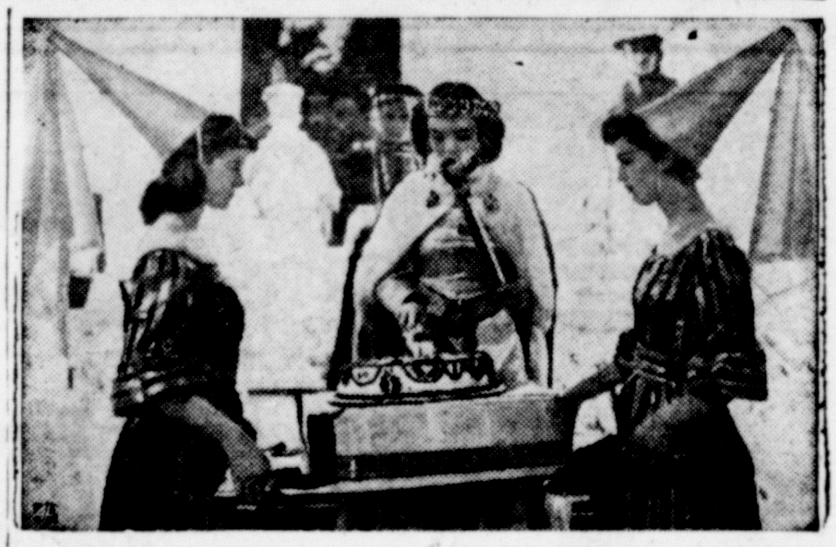
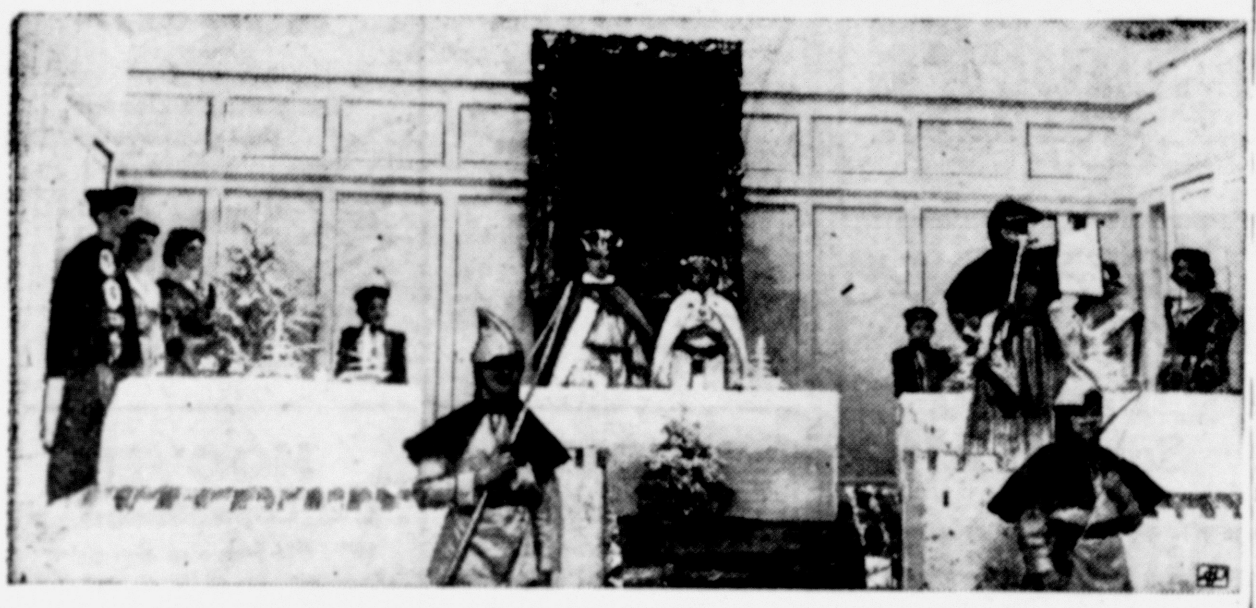
Canon Courteau brought the Revels idea from a former parish in Petoskey, Mich., where his late wife started it. It is also used in varying form in several private schools and some churches and YWCA groups across the country.

"We pick the king from the upper class, and the others for their dramatic ability with the idea of getting as many of the children as possible to take active part," he says.

"But our trumpeter's been the same for several years. He's the only one we've got."



TO CHOOSE A KING: The queen of Twelfth Night Revels cuts the Twelfth Night cake, held by the court cake bearers. One slice contains a bean and the boy who gets it is named king of the following year's revels. He chooses a queen.



'HEAR YE, HEAR YE': As the king and queen of Twelfth Night Revels stand with their court attendants, the master of revels reads the traditional scroll proclaiming Twelfth Night a time of merriment. This opens the annual Jan. 5 celebration at Christ Church Cathedral in Louisville.

Christmas Begins In January

CHRISTMAS COMES earlier than you think.

It comes to some while New Year's parties are still an echo. It comes while rough winter gives way to gentle spring.

Buyers start the wheels rolling right after Christmas. They check figures of the last year. How much did they sell of this item? How much of that?

Records on the volume of sales for all merchandise handled are sent to department store heads. And by April both buyers and store heads are poring over them.

On the basis of such records, the store executives judge what to buy for the coming Christmas.

Meanwhile, window designers are not idle. Starting in February, or as early as New Year's, plans are drawn up for Christmas window displays. Preliminary sketches are studied, rejected, and modified. Then sets are designed.

By the end of spring, everything is down on paper. The problem that will occupy the summer is who will build the sets. Although most department stores have workshops, they are small because of space limitations and are equipped for little more than maintenance work. Outside bidders are called to handle the carpentry and painting.

Manufacturers start their Christmas preparations in October and November of the year before. The toy industry starts, in some cases, many years before. Its annual Toy Fair occurs in March.

At the fair, buyers order as much as 60 per cent of what they expect their Christmas requirements will be. Right after the fair, the wholesalers begin work on the catalogues.

Many other people are involved in early Christmas preparations. Greeting card artists, Santa Claus outfitters, prospective Santa Clauses who attend schools to learn the art, craftsmen patiently laboring over handmade toys, Christmas sales help learning the ropes, salesmen pushing Christmas items, and inventors thinking up new gadgets for the season.

School Teaches Yuletide Skills

DENVER (AP) — Denver's famous Opportunity School, which teaches everything all year long from shoemaking to practical nursing, has its own Christmas rush.

Founded in 1916 by slight, dynamic Emily Griffith, the school is now the tax-supported adult and vocational branch of the Denver public schools. It has 23,000 students.

Fifteen years ago Denver merchants asked the school to train temporary or part-time clerks for the November-December buying spree.

Now from 250 to 400 people take the pre-Christmas classes. Most of them are hired before the courses are completed. Several of Denver's largest department stores furnish instructors.

But the clerk-training courses are not the only extra Yuletide service at Opportunity.

Special holiday food courses run for five weeks before Christmas. Students learn to cook tested recipes for holiday delicacies, to decorate cakes and cookies, and to do holiday table decorating.

"Our students in these courses usually are not brides," says Edna-Jean Hershey, assistant day principal. "Some are grandmothers who want to give a new touch to the family Christmas dinner. Some bring in recipes which have been in a family for generations and for which a modern touch is desired."

Other classes are conducted in gift wrapping. The school's regular art courses take on the holiday spirit. Various ceramic items are turned out as gifts. Lamp shades, jewelry and Christmas cards come out of other classes.

Doll Doctor Works Miracles In Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Tears filled the eyes of a dark haired little girl as she handed her precious doll, Susie, to the doll doctor.

"My Susie is blind," she said.

Twenty minutes later the child miled broadly, then jumper hap-ily.

"Susie can see again," she ughed.

The "doctor" who performed his non-medical miracle is one f the nation's small group of ex-erts in the art of repairing bro-en dolls, Irving Chase.

"Doctor Irving" has been re-pairing dolls for as long as he can remember. He learned the art from his father and from his grandfather, who repaired dolls in Germany.

Little Mothers

Chase addresses his assistants as nurses, the broken dolls as patients, and the young doll owners as little mothers.

"The children always want to watch me operate," Chase says, "They caution me to be careful, so that I won't hurt their Joans or Mary." The dolls always are spoken of by name.

A typical operating day for the doll doctor includes some head surgery—new heads of dolls, repairing a few broken noses, replacing some cracked eyes, and new plastic surgery—putting a new finish on an old doll. Occasionally he cleans out a doll's insides after a forced feeding by some anxious 7-year-old mother.

Not all customers are children. Chase recalls an 80-year-old woman who came into the store one day. She had a doll that was given to her by her grandmother and she in turn had passed it on to her children. She had outlived her children and now wanted the doll cleaned.

New Creations

The peak season for doll hospitals is from December to February. In December adults bring in broken dolls to be repaired as Christmas gifts, and children often insist that their dolls get new holiday outfits. Immediately following Christmas week, the doll hospitals are swamped with broken dolls.

A doll doctor not only has to repair broken dolls but create new ones. Chase recalls a woman brought her daughter in and asked him to make a doll that looked like the young girl.

Like a real doctor who talks about his tough operations, Chase spoke about an incident that occurred several years ago.

Yule Liquor Sales Expected To Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are expected to spend more than 560 million dollars on holiday gifts of distilled spirits this Christmas.

"This represents a 10 per cent increase over the unofficial estimated of $511,896,000 spent during the 1958 holiday season," says Walter Jahn, marketing director for Schenley Industries, Inc.

The estimates are based on quarterly sales figures, Jahn says. In 1958 the apparent consumption of distilled liquor in October, November and December was 68,612,000 wine gallons while the average for each of the first three quarters was slightly more than 47 million wine gallons.

"The excess—which gives us our $511,896,000 when converted from wine gallons into dollars—is attributed to holiday gift buying because no other factor can explain the marked difference," Jahn says. Improved business conditions are expected to cause this year's increase.

In Elkhorn, Wis.:

Christmas Is A Community Affair

ELKHORN, Wis. (AP) — At Christmas time, this little town would soften the heart of a Scrooge. For it looks like a town should look at Christmas.

It has natural charm — gaily lighted stores and the old courthouse surrounding a 14-acre park, and over it all a blanket of snow. But it has even more.

Almost every man, woman and child in Elkhorn pitches in to make a real community Christmas.

The whole thing started eight years ago as a single decorative scene set up in Courthouse Park, the center of the town. It started small, but like Uncle Ludwig's St. Bernard puppy, it grew until it occupies most of the spare space in the park.

Manual training students at the high school set up that first exhibit. Water Department employes thought it looked so nice that they built another.

Now 12 elaborate and colorful tableaux built by groups and clubs decorate Courthouse Park each Yuletide, with two or three new ones added each season while an equal number of the oldest are discarded.

Since the town's business district surrounds the square, businessmen have kept up the spirit of things. Each store has a decorated Christmas tree out in front.

At night the park is floodlighted and visitors from miles around parade around the square. A feature last year was a robed choir, complete with organist and a real organ, set up in the band shell. Electronics provided music from the shell and the illusion of reality, listeners say, was startling.

Home decorations flourish on the residential streets. And Elkhorn has a musical side, too. Nearly half of the three thousand inhabitants of the southeastern Wisconsin town are engaged in its major industry, making and repairing band instruments. Almost everyone plays an instrument.

On Christmas Eve young carolers go from house to house to house happily singing themselves hoarse.

A LOOK OF CHRISTMAS: This is a portion of Courthouse Park in Elkhorn, Wis., as it appears at Christmas. A Nativity scene may be seen in foreground and a band shell in the background, two of the dozen colorful tableaux erected in the park each Yule season.

Santa's Village Aids Young Imaginations

REMEMBER when youngsters had to use their imagination to visualize Santa Claus and his North Pole establishment?

There has been a lot of progress since then.

First, Santa Clause and his helpers moved in on every city of the land. He began appearing not only at private homes and at church festivals but in stores and on street corners.

More recently, he has transplanted his North Pole village, or hamlets that look as his village might look, to various convenient sites around the country. Youngsters and adults by the thousand have been visiting them.

Here is a picture taken at Santa's Village in the San Bernardino mountains 80 miles east of downtown Los Angeles. In winter it has honest to goodness snow, but snow or no snow it stays open 364 days a year. The closing day is Christmas itself.

This Santa's Village was the brainchild of a young business man named Glenn Holland who raised half a million dollars to build the storybook houses and equip them properly with elves, animals, toys, candy, and such rides as a 20-passenger sleigh.

Christmas Cards Are Easy To Make

Snapshots of the children, the family, or your home will carry the message you wish to convey. Here are a few suggestions:

Your youngster arranging blocks to spell "Merry Christmas."

A blackboard with chalked holiday message. Your child can hold the chalk close to the last letter.

The children grouped before a fireplace decorated for Christmas. Mount a flood lamp in the fireplace to give it a lighted effect.

You can use simple props that may be put away from year to year.

Simplicity is a good rule. Don't be afraid of close-ups. Make sure your camera can't move during exposure.

After you have taken the picture and have the necessary number of prints, your professional photographer can show you a selection of Christmas folders. You simply slip the photograph into the folder.

If the picture you wish to use is higher than it is wide, ask your dealer for a vertical mask. If it's wider than high, get a horizontal one.

To attach picture negative and mask, place the mask shiny side down on a clean sheet of ordinary paper. Set your picture negative, also shiny side down, directly over the opening in the mask and bind its overlapping edges to the mask with transparent tape.

You'll probably have to do some trial-and-error experimenting to discover the correct exposure. But with doubleweight paper, a normal picture negative and printing frame try as a starter nine seconds about eight inches away from a 40-watt bulb.

With the printer, install a 10-watt bulb and expose for eight seconds.

Apples Make A Yule Tree

HAVE you ever thought of making a Christmas apple tree? That's only one of many ways in which shiny red apples can provide a cheerful, colorful note for the holiday season.

To make an apple tree, you shape a pile of the fruit in the form of a pyramid, holding it together with toothpicks. Before starting that job, however, you gouge a hole in the stem of each apple and set in it a white birthday candle. Placed on an evergreen bed, the apple tree makes a striking table decoration. And for each place setting, you can use an apple with candle.

A clove apple makes a fragrant gift. Stick the stems of cloves into a small, firm, red apple until it surface is covered with the flowers of this spice. Tie a narrow red ribbon bow to the stem and it is ready for hanging in someone's closet. It will provide fragrance for weeks to come.

Two Chosen From Millions

THE CHOSEN TWO: The 1958 National Tree (left) began as a 99-foot spruce in a Montana forest. It was trimmed to 78 feet, which made it the tallest ever used at the White House. The 1958 Rockefeller Center tree (right) was supplied by the State of Maine. A tree meeting the rigid requirements of the Center was found only after a nine-month search.

Each year from millions of Christmas trees two are chosen.

Woodland giants are these trees, green and well-formed. They have to be, for they are probably the most admired communal Christmas trees in the nation.

They are the National Christmas Tree on the White House lawn in Washington, and the Rockefeller Center tree in New York.

The 1958 White House tree started out as a 99-foot Engelmann spruce in the Kootenai National Forest in Montana. Herbert Stout, a veteran sawyer, cut it down at the height of the season's first blizzard.

He trimmed the 78-year-old evergreen to a height of 78 feet, making it the tallest ever used on the White House lawn. At Libby, Mont., the tree was loaded on two flatcars for its 2,500-mile journey to Washington.

The State of Maine was invited to supply the Rockefeller tree. The search began almost nine months before Christmas. The requirements: 65 feet in height, 35 feet in diameter at the base, and as perfectly formed as possible.

Robert Marville, a representative of the center, inspected several trees located by foresters of the Maine Forest Service. But none would do. Forest Commissioner Austin Wilkins gave the order to Earle Williams, a district fire warden, "Keep looking full time until you find THE tree."

"I looked for and inspected Christmas trees until I was beginning to think that God never grew the tree for which we were looking," says Williams. But he finally found THE tree on the Carl Ireland farm at East Madison, Maine. Marville okayed it.

The tree was hauled to New York on a 50-foot lowbed truck. There it was erected on the plaza before the RCA building overlooking the center's skating rink and lighted at a special ceremony on Dec. 11.

Modern Custom

The modern custom of community tree was begun in 1909 by citizens of Pasadena, Calif., who erected a tree on Mount Wilson. The first National Christmas Tree was shipped from Vermont in 1923 and set up on the steps of the Capitol.

The tallest Christmas tree on record was erected in 1950 by the Northgate Community, a shopping center near Seattle, Wash. The tree, a Doublas-fir, was 221 feet tall when it was cut in the Naches Forest. After trimming, it weighed 25 tons and towered 212 feet in the air.

Create A Memorial To 'Good Old Days'

If you have a hankering for the good old days, you might wish to create in miniature a traditional Christmas tree — a red and green tree that glows with candles and sparkles with snow.

Either a natural evergreen or an artificial green tree will do, just as long as it is full and shapely.

Ornamentation should be simple: no more than small red candles and make-believe snow. The candles may be purchased at the birthday party counter of the dime store. An effective size is about three inches.

To produce snow, pour two or three cups of packaged soap or detergent in a mixing bowl, add a little water, and stir with a spoon until the texture is dense and dough-like.

If additional suds are required, another batch may be prepared easily. It is better to prepare the snow in small quantities because it dries rapidly.

This suds-dough performs a double service — it provides both glittering adornment, and also the base to hold the candles.

Start at the top of the ree. Take a small quantity of the suds mixture and roll it about in your hands until a ball is formed about the size of a large marble. You might wish to mold the contours in a swirling, sculptured form.

Imbed a candle firmly in the center of the suds-ball and press the ornament on the top-most branch. The suds will be adhesive enough to stay in place as it dries to form a permanent seal.

Continue this process until the whole tree has been decorated. For an added frosty effect, drift some suds-snow on the branches with your fingers or a spoon. Preparing this kind of snow requires a slightly different technique: add a bit more water to the soap or detergent and whip it with an electric mixer or rotary beater to produce a frothier texture like whipped cream or meringue.

Set your old-time tree on a hall table or television cabinet, in a window or use it as a table centerpiece.

AN OLD-FASHIONED TREE: This young lady is decorating an old-fashioned tree with gay red candles and sparkling snow. Natural looking as it it, the snow will not melt. It is made of soapsuds and water, whippd to the consistency of thick dough.

Does your family rush to locate the mound of gifts Santa left each member? Identify each pile by standing a photograph of the person to whom it belongs atop it.

In cleaning small rugs with a vacuum cleaner one should always use a diagonal stroke. The rug is then less likely to wrinkle and get caught in the cleaner.

Tree Business Gets Bigger

SHELTON, Wash. (AP) — The Christmas tree industry, which supplies perhaps 40 million firs, spruce and pine for the holiday season, is getting more mechanized and specialized.

There's a trend toward nursery-raised trees, to be pampered and pruned like a garden shrub. Big picture windows are partly responsible. Home owners want neighbors and passersby to see trees that are symmetrical, or unusual.

With the passing of high-ceiling rooms in old houses, the demand is mostly for shorter trees — 6 to 7 feet. But last Christmas a Los Angeles radio firm was sent a 45-footer. A 40-foot tree went to Honolulu for outdoor display.

One of the nation's largest tree distributors, J. Hofert Co., has a million seedlings growing at each of two Pacific Northwest nurseries, one at Tumwater, Wash., and the other at Big Fork, Mont. When three years old they will be transplanted to grow five more years to marketable age.

Forest areas no longer supply enough quality trees to meet growing demand, says Herbert A. Tubbs, regional manager for Hofert. Many farmers now grow Christmas trees as a supplementary crop.

No one has counted the Christmas trees sold in the United States each holiday season. The 40 million figure is merely an industry estimate.

But the desire for a tree in the living room at Christmas time is not restricted by distance or climate. A few trees have been ordered from points as distant as Guam. There's a large and growing demand in Alaska, Hawaii, Mexico and Cuba.

Making Miniature Trees Can Be Easy

Take a stick as long as you want your tree to be high. Use florist wire to fasten branches of evergreen to it. Begin with very short pieces of evergreen at the top of the stick. Wire these up and down the stick graduating the size of the evergreen branches until you are within six inches of the base of the stick. Push the stick into a colored crock or vase or one that has been gilded. Fill the container with sand and then pour melted paraffin over the top of the sand so that it will support the tree.

A GROWING INDUSTRY: The rapidly growing Christmas tree industry is becoming more mechanized and specialized. Here, in a collection yard at Shelton, Wash., trees are sorted, bundled and loaded by conveyor belt into boxcars for shipment throughout the United States.

Yule Doorway Should Convey Welcome

By CLAIRE STICKLES

When you decorate your home for Christmas, plan the doorway decoration most carefully. For the doorway decoration most should convey a feeling of welcome.

The kind of decoration may vary. Evergreens, berries and cones are traditional materials, but the use of painted material has become very popular.

In selecting evergreens, care should be taken not to use those that shed their needles. The best are balsam, pine, juniper and cryptomeria, while others such as magnolia and Scotch broom lend themselves for attractive wreaths and swags.

TRADITIONAL WREATH

Holly is a must. The English holly is more beautiful than native American holly because of the glossiness of the foliage and the size of the berries.

In making a wreath the foundation is most important. The best form is a wire hoop. Wind it with strips of cloth cut one-inch wide. Next wind green floral tape around the cloth strips. This gives a near finish. Covering the hoop in this manner holds the evergreens more firmly in place while working on the wreath.

The evergreens should be cut in four-inch lengths. Using three to a group, wire them to the hoop. Place the first group at an angle on the outer side, the second on the inside of the ring, and the third in the middle. Continue this grouping around the entire hoop.

The decorations for the wreath are individual. The use of cones or berries, or both, makes an interesting wreath. A bright red bow of plastic weather proof ribbon is then added.

which may be obtained at a florist shop. Fill the frame with damp sphagnum moss, wrap it with green florist paper, and tie it with green cord to hold the paper around the ring.

The foundation material should be boxwood or ivy leaves. The boxwood can be stuck through the moss, but because the ivy stems are soft, it is better to wire a toothpick to them so they can penetrate the moss. Follow the same pattern as in making the other wreath.

Groups of grapes, small apples, nuts, cones or any small fruit may be used to decorate the wreath. These are fastened by use of toothpicks or small wire hairpins. The wreath should then be given a coat of alcohol-thinned shellac to keep the fruit fresh-looking. Blue ribbon should be used, for it is traditionally Della Robbia.

A swag of pine branches combined with styrofoam snowballs and a large rosette of one-inch red and green ribbon is a good combination to use for a white doorway. The snowballs are mounted on long chenille stems which may be found at a florist shop.

A good swag for a dark doorway is made by wiring two long branches of long-needled pine together, placing them so that the ends point in opposite directions. At the center, a few pine cones can be placed so that they follow the line of the pine branches. Other evergreens, such as cedar or arborvitae, may be used to add contrast. A bow of red plastic ribbons completes the swag.

PINE SWAG

Dress Your Holiday Table

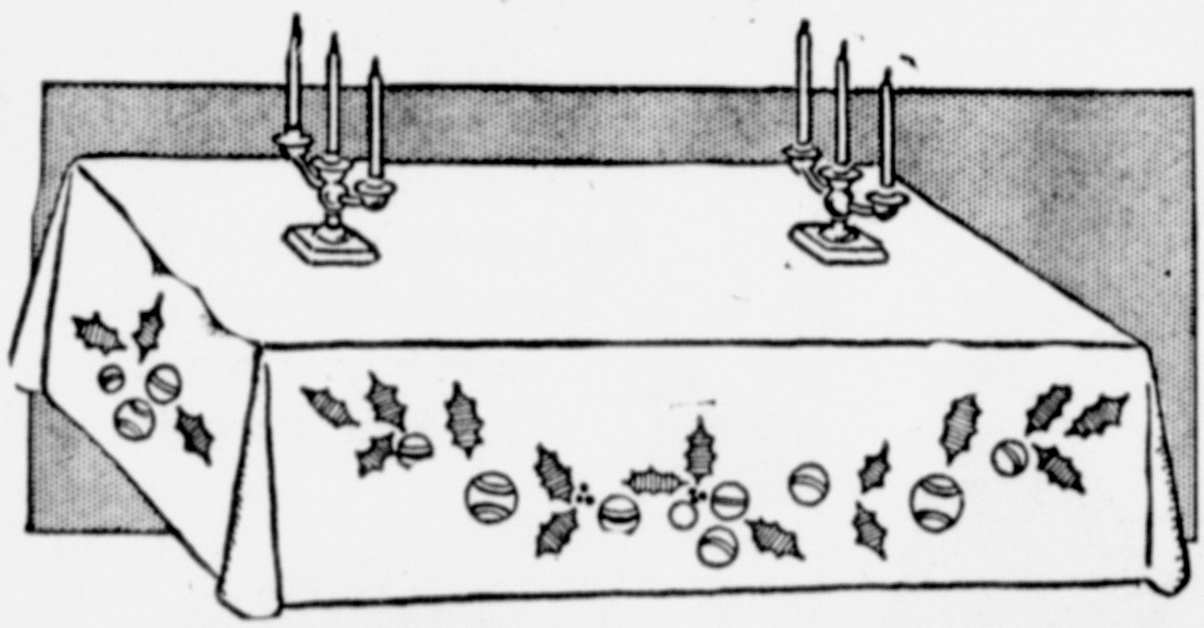
Why not make a holiday tablecloth to grace your festive board this Christmas?

Made of heavy white linen and decorated with a motif of holly and Christmas balls, it will last for many holiday seasons to come. And it's an easy task when you follow these directions from experts at your local sewing center.

This design is suitable for round, square or rectangular tables. For a rectangular table, measure the length and width of your table. Add 12 inches on all sides for the overhang. Linen is available in 36-inch widths. A two-yard length will be suitable for the center panel of most rectangular tables with pieces on either side to make the overhang.



To do the appliques, first trace the design on wrapping paper. Use dressmaker's carbon to transfer the design to gold organdy. Cut out designs, leaving a good half-inch seam allowance all around. Baste in place on the tablecloth.

Set your slant-needle automatic sewing machine for a narrow satin stitch, or use the automatic zigzagger attachment for your straight or slant-needle machine. Work around the outlines of the balls and leaves, using matching gold-colored thread. Cut away linen under design and organdy at stitching line.

Trace veins of leaves and connecting lines in gold satin stitch. Set your machine for one of the many decorative stitch patterns, such as an icicle or ball design, and work several rows of stitching across the Christmas balls.

The bands of decorative stitching on the Christmas balls will appear darker in contrast, since the stitching lines will be backed with a thin strip of linen.

There are several methods of hemming the tablecloth. Most satisfactory would be to work a line of satin stitching in white or gold along the hemline, a half-inch above the raw edge. Trim away excess fabric.

Sew An Apron To Match

When she uses the white-and-gold holiday tablecloth, described above, she will wear a blending holiday apron. Make the apron of gold organdy with linen applique, reversing the fabrics used on the tablecloth.

Select a standard apron pattern, and cut out the apron from sheer gold organdy. Before stitching on waistband or doing other finishing details, make the applique as follows:

Trace design on white linen, and position on one corner of the apron. Baste in place. Set your machine, or the automatic zigzagger for your straight or slant-needle machine, for a narrow satin stitch. Thread machine with white thread, to match the linen.

Complete apron, using a non-woven interfacing to stiffen the waistband section, or making waistband and ties of a sturdier fabric such as gold grosgrain ribbon. Hem organdy apron with a narrow corded satin stitch.

Teddy Barred Tree From White House

President Theodore Roosevelt, an avid conservationist, thought the cutting of evergreens for Christmas was a wasteful practice and forbade their use in the White House.

He later relented after Gifford Pinchot, his advisor on conservation matters, assured him that the supervised and proper harvesting of Christmas trees was good for the forests.

Items To Remember In Decorating Home

There are several things it is well to keep in mind when you decorate your home for the Yule season.

1. Decorations should harmonize in color.

2. Decorations should be kept to a size compatible with the size of the room.

3. Simple ones are often the prettiest.

4. Be sure to include some symbol of the season, a Madonna or some religious decoration, or your home decorations will not be complete.

5. Fresh flowers add an extra something to home decorations. Red roses, red carnations or a blooming poinsettia do nicely.

6. Encourage the children to make decorations.

Helpful Hints For Yuletide

Aluminum foil is the answer to wrapping gifts that are hard to wrap, such as vases and bottles. The foil molds easily to the shape. Just dress it up with a pretty bow.

Getting a living Christmas tree this year? Then don't keep it in the house long after Christmas. The sooner it is planted, the better chance it will have to survive.

Give waxed candles a coat of shellac and they will not melt in high indoor temperatures.

Don't go overboard on outdoor decorations or your house and yard will look like an arcade. If you keep decorations and lights in good harmony with the house and landscaping, there is nothing that makes the Christmas spirit more evident.

To delight a little girl and her mother, make both aprons of similar designs, out of identical material. And then to cap the stunt, make the child's doll an apron, too.

To make a candle last longer, coat all but the wick with soap suds and let it dry in the holder before lighting. Candles so treated will neither smoke nor drip.

The top of a cardboard shoe box placed in the bottom of your Christmas shopping bag will save you time. It will keep the filled bag from toppling over each time you set it down.

When a candle is too large for dip the base of the candle in very hot water. Then you can press it gently into the holder.

Plan a personal Christmas tree centerpiece for the holiday table. Decorate a small, white tree with special ornaments. Cut the ornaments—stars and balls—out of colored construction paper and paste a photograph of a member of the family on each one.

CAROLS and collations, food and fun! Friends speak up in praise of a Christmas dinner that has a southern accent, a meal heart-warming to folk home for the holidays.

Listen to a native of Rome, Ga., detail the Christmas dinner she grew up with—the one she can't wait to taste each year, even if she has to cook it in a small New York kitchen.

Forty cousins in the old days, she counts, and all present at Grandma's on Dec. 25.

Pies there were in abundance—pumpkin and mincemeat and sweet potato. But to Grandma no Christmas was Christmas without at least a dozen layer cakes: The Lady Baltimore (from Savannah), The Burnt Sugar, The Japanese Fruitcake, Martha Washington's Great Cake (served often at Christmas at Mount Vernon), The Watermelon (with green frosting and white and pink layers "seeded" with chewy currants), The Lane Cake (from Alabama), The Angelfood and The Pound. The General Robert E. Lee and The Pecan Bourbon (both from Kentucky), The Spice and The White coconut).

The bird, resting golden-brown and juicy on its gigantic flowing-blue platter, was stuffed to bursting. And that stuffing was ever the same: rich crumbly cornbread savory with onions and always seasoned with sage.

And the gravy! Not a drop of water added! Made with rich stock (from the turkey neck, giblets and—of all things—the feet).

And the other vegetables: creamed small whole onion (divested of their silvery skins), and beside the holiday green of fresh peas, a bowl of sliced fresh beets ringed round with minced parsley. Were more vivid holiday colors ever seen?

And the side dishes! Up from the fruit cellar came the relishes and preserves. The Kieffer pear chutney, put up reverently in the fall — the pear chunks amber, the red and green sweet peppers in tidbits, the mustard seed giving tang. Fresh cranberries were present in two forms. One a sauce chock-full of the whole ruby-red berries; the other a jelly molded in a glorious holiday shape.

And the ending! Ambrosia, that dessert dear to all southern hearts, was brought forth to top off the pies and cakes. For this pinnacle of fruit and nut offerings, the crystal punch bowl was purloined. In it layers of fresh orange rounds, sprinkled with sugar, met layers of freshly grated coconut, both to be finally garnished with the crimson-scarlet of maraschino cherries.

Does serving a modified Christmas dinner from Georgia, in your own home this holiday, interest you? Then here's the easy way, using the freezer and refrigerator.

Get both the dry and liquid ingredients for the turkey stuffing ready ahead of time and package them separately, then freeze or refrigerate; combine the two and stuff the bird just before it goes into the oven.

Mashed sweet potatoes may be frozen or refrigerated and heated in the same casserole. The creamed onions will also reheat well. The beets may be boiled whole the day before Christmas, then slipped out of their skins, sliced and finished. The rolls may be bought, but that needn't prevent you from heating them because the oven will be turned on for the bird.

The Ambrosia benefits from several hours of chilling. The assorted cupcakes may be made from one batch of batter and frosted in various ways. Mincemeat pie is all the better for being baked ahead and reheated; and if you choose pumpkin chiffon pie with a graham cracker crust it goes in the refrigerator to set.

TRADITIONALLY SOUTHERN: Surrounding the golden turkey are some of the ingredients of a southern Christmas dinner: (clockwise) platter of fruit, ambrosia, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, green peas, creamed small onions, and a sweet potato casserole.

SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

Ingredients: 3 pounds sweet potatoes, 1¾ teaspoons salt, boiling water, ⅓ cup sugar, ⅓ cup butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, ½ cup orange juice.

Method: Wash sweet potatoes but do not peel; place in saucepan with 1 teaspoon of salt; cover with boiling water. Cook rapidly, covered, until tender — time will depend on size of potatoes. Remove skins; scrape off any dark part; mash and measure; there should be 5 cups. Mix in sugar, butter, remaining ¾ teaspoon salt, grated orange and lemon rinds and orange juice. Turn into buttered baking dish. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 1 hour or until top begins to brown. (If oven is in use at a lower temperature, bake casserole a longer time.) Makes 8 servings.

CORNBREAD STUFFING WITH SAGE

Ingredients: ¼ pound butter or margarine, 2 cups diced onion, 1 cup diced celery, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 5 teaspoons ground sage, 7 cups toasted soft white bread crumbs (measured after toasting), 1 quart (4 cups) toasted cornbread crumbs, ¾ cup (about) turkey stock, 3 large eggs (slightly beaten).

Method: Melt butter in large saucepan; all onion and celery; cook gently until onion is transparent. Add salt, pepper, sage, crumbs, stock and eggs. Loosely fill body and neck cavities of 12 to 15 pound turkey with stuffing. Makes 12 to 15 servings.

Note: Poultry seasoning may be substituted for sage.

Kentucky Cake Has Distinction

Three things distinguish Kentucky Christmas cake from all others: pecans, freshly-grated nutmeg and bourbon whiskey. All play each other delicious compliments as they blend into one fascinating flavor.

NEW KENTUCKY CHRISTMAS CAKE

Ingredients: 2 teaspoons freshly-grated nutmeg, 1½ cups raisins, ½ cup bourbon whiskey, 1 pound shelled pecans, 2 giant-sized packages (17 ounces each) pound-cake mix, 1 cup milk, 4 eggs (separated), glace cherries.

Method: Mix nutmeg with raisins; pour bourbon over and let stand at least 10 minutes—preferably longer. Generously butter a metal tube pan (10 by 4 inches) and flour entire inside. Set aside 15 pecan halves to decorate cake top; chop or break remaining pecans into fairly large pieces. Empty both packages of pound-cake mix into large mixer bowl; add milk. Beat 300 strokes by hand or 2 minutes at medium-low speed of electric mixer. (This is a heavy batter; don't try to use a small hand electric mixer.) Add egg yolks and beat another 300 strokes or 2 minutes with mixer. Add raisin-bourbon mixture. Beat 300 strokes more by hand (not with mixer). With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; turn onto batter and sprinkle over the pecans; fold in whites and nuts thoroughly. Turn into prepared pan. Decorate top with reserve pecans. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven 1 hour and 45 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched. Remove from oven. Add candied cherries (bottoms dipped in a little sugar syrup) to complete top decoration. Let stand in pan overnight or until thoroughly cold; invert on wire rack and remove from pan; invert once more on serving plate so top side will be up. Cover tightly with transparent plastic wrapping; place in a container and close tight; refrigerate overnight before slicing. (Cake crumbles least if sliced when cold.) Try cutting with gentle sawing motion with a serrated knife. Makes 5 pounds.

Note: To grate nutmeg you may use a rotary-type grater with a hand-operated crank. A whole nutmeg will probably yield 4 teaspoons after grating.

'Tis The Night Before Christmas When Old Friends Come To Call

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

It's the night before Christmas at the house of that celebrated gastronome, Jim Beard — cook book author and lecturer. The doorbell keeps ringing and inside there are warm welcomes, gaiety and good talk.

Friends come and go. And all evening long Jim's six-foot frame towers above everyone — the better to see that each guest nibbles and quaffs to his heart's content.

Jim's hospitality matches his generous proportions. He's roamed the cities of the world in search of good eating — poked his nose into food stalls from Les Halles in Paris to the Farmers Market in Los Angeles. So there's always a surprise — a fascinating recipe he's just tried or some epicurean tidbit he's found to bring home.

But on Christmas Eve Jim's food and drink are simple.

A majolica compote and gigantic silver bowl will hold fruit—tangerines and kumquats that Jim had sent from Florida, apples from Oregon, Ribier grapes from South Africa he has chosen himself in a New York market, fresh dates from California and old-fashioned Muscat raisins to pick off long stems.

Is it a savory you're hankering after? Then try some of Jim's whole small mushrooms fresh from a marinade of olive oil, white wine vinegar and spices.

Or do you prefer a munch? There are macadamia nuts from Hawaii that Jim says "taste rather like a hot biscuit," and pistachios that must be "large, white and salted." Toasted and salted walnuts are also there because the host laments that they are "too often neglected." And roasted almonds, of course.

Jim likes to use an enormous wine jug from Burgundy from which to serve his spirited milk punch. He warns that the milk must be icy cold and the rum or brandy chilled in its bottle. For every cup of the milk, Jim adds one-third cup of the chosen liquor, or combines the rum and brandy in half-and-half proportions. No sugar for Jim, but on request he will stir a spoonful into a guest's portion. The last touch is a whiff of freshly-grated nutmeg.

For a hot drink, Jim favors the traditional French grog. He puts a clove-stuck lemon slice into a small old-fashioned or "on-the-rocks" glass with a spoonful of sugar and one quarter cup of rum. Then in goes a silver spoon while the glass is filled with boiling water and stirred. A bracing potion for a merry holiday!

Use Leftover Turkey In Salad

Turkey Salad

Ingredients: 4 cups diced, cooked turkey, 1 cup chopped celery, 2 cups seedless or seeded grapes, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup mayonnaise, ½ cup sour cream, 24 salted pecan halves or toasted almonds.

Method: Combine the turkey, celery, grapes, salt and pepper. Toss lightly with the mayonnaise which has been mixed with sour cream. Add the nuts in the last tossing. Serve with cranberry French dressing.

Dressing

Ingredients: ¾ cup salad oil, ¼ cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, dash of pepper, ½ cup jellied cranberry sauce.

Method: Combine oil, vinegar and dry ingredients in a glass jar with a tight fitting lid, or use electric mixer or blender. Shake or beat until thoroughly blended. Gradually blend into cranberry sauce which has first been beaten smooth with a rotary beater.

Mincemeat Recipe That Never Fails

Ingredients: 2 lbs. lean beef, ½ lb. suet finely chopped, 5 lbs. juicy, tart apples chopped, 1 lb. currants, grated rind of 2 lemons, ½ cup lemon juice, 4 cups fruit juice of any kind, 1½ cups water, 3 cups brown sugar, 2 cups sorghum molasses, 3 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons allspice, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 3 teapoons nutmeg, 2 teaspoons cloves, 1 teaspoon mace.

Santa's Assembly Line Turns Out Cookies

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The holiday rush is on. In all the hustle and bustle some time-customs may be passed by, but cookie-making is a must.

Here's news! We've taken a butter-cookie recipe of our mother's, one with old-fashioned goodness, and streamlined it. Once upon a time this cookie dough was rolled out and hours spent cutting it into holiday shapes. Then the light struck! Why not pack the cookie dough into small cans from frozen juice concentrate and chill, punch out and slice one-two-three?

Given a trial, the idea was a huge success. Holiday cookies crisp and delicious were made and decorated in the twinkling of Santa's eye. Here is htere-cipe; you can prepare it ahead and chill, then bake as you have time.

Our other recipe comes from a friend; she likes it because it is the bar-type cookie easy to make. Its texture and flavor remind us of certain German Christmas cookies.

Shortcut Christmas Cookies

Ingredients: 2½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ pound butter, ¾ cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon frozen orange juice concentrate or 1½ teaspoons lime juice, 1 egg white, ¾ cup chopped (medium-fine) walnuts, 6 teaspoons grated orange or lime rind, light-colored green or red candied fruit or peel.

Method: Save 3 empty (6 ounces each) frozen juice concentrate cans from which both ends have been removed with a wall-type can opener; wash and dry. Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg yolks and orange concentrate or lime juice. Stir in the sifted dry ingredients. Place the 3 prepared cans on waxed paper; pack dough firmly a little at a time, into them; chill until very firm. Work with 1 can at a time and keep others chilled. Push dough out of can with slightly smaller bottle; with sharp knife slice about ⅛-inch thick or into 20 to 24 cookies. Beat egg white until foamy; brush over cookies. Mix nuts and grated rind; sprinkle over cookies. Press a bit of the candied fruit into the center; use green for cookies with orange rind, red for cookies with lime rind. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets, 1 inch apart, in moderate (350 degrees) oven until lightly browned around edges — about 12 to 15 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 5 to 6 dozen cookies.

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate (thawed), ¼ cup water, ½ cup quick-cooking oats, ½ cup mixed candied fruit, ½ cup chopped Brazil nuts, ½ cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, ginger and cinnamon. Mix undiluted orange juice concentrate and water; add rolled oats, fruit and nuts; reserve. Cream shortening and sugar, beat in egg. Stir in well the orange-fruit mixture a sifted dry ingredients. Turn into greased 13 x 9-inch baking pan; spread evenly. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan; cut into 3 x 1-inch bars. If desired frost with confectioners' sugar and decorate with bits of cherries and angelica. Makes 3 dozen.

SHORTCUT TO DELICIOUS TASTE: The Christmas cookies (front) were made from sookie dough, mixed ahead of time and stored in orange juice cans in the refrigerator. At rear are tasty fruit bars.

Kitchen Tips For The Christmas Season

Frost 14 cup cakes with white icing and put one letter of Merry Christmas on top of each cake with red cinnamon drops. These can be used to spell out a greeting when arranged on a tray.

A candy thermometer will take the guess work out of Christmas candy making. The thermometer will quickly pay for itself by turning out perfect batches of candy every time.

If brown sugar has caked, rub it over the fine part of a vegetable shredder.

Cut cooky dough into squares or diamonds with a pastry wheel. This gives cookies nice fluted edges and there is no pastry left to reroll.

Plastic squeeze bottles commonly used for mustard or catsup can also be used as cake decorators.

Paper Plates Claim A Decorative Place

You will need scissors, jars or vials of colored glitter, colored paper and sticky tape, double-faced cellophane tape, glue and a package of paper plates.

For a candle wreath, cut the fluted edges of the paper plate at 1¼-inch intervals, removing the tiny depression between the fluting. Thread a red or green ribbon over and under the cut out edges and tie a bow at the top. Use yellow paper to cut out a candle that is one inch thick. Draw a flame shape on red paper. Glue flame and candle to the plate.

To make a modern Christmas tree design, draw a 4-inch equilateral triangle on green paper. Cut the triangle norizontally into six half-inch strips. Cut another strip, 5¼ inches by one-half inch, for the tree trunk. Paste the trunk on the plate so that each end touches the rim of the inner circle. Over this, paste the tree strips in pyramid fashion. Outline the tree with a thin application of paste. Then sprinkle glitter over the plate and shake off the excess.

For a simple glitter star, cut four lengths of double-faced cellophane tape, each to a length of 9¼ inches. Place them on the plate in two crosses, so that the ends of the tape meet the rim of the inner circle of the plate. Sprinkle gold, silver, red or green glitter over the plate. Press the glitter gently over the star formation, then shake off excess.

The decorated plates may be hung with thread. Or special plates may be used. These plates stick to any flat surface. When decorated, you simply peel off the protective layer on the back to the plate to expose a tab of masking tape. Then press the plate to windows or doors. It won't mar the surface when removed.

A little talcum dusted over a grease spot on a table cloth and allowed to set for an hour or two will absorb the grease.

EYE-CATCHERS: These paper plate decorations are (top to bottom) a candle wreath, a Christmas Tree, and a glitter star.

Twig Wreath Is Different

First, take a wire coat hanger and pend it into a round shape. Next take twigs from any kind of a tree and dip them in a flour and water paste stiff enough to stick readily to the twigs. Before paste has dried sprinkle the twigs with artificial snow. Tie the twigs with white thread to your wreath of wire.

If you do not want a white wreath, add red food coloring to the paste mixture and use green ribbons and red Christmas balls. Or perhaps you would like to work out your own colors.

Unusual Decoration Utilizes Moth Balls

To make a fascinating Christmas decoration, anchor with modeling clay a tall red or green candle in the bottom of a tall apothecary jar. Put in a handful of moth balls and then a quarter of a cup of vinegar plus a teaspoon of soda for every glass of water needed to fill the jar. The moth balls will dance merrily around the candle for an hour or so. When they stop another dash of soda and vinegar will start them dancing again.

Douglas-Fir Favored For Christmas Tree

The favorite species of Christmas tree in the United States is the Douglas-fir. These make up an estimated 28 per cent of all trees sold for Christmas.

Balsam firs comprise 24 per cent of the total. Other favorites are Eastern red cedar 12 per cent, black spruce 11 per cent and Scotch pine 6 per cent. At least 18 other species make up the other 19 per cent.

Soapsuds Will Give Gifts A Snowy Look

MERRY SOAPSUDS TO YOU: Christmas gifts may be decorated with soapsuds which are applied like frosting. Beaten like whipped cream, the make-believe snow can be applied with a pastry tube to colorful paper in a multitude of designs.

YOU CAN design gift wrappings that are novel and sparkling as a white Christmas . . . with soapsuds.

Make snow by pouring two or three cups of packaged soap or detergent and a small quantity of water into a mixing bowl. Blend with a hand or electric beater until the suds have a working consistency of stiff meringue.

Here are two suggestions.

Wrap the box with shiny hyacinth blue paper. Then drop a ball of snow in the center of the large surface and spread the suds with your hand or a spatula to simulate a frosting of snow. Next, take purple glitter in your fingers and sprinkle out the words "Merry" and "Xmas," one word beneath the other. Use a pastry tube full of suds to outline a snowy frame around the holiday message.

Another package might feature an angel on a cloud. You will need a metallic gold pipe cleaner and a bright red foil or paper angel, both of which can be purchased in a dime store. Drop a glob of snow near the upper right-hand corner of the box. After snaping this into a cloud, insert the angel in the middle. For the halo, form a small circle at one end of the pipe cleaner and implant the other end in the snow behind the angel.

Ribbon, Cardboard Make A Perky Snowman

Only ribbon and a few other everyday materials are needed to make this decoration designed by gift wrapping stylist Kaye King.

Use a grid pattern of two-inch squares (left) to lay out the snowman's body on lightweight cardboard. Cut out the form with scissors and cover the hat in black gift paper. A two-inch pattern will produce a figure 18 inches high. But the size of the squares can be varied to make a larger or smaller snowman.

The head and body of the snowman are made of knotless bows, using a new ribbon that sticks to itself when moistened. The body requires a series of strips 16 inches long cut from inch-wide ribbon. The ends of each strip are moistened, brought to the center and held in place to form a B-shaped loop (right).

The loops then are joined in criss-cross fashion until the bow is sufficiently full and round. The back of each loop should be moistened to stick it to the bow.

The bow for the head is made in a similar manner, using strips 12 inches in length.

If a full-round snowman is desired, two bows of each size should be made. The figure is quite attractive, however, in half-round form and can be used either as a table or wall decoration.

The bows should be attached to the cardboard body with glue. Eyes of blue ribbon, a nose and earmuffs of red ribbon, and a mouth and buttons of black ribbon are formed, moistened and added to the figure. The hatband is a strip of red ribbon.

The broom is a wooden dowel painted or wrapped in black paper. The broom straw is made of yellow ribbon that has been shredded to simulate straw and glued to the dowel.

Mrs. FDR Has A Custom:

She Shops All Year For Christmas

In this broad land there is at least one woman who abides by that universally popular vow to do this year's Christmas shopping early.

She is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

"It has long been my custom to shop for Christmas presents throughout the entire year," she wrote in her recent book, "On My Own." "Wherever I may be in January or June or November I always seem to be picking up some small gift that I might please a member of the family or a friend on the following Dec. 25."

One reason for this custom is Mrs. Roosevelt's deep affection for the Christmas season.

"Christmas means a great deal to Mrs. Roosevelt," says Miss Maureen Corr, her secretary. "She loves Christmas and she loves giving."

But she also spends much of her time during the season attending parties for children less fortunate than her own.

"Her Christmases are necessarily lavish because her family is so large," says Miss Corr. There are the five children, 19 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. She also gives to many others, "easily in the hundreds," her secretary says.

Mrs. Roosevelt has a Christmas book in which she keeps a list of what she has given to friends and relatives during the years. In this way she avoids duplications.

"The black book is quite thick," says Miss Corr.

In the book besides the children are such persons as Prime Minister Nehru of India, former President and Mrs. Harry Truman, Queen Elizabeth, a New York state trooper, and a White House telephone operator.

A fast shopper, Mrs. Roosevelt says she can buy a dozen or more presents during an hour's shopping in a department store. She also does quite a bit of shopping on her many trips abroad.

This was true early this year when she visited London, Paris, Israel and Iran.

"She has a special Christmas closet at Hyde Park where she stores the gifts," Miss Corr says.

Nixons Emphasize Meaning Of Giving

By MRS. PAT NIXON

OVER the years my husband and I have developed no fixed pattern for exchanging Christmas remembrances. As in many homes where there are young children (the Nixons have two girls, Patricia, 13, and Julie, 11) we try to place the emphasis on the thought behind the gift and very often our packages to each other are token ones.

Other times, an article in which there has been a particular expression of interest finds its way under the tree. Then, again, it may be something all of the family has been wanting and would enjoy together.

Mostly, Christmas at our house is for the children and like other parents all over the world our great pleasure in this day comes from their happiness in realizing the joy of giving and in being remembered.

Plan Ahead For Portrait

If you are including a portrait photograph of yourself among the gifts for that special someone this Christmas, you will want the best possible results.

"Simplicity is the keynote of a fine portrait photograph," says Juliet Newman of Greenwich, Conn., a famous portrait photographer.

Here are some pointers.

1. Be sure you are well rested. The photographer can erase facial lines, but he can't insert the glow that rest will give you.

2. Dark colors often make a heavy woman look slim, but not in a portrait where they add 10 to 15 pounds. Light colors are especially important at the neckline. A V-necked dress will flatter the plump or square face. If the face is thin and the neck long, try a fairly high collar.

3. Wear a dress of classic, timeless style. Prints, stripes or polka dots distract from your face. Never wear a sleeveless dress.

4. Clothing should fit well and be immaculately pressed.

5. Too little jewelry is better than too much.

6. Have your portrait taken when your coiffure is at its best. Often this is several days after a visit to the beauty shop.

7. Wear a minimum of lipstick. Never wear rouge or harsh eye make-up.

Travel Gift Offers Varied Possibilities

NO GIFT gives more enjoyment to the recipient and the giver than travel.

It is a combination of fun, education and dreams-come-true which can appeal to every taste and age, and to every pocket. The giver can plan the entire trip or choose from the thousands of pre-arranged vacations available.

A long weekend at Niagara Falls is only $20 for each person, plus the cost of getting there. The round trip airline fare is about $40 from New York, $61 from Chicago and $286 from Los Angeles.

A Las Vegas weekend is about the same—$23 a person for three days and two nights. From Washington air fare is $266.60, from Denver $93.30.

Acapulco, a wonderful place to be in winter, can be visited for a week at costs from $97 per person to $198, depending on the hotel and whether there is one or two persons occupying a room. Round-trip air fares in tourist class are $165 from Atlanta, $221 from Philadelphia, $266 from Seattle.

Europe is a gift anyone would like. During the winter, unlike the warmer spots such as Miami and the Caribbean, Europe has much lower rates than in its summer season, and much more music and theater, much better skiing. Europe will cost upwards of $800, including return fare, for two weeks' gadding about between Rome, Paris and London.

A Cruise is a fine gift. They are available to the Caribbean by any of more than 20 steamship companies for one, two or six weeks at a cost of $200 to $1,000.

FOR CUDDLESOME KIDS: Cuddly toys that will appeal to younger children can be made at home. The clown pillow, stuffed with old nylon stockings for easy washing, has corduroy eyes, nose and mouth, and yarn hair. A small ball provides the core of the yarn octopus' body. # Shirley Boone Choses Something Red For Pat

By SHIRLEY BOONE
Wife of Singer Pat Boone

IF IT'S red, unusual, or ridiculous, I know I have a pretty good chance for a huge grin of approval when my husband opens his presents. Last Christmas I decided on a beautiful red tandem bicycle he bad been ogling in a local store for the last two years. He greeted it with the delight of a young boy with his first toy. The year before it was a red sport jacket, a red and white sweater, and just a few practical items; but I usually leave the more practical gifts for birthdays. He likes it that way.

Pleasing Men Is Easier

PLEASING a man is every woman's problem, but new ideas in the men's department are making man-pleasing an easier task.

The size problem has been solved by gift certificates. The right color and pattern combinations are packaged this year in attractively wrapped ensembles; tie, belt and socks, for example.

Neckwear: Added color and bolder design are evident this season.

Jewelry: He may like the stark simple modern designs in cuff links and tie holder sets, or free-form abstract models, or replicas of antique pieces. Watches offer a wide price and style range.

Stockings: Socks that are self-supporting and rise to a height just under the knee are popular.

Mufflers: A new department is the reversible. Some change color from one side to the other, others switch from silk to wool, while others change patterns. The scardigan is a wool muffler that buttons in front and has pockets for cigarettes.

Casual wear: Corduroy is popular in relaxable clothes this season. Ancient plaids are the thing in robes. Soft leather slippers come in a variety of colors while soft leather boots are suitable for both indoor and outdoor wear.

Luggage: Start him with a two-suiter and later add matched pieces.

Other suggestions: An electric razor, a shoe shine kit—a new model comes equipped with electric buffer—a gas fueled lighter with adjustable flame, or—for an off-beat gift—a hand vacuum cleaner for sprucing up the car.

Sports Gifts Easy Pickin'

And today, lured into the backyard by the charcoal grill, most men are outdoor men.

Family men will be happy with something in the outdoor cooking line: A small, portable grill to take along on an outing, cooking utensils, an apron and chef's hat if he cooks often for guests.

Popular gifts also are available in the cooler line: an ice chest—one new one has a sandwich tray that doubles as a charcoal grill when removed—is good for the man who takes the family on frequent auto trips. The boatsman, hunter or fisherman will appreciate one of the new insulated plastic bags that come equipped with sandwich boxes and two thermos bottles.

Gifts in the fishing line are almost endless. For the new fisherman, one firm is putting out a spin - fishing kit that includes rod, reels, lures, several spools of line and a spinfishing manual. The veteran is always happy with a new lure or reel, or a tackle box. There's a plastic box now that has the advantage of being rust proof.

Fisherman or hunter might like some item of camping equipment — a sleeping bag, camp chair, outdoor stove, or portable, battery operated refrigerator. The hunter will also appreciate a gun cover, a gun-cleaning set, or new hunting jacket. If he's a target shooter, you can surprise him Christmas morning with one of the new .22 rifles made of structural nylon; they weigh only four pounds.

Head mits for his clubs are sure to please the golfer. Or if he could use a new golf bag, surprise him with a new departure, the one-pound Sunday Caddi. It is simply an aluminum shaft with a shepherd's crook handle on which are mounted two discs of plastic. It will hold eight clubs and three balls without rattling. Others ideas: A long-playing record in which one of the top pros explains the finer points of golf, a device for practicing puts on the living room rug, or an automatic stroke counter.

Soprano's Husband Has No Formula For Giving

SINGER RISE STEVENS: Relaxing with husband and son.

By WALTER SUROVY
Husband of Opera Singer Rise Stevens

IN OUR crazy household it is impossible to generalize my choosing a Christmas present for Rise. Last year I had given her a big diamond-emerald necklace in November for no particular reason, and for Christmas I felt she should be enchanted with a nice casserole for the kitchen. She was!

Matters are even more complicated since she has little time for shopping and it is my regular lot to go hunting for almost everything.

So, my philosophy is that the biggest present I can give Rise is to have her go all by her lonesome self and do some shopping for me. However, this has not always been notably successful. Christmas four years ago we surprise each other with the same, identical watch.

Avoids Wearing Apparel

In thinking seriously about a present for Rise, I stay away from regular articles of apparel, since these are essentials in her career and must be bought throughout the year. I concentrate on play-clothes (no sweaters, since she is a furious knitter on her concert tours), pieces of furniture which do not necessarily make life more beautiful but more comfortable, things for her private use in the kitchen, or paintings. The latter is a happy choice! Rise is crazy about art, and my practical mind considers it sound investing.

There are two presents which my better half receives from me each Christmas: a new umbrella and a pair of overshoes. They are my gentle way of saying: "Stop losing them!"

Give A Gift For The Home

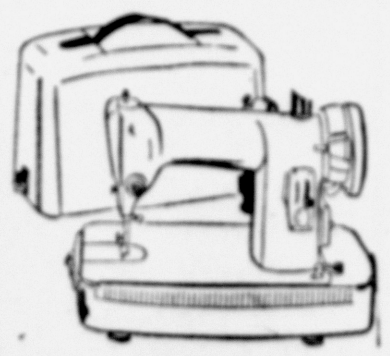
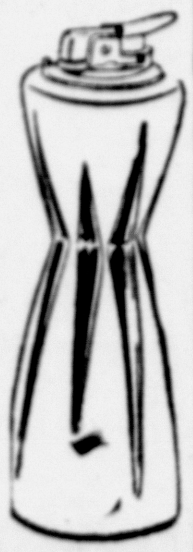
PERHAPS this is the year to switch from a personal gift for him, or her, and give something for the home.

Any housewife likes to have her household chores eased. Perhaps she could use a new automatic washer with matching dryer. One of the new washers comes equipped with a dispenser that automatically performs the bleaching chore.



If she's an amateur seamstress, she will be forever enamored with a sewing machine—a new streamlined portable, or one of the stylish cabinet models, depending on her needs.

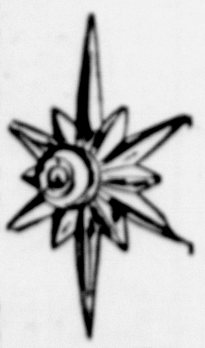
If she or he — or both — has a weight problem, a reducing couch or belt will be a gift that will reduce weight as well as tension.



A reclining lounge chair will win the approval of the man of the house. And for a musically-inclined family, a portable electric organ or a stereophonic hi-fi set will win applause.

Buying for a young couple? How about a table lighter, one of the beautiful new models fired by butane gas that will light for more than a year on one filling? Or for a conversation piece, a photoelectric cell clock that obtains its energy from the sun; the price of conversion is only $3,700.

Other ideas: A clock radio, a giant-sized plastic ice bucket to help on the entertainment front, a set of party glasses. Just make sure the gift fits the decor of the home.



If the couple is getting ready to build, surprise them with a decorative mailbox, a adoor knocker, or — a truly novel idea — a decorative lock for a door.

Glittering Holiday Fashions Forecast

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Women of all ages will outshine the Christmas tree this year.

The most brilliant and elegant holiday fashions in many years will be seen this winter, as designers turn out a rash of fabulous metallic brocades, satins and velvets for festive wear.

Long evening gowns are in the evening picture once again, in greater number than in the last 10 years. These are seen in satins, brocades, chiffons and beaded or sequinned silks, in either softly draped or sheath silhouettes. The trend is toward covered shoulders and body-molding lines. Few of the strapless, bouffant styles are seen.

Formal fabrics such as metallic brocades, chiffons and satins are widely used in casual styles for evening wear—the gold brocade shirtwaist dress and trench coat are prime examples.

You'll be seeing many street-length theater costumes, consisting of slender dress and matching fur-trimmed or fur-lined jacket, in vivid brocades and satins.

MERRY CHRISTMAS: Ideal for Christmas giving and year-round wearing, this beautifully tailored hostess gown is elegant enough for holiday receiving, yet simple enough for family evenings at home. In silk Kerah by Stehli, it has quilted collar, wide cummerbund and graceful long skirt. Make it her first gift on Christmas morning, to open and wear.

Velvet Is For Little Girls

CHRISTMAS BELLES: Every little girl wants a velvet dress and this year Santa Claus can satisfy her wishes, for velvets are back at the top of the mode for both mothers and daughters. Pictured above are two of the prettiest holiday party dresses of the season, designed by Celeste. The young charmer at left wears a jumper of red velveteen with white Swiss organdy blouse that sports a dainty eyelet-embroidered collar. The jumper has a pretend bolero and horizontal tucks on the bodice. The short, full skirt is made for twirling, and worn with petticoats. At right is a pint-size glamor girl in a black velveteen party dress with wide Quaker collar of tucked and embroidered white Swiss organdy, matching cuffs and perky waistline accent. This is a dress any parent would choose for a Christmas portrait.

Tip To Worried Males: Give Wearing Apparel

This year any girl on the Christmas list would love the new fur accessories that are all over the place—a handbag, a hat, a scarf or a muff in any pelt, from mink to leopard. The lavish Santa will make it a set — handbag or hat and matching scarf.

The fur-trimmed cashmere sweater is another five-star feminine gift. This year a black cashmere cardigan with black fox collar would ring the bell, or a blonde mink collar, or a green one trimmed with leopard. Collars are detachable, to be worn with other outfits.

All men know that diamonds are a girl's best friend. And if diamonds are beyond the budget, there's plenty of good costume jewelry around that looks like real. Multi-strand necklaces and bracelets in colors to match a costume are bound to be a success.

College girls, of course, all want scarab bracelets and gold circle pins to wear on a shirt collar. Scarab earrings to match the bracelet make life complete.

No high school or college girl ever has enough sweaters so Santa is free to shoot the works here. Anything from high-priced cashmere to budget orlon or bulky wool will bring squeals of joy from the younger set.

Gay house coats in wool, orlon or quilted cotton will please most any woman, as will strictly feminine lingerie in sheer nylon tricot, vivid colors preferred, such as tangerine, red or even bright blue.

Hair Dryer Is Welcome Gift

A hair dryer is a gift appreciated by the beauty-conscious woman. A new one on the market dries hair three ways:

(1) Damp-dries by combing with a special comb attachment, (2) circulates hair in hood attachment, giving hair a firm set, or (3) blows warm air direct from the dryer.

Three Bags Basic To Set Of Luggage

Buying luggage for that certain gal this Christmas? If you are starting her a set of marched luggage, you will buy pieces according to her travel habits.

But if you're in doubt, a basic group includes three cases: the pullman or wardrobe case, a weekender or overnight bag, and a train box or fitted case for cosmetics.

On the day after Christmas,
And not at all strange,
Are the crowds flocking in
With their gifts to exchange.

Their socks are too large:
Their ties are too bright:
Their slippers are wrong:
Their shirts aren't right.

For what is it worth—
The suggestion is mine
—nobody brings back
Their liquor or wine.

Dolls Have New Realism

THE TV INFLUENCE: Boon companions for the nursery crowd are stuffed animals from the TV show, Huckleberry Hound.

PLAYMATE SIZE: This doll family, ranging from six months to school age, is modeled according to government statistics of average size.

HIGH STYLE DOLLS: These long-legged dolls are outfitted in high style from head to needle pointed toes.

FOR EASY STORAGE: This new doll house made of heavy paperboard folds up for convenient storage.

Toyland has a bumper crop of dolls this year. Designers have come up with a record variety of infant and toddler types that cry, feed, crawl and wiggle with exciting realism.

One life-size doll family, with members ranging in age from six months to six years, is modeled on measurements and weights which government statistics report as average for the various ages.

Every conceivable health and good grooming aid is packaged in neat carrying kits for the doll mother. Double purpose bed-carriages fold away. There is a toyland counterpart for the latest thing in baby play pens, a nylon mesh model. A new doll house folds up for each storage.

The latest word in fashion is demonstrated by dolls of all ages. Bulky sweaters, jersey leotards, blue jeans, balloon skirts propped by multi petticoats, needle point shoes, sun glasses, terry stoles and throng sandals are all in the teen-age doll's wardrobe.

Improvements in rooted synthetic hair give the doll mother unlimited scope for hairdressing experiments. One new doll also has a new flexibility. It is designed with 16 different joints which permit realistic movement in all directions.

The stuffed animal department emphasizes sleepy eyed, cuddly companions designed to make going to bed more attractive to the very young. One group includes the television friends of Huckleberry Hound.

You Can Make Doll Furniture

Paintings for the wall can be provided by clipping tiny pictures from magazines and gluing them on cardboard. These may be framed with strips of painted wood.

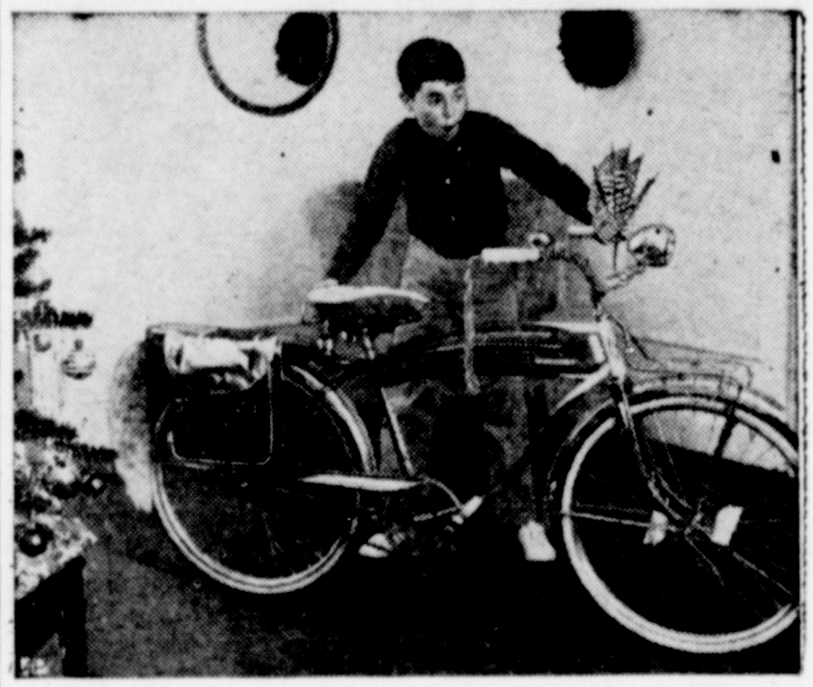
It is easy to make a make-believe lamp by using for the shade the round cardboard that comes inside a large spool of crochet thread. Use a little stick for a stand and a large button for a base. Of course it must all be painted attractively.

An ottoman can be made from the cardboard spool that crochet thread comes on, simply by padding the top and covering with silk.

It takes only a few scraps of cloth to make sheets, pillow cases, quilts and blankets for the doll bed.

If the youngster doesn't own a doll house, consider sewing her a new outfit for one or more of her dolls. Chances are then that first thing on Christmas day she will dress her old favorite doll in the new clothes, even if she has received a new doll.

Accessories Will Appeal To Young Bicycle Owner



THE WELL-DRESSED BIKE: Stripped-down bicycles are all right for the racing set, but the recreation rider likes his fully equipped. Possible gifts for him include: noise-makers, flags, lights, saddle bags, plastic streamers.

THERE is no problem choosing a Christmas gift for a boy or girl who owns a bicycle.

Stripped-down bikes are strictly for the racing set. The recreation rider is happiest when his bike is festooned with noice-makers, flags, mirrors, colorful plastic tape, lights, generators and the like.

If, for example, you find your favorite bike rider a bit tired of his bike's color, varihued plastic coils can give the two-wheeler renewed glamor. Spokes, handlebars and brake-cables can also be wrapped to provide a rainbow effect.

If the cyclist must keep his bike outside, a plastic garage complete with carrying case will help solve the problem.

Other accessories, such as saddle bags, baskets, and carriers, convert the bicycle into a useful means of transport.

Favorites among the decorative extras are "hubba-hubba" lights, red and green lights attached to the axles to provide a rainbow effect when the bike is in motion; pedal putters that give off a staccato noise when brushed by the spokes; national flags and jolly rogers for the handlebars; saddle covers in various designs; personalized name plates; speedometers; mud-flaps; reflectors; handlebar streamers; lights in scores of shapes and sizes, and that old favorite, the fox-tail.

"Time Certificate" Makes Unique Gift

The boy or girl who would like to give a little something extra for Christmas might consider time certificates."

To an invalid neighbor, they can give a certificate stating that they will sit with him one hour each month during the coming year to read to him or write letters or just talk. Or the certificate could offer one errand monthly for 1960.

Notes From SANTA'S WORKSHOP

Toys can often be given a new lease on life with new paint. Repair them first, sand off rough spots, then apply lead-free interior enamel.

Be sure paint contains no harmful ingredients. Read label for this and other information.

In painting a small table or chair, turn it upside down and paint the legs first. For toys, artists' brushes frequently are the best.

Find A Fitting End For Christmas Tree

When its purpose is served, a Christmas tree should be disposed of properly.

Some communities observe a Twelfth Night ceremony. Christmas greens, wreaths and boughs are collected from several homes and burned in a blaze of glory—a fitting end for a tree of tradition and sentiment.

Bird lovers often stand the tree in the yard after Christmas and attach bird food, such as suet, to its branches.

Let Givers Know What Children Need

Nearly a third of the gifts your children receive this Christmas will come from relatives and friends who seldom see the youngsters.

It is foolish to be bashful about writing informative letters concerning the children's ages and play interests to persons you know will be sending gifts, advises Dr. Mary Moffitt, child development professor at Queens College and educational advisor to Toy Guidance Council.

If the parents don't write these letters, says Dr. Moffitt, it is a good idea for the givers to check on such essential facts as age. It is difficult to adjust your mental picture of a youngster you have not seen for a long time.

Obviously, playthings will bring much greater pleasure on Christmas if they are chosen to fit the youngster's stage of development.

Dr. Moffitt also warns that children's interests change from year to year. The toy intensely wanted last year may no longer be of interest.

If only the age of the child is known, it is possible for the giver to get helpful information from good toy stores about toys which a likely to have appeal. Many manufacturers put age tags on their products.

New Toys Designed To Teach Children

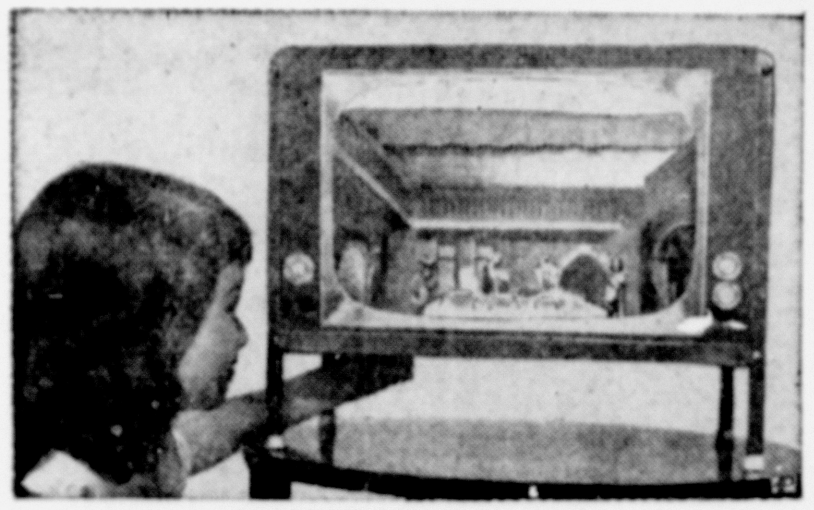
KIDDIE CAR-GO: It comes apart.

ASTRONOMY SET: Even has projector.



TELEVISION STAGE: She directs.

There's a shortage in toyland this year, a scarcity of toys designed strictly for play.

But there is an abundance of instructive toys — playthings that teach how to tell time, or make a clock, or split an atom, or launch a rocket.

Many toys that wind up under Christmas trees will reflect the concern over the nation's knowledge of science. Both the Toy Guidance Council and the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A., Inc., report a record variety of toy kits geared to teach the use of laboratory equipment.

Biology and physics kits are the latest additions, while chemistry, astronomy and aerodynamics kits have been enlarged. A physics set is designed to give the junior scientist basic training in fluid dynamics, solar heat, light bending and optics. An electronic set permits him to build 15 different radio sets.

Space launching equipment is available for age groups from toddlers to teens. One of the more complicated is a two-stage moon rocket that is fueled with sodium bicarbonate and citric acid.

Catering to children's up-to-the-minute awareness of style, toyland offers shoji screens for junior decorators, mosaic painting kits, and kits for building the latest in sports cars.

Television's influence on the younger set is plainly evident. There is a game for virtually every TV program of interest to children. A replica of a TV set has a stage setting and magnetized actors which are manipulated from beneath the set.

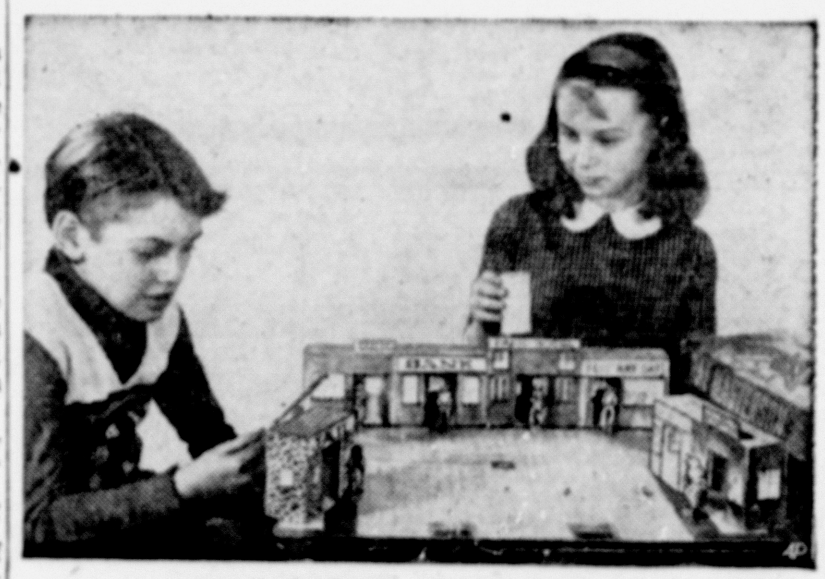
For young children there is a kiddie car that can be taken apart and put back together, a large size clock building kit, and a hobby horse on coasters. A new modeling compound resembles wood—yellow pine, redwood and walnut — and hardens when left exposed to the air.

The young homemaker can have a 9-piece set of operating models of kitchen appliances. A tea set comes accompanied by a book on etiquette.

In the strictly for fun category are a miniature "penny arcade" with a crane to grope for prizes, a hand-puppet — "sippin' sam" — that pours himself a glass of milk from a bottle and then drinks it, and finger puppets.

LITTLE HOSTESS: Learning etiquette.

FRONTIER TRAIN: Authentic design.



BAT MATERSON: Another TV game.

TWO-STAGE ROCKET: Chemically fueled.

PHYSICS SET: He studies prisms.

TRICYCLE: With fringe on top.

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

2 (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

3 And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, (because he was of the house and lineage of David.)

6 And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

7 And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

9 And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

10 And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

11 For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

13 And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

14 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.
